TRAFFIC STOPPER ON CARQUINEZ BRIDGE

This truck-trailer, loaded with explosives, jack-knifed on the Carquinez Bridge at Vallejo this morning, blocking traffic for more than an hour on southbound Interstate 80. According to the California Highway Patrol, the truck's gasoline tank ruptured but there was no fire or explosion, and Ray Rasmussen of Sacramento, driver of the truck, was not injured. The truck, operated by an Oakland firm, was en route from Sacramento to the Navy Ammunition Depot at Port Chicago. Sixth Army demolition experts were flown in by helicopter to assist in the truck's removal. (AP Wirephoto)

Joseph Kennedy Succumbs At 81

Patriarch-Financier Loses Long Battle

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — Joseph Patrick Kennedy, sire of a tragedy-shrouded American political family, died today, losing an eight-year struggle for life. He was 81.

Kennedy, whose sons included the 35th President of the United States and two U.S. senators, died peacefully at 11:05 a.m. (EST), a statement from the family said.

He was at his seaside home in the Kennedy compound on Cape Cod.

With him, the spokesman said, were his wife, Rose, and sole surviving son, Edward.

Others at his bedside included Edward's wife Joan, daughters Eunice Shriver, Jean Smith and Patricia Lawson, son-in-law Sargent Shriver, niece Ann Gargan and nephew Joseph Gargan.

A financier and one of the nation's wealthiest men, Kennedy had been partially paralyzed since suffering a stroke in Palm Beach, Fla., on Dec. 19, 1961.

The former ambassador had suffered setbacks from time to time since then, and had been growing progressively weaker since sustaining a mild heart attack Saturday.

JOSEPH P. KENNEDY
Dies at Hayannis Port

The founding father of the Kennedy clan suffered through the assassinations of his sons John and Robert after losing his oldest, Joseph P. Jr., in World War II.

John was killed in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 22, 1963. Robert was shot in Los Angeles June 5, 1968, and died the next day.

Navy Lt. Joseph P. Kennedy Jr was killed in flying action Aug. 12, 1944.

Edward, the youngest and only surviving son, had a close brush with death June 19, 1964, in a plane crash. His back was broken, but he recovered after a six-month stay in hospitals.

A tragedy of another sort hit the family last summer when a car driven by Edward plunged into a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island off the Massachusetts coast and Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, of Washington, a former secretary of Robert, drowned.

The accident and its repercussions clouded the political future of the senator.

One of the five daughters born to Kennedy and the former Rose Fitzgerald of Boston also died violently. Mrs. Kathleen Kennedy Hartington perished with three others in a plane crash in France in May 1948.

Born in East Boston Sept. 6, 1888, to moderately wealthy parents, Kennedy attended Catholic schools as a youngster.

It was said that when he was graduated from Harvard College in 1912, he expressed the ambition to be a millionaire by the time he was 35. He made his first million well before he reached that age. With borrowed money, he gained control of Columbia Trust Co. and became its president at age 25.

He branched out, deriving his fortune not only from banking but also the stock market, real estate, the sale of liquor and interests in motion pictures and movie houses.

Kennedy met President-to-be Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1917 and a lasting friendship resulted.

During the Roosevelt administration Kennedy served on both the Securities Exchange Commission and later the Maritime Commission, and was U.S. ambassador to the Court of St. James from January 1938, until late 1940.

Retiring to private life as a financier, Kennedy amassed a fortune estimated to be worth between $200 million and $400 million.

"The ambassador," as he was generally called, saw few people in recent years, only friends and his numerous grandchildren. He was hospitalized several times after his 1961 stroke and confided to some that his recuperation

Haynsworth Backers Gain 40th Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, said today he is going to vote to confirm the Supreme Court nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth, Jr.

"There is no question about it," he told a reporter.

His statement produced a 40-40 tie in an Associated Press survey of senators who have taken a public stand on the nomination, submitted by President Richard M. Nixon three months ago.

Gravel said he had stated his position recently in Alaska, but he had been listed in the AP survey among senators who were uncommitted.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said meanwhile a delay in Senate voting on the nomination will not affect the outcome.

"I think most members—myself excluded—have just about made up their minds," Mansfield commented.

Some backers of Haynsworth have held out hopes for further gains if the voting is put off, perhaps until next week.

Mansfield expressed hope for a vote tomorrow. But he noted that Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., GOP manager in the nomination debate, has suggested a delay until next Monday.

If that happens, Mansfield said the Senate will drop the Haynsworth nomination later this week and take up draft legislation. That measure, sought by President Nixon, would permit selection of draftees through a lottery.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the GOP leader, said he would like for the Senate to vote this week on the Haynsworth nomination.

Apollo 12 Nearing Moon Rendezvous

"We're ready to go," declared Bean after an inspection of the landing craft Intrepid showed everything "shipshape."

The astronauts slept through most of earth's daylight hours today, resting for a grueling night in which Conrad and Bean are to fly Intrepid to the moon while Gordon continues to orbit in the command ship Yankee Clipper.

While the space explorers slept, astronomers on earth detected a solar flare on the face of the sun. Such flares cause eruptions of radiation to stream outward and can pose a potential hazard to space fliers unprotected by the atmosphere of earth. Some flares last many days.

But space agency officials said the eruption was moderate and is not expected to present any radiation hazard to the Apollo 12 crew. Officials said the solar flare is apparently one observed and studied on Nov. 2. The rotation of the sun has carried it back into the earth's field of view.

Officials said radiation from the solar flare is being monitored in order to calculate the amount of radiation the astronauts will be exposed to in their spacecraft.

The solar flare was not expected to affect the planned moon landing.

The landing is set for 10:53 p.m. PST tonight.

Five hours later, at 6:02 a.m., Conrad and Bean are to start a three and one-half hour excursion outside, becoming the third and fourth men to leave their footprints in the powdery lunar soil.

A second excursion is scheduled tomorrow night (Pacific Coast time). Both will be broadcast live to earthlings via color television.

If successful, Conrad and Bean will record another triumph for human courage and knowledge and they will open boundless frontier of space a bit farther, paving the way for future Apollo voyagers to explore more difficult terrain in mountains and craters.

Conrad and Bean slipped through a connecting tunnel into Intrepid's cabin early today to inspect and test many of its systems.

Then then rejoined Gordon in the command cabin and the trio settled down for an eight and one-half hour sleep period.

Conrad and Bean hope to set Intrepid down precisely in a 400-foot-wide circle in the Ocean of Storms on the western side of the moon's visible face. Their goal is the first detailed scientif-

Senators Told About Far-Flung Saigon Black Market Dollar Ring

WASHINGTON (AP) — A billion-dollar international racket in illegal money is centered in Saigon and has ties in banking circles throughout the world, a Senate subcommittee was told today.

Robert R. Parker, a U.S. Embassy staff member in Saigon, told the Senate investigations subcommittee the black market in money reaches more than $150 million a year in Vietnam.

Parker is chairman of the embassy's irregular practices committee, a group of embassy personnel set up by Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker in an effort to cut down black market activities.

Heading the international money racket, he said, is a criminal syndicate of Muslim money changers from South India.

It operates through men of several nationalities ranging from wealthy businessmen to gangs of GI deserters, he added.

Parker described an elaborate transfer system by which dollars and South Vietnamese piasters are funneled into legitimate banking channels. He said that one common payee that was used by the ring was the "Prysumeen" account at the Manufacturers Hanover Trust in New York City.

"In 1968, traffic in this account was in excess of $1.5 million a month," Parker testified. He said Vietnamese, Koreans, Chinese, and Americans—both soldiers and civilians—are involved in the currency manipulation scheme.

"At the top of the black market hierarchy, in a kind of executive position, are a small group of well organized Asian-Indians," Parker said. "Most of these are Muslims from the Madras area of South India.

"These men—and their elaborate and obscure family ties—constitute a syndicate in the most criminal and sinister sense of the word," Parker said.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., chairman of the investigations subcommittee said the currency manipulation racket is seriously hindering attempts to stabilize the South Vietnamese economy.

Parker said the racket is based on the fact that it is impossible legally to transfer large amounts in South Vietnamese piasters out of the country.

"If John Doe, an American living in Saigon, transferred $15,000 from his bank in Chicago in 1967 to the "Prysumeen" account in New York, the money changer might pay Mr. Doe as much as the legal equivalent of $2,200 in piasters," Parker said.

The racket would not be possible he said if Americans in South Vietnam did not write the checks or effect the bank transfers.

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Awash with conviviality, U.S. and Soviet negotiators began private talks today to search out prospects for an accord to curb the nuclear arms race.

U.S. Ambassador Gerard C. Smith, Soviet delegate Vladimir S. Semenov and their advisers met at the American Embassy to begin working out arrangements for substantive negotiations. These preliminary discussions behind closed doors are expected to last several weeks.

The meeting today lasted an hour and a half and Smith afterward told newsmen only that they would meet again "pretty soon." He refused to say when, but other conference sources said the meeting would be Thursday.

County Education Board Hears Fear Of Outside Student Influx

Twenty-one intercounty pupil transfers were approved by the Marin County Board of Education last night, with a warning that hereafter such transfers must be submitted for county approval before the child is allowed to change schools. (Another education board story, page 26.)

All the 21 last night were "after the fact" approvals.

Long discussion arose over three, which allowed pupils from San Francisco to enroll in Sausalito schools. Stanley D. Friese, assistant county superintendent, reported 149 protests against such transfers had been received as a result of circulation of a flyer by Citizens of Excellence in Integrated Education, a Sausalito group.

Fear that as many as 200 San Francisco children may be enrolled in Sausalito schools if such transfers are allowed was voiced by William Douglas, Michael Harris, Howard Chadd, Margot Gergus, Robert Lyon and Barbara Nelson, all of Sausalito.

It was discounted by Mary Lynn Levinson, Sausalito school psychologist who lives in San Francisco and whose son was one of those transferred.

But it was given some substance by Anastole Zachs, from the Andrew Jackson School in San Francisco.

Zachs said there are 40 to 45 children in each classroom in Andrew Jackson School, which is in a predominantly Negro neighborhood. "It's a poor school," he said.

The San Francisco Board of Education has indicated it will

RETORT TO AGNEW — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey speaks at a Washington news conference to accuse the Nixon administration of attempting to suppress dissent. With Humphrey yesterday was W. Avrell Harriman, a target of Spirow T. Agnew's speech last week in which he raked television commentators. (AP Wirephoto)

Japan, U.S. Nearing Deal On Okinawa

WASHINGTON (AP) — An agreement returning Okinawa to Japanese control in 1972 is expected to leave open the question of possible future American use of the U.S. military base on the island for nuclear weapons.

No official announcement has been made on the touchy question of nuclear weapons on Okinawa, but the matter has been settled in principle, according to reliable sources.

Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and President Richard M. Nixon are to begin talks tomorrow on returning Okinawa to Japan within three years, although it will be Friday before any word of the nuclear issue is released.

It already had been agreed that the military base will remain as a U.S. facility, with the presence of the nuclear weapons the controversial item.

Technical talks were conducted here yesterday between Richard Snieder, U.S. special minister in charge of Okinawa affairs, and Fumihiko Togo, director general of the American affairs bureau in Japan's ministery of foreign affairs.

There also were economic issues to be discussed by Nixon and Sato, who arrived here Monday following a violence-marred departure from Tokyo.

Some American firms have looked upon Okinawa as the back door to investment in Japan, and it expected that certain types of industry, including oil refineries, will boom for this reason. But the majority of the established concerns on Okinawa, the chamber said, feel gravely concerned that American business interests amounting to about $240 million would not be protected after Japan takes over.

Such business as dairies, personal services, solf-drinks, department stores, automobile agencies, plywood concerns and bottling companies fear they will loose their 22-year-old preferred position when subjected to the same business rules as exist in Japan.

Humphrey, Demos Flay Agnew's TV Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders, keynoted by Hubert H. Humphrey, have accused the Nixon administration of seeking to stifle criticism and suppress dissent in the United States.

Humphrey aimed the charge at Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, his successor in that job—and beyond, at President Richard M. Nixon.

"This isn't as if the vice president just had a lost weekend," Humphrey said yesterday. "I think the evidence is very clear that this is not just the vice president speaking."

"I believe the Nixon administration is really not trying to bring us together, but is engaged, knowingly or unknowingly, in a polarization process," said Humphrey, "polarization with the intended result of the suppression of dissent."

"I doubt that our country has seen in the past 20 years such an obvious and calculated appeal to our people's lesser or baser instincts," Humphrey said.

". . . I, for one, want to make it very clear that I disagree with those who would create an atmosphere of suppression and call it patriotism."

Humphrey, Democratic presidential nominee a year ago, said the administration is on a course which will lead to backlash, repression and reaction.

The Democratic Policy Council, an issue-shaping panel of party leaders headed by Humphrey, adopted a resolution declaring:

"We cannot tolerate in silence any attempt to silence debate in a free society."

The Humphrey charges and the council resolution were prompted by Agnew's Nov. 13 speech criticizing television network news coverage—specifically those commentaries that followed Nixon's report to the nation on the Vietnam war.

Humphrey said the Democrats may ask the television networks for equal time to answer Agnew's speech, which was broadcast live from a Republican conference in Des Moines, Iowa.

"The Nixon administration's attack on the news media, as expressed by Vice President Agnew and the supporting statements of Director of Communications Herbert Klein, Federal Communications Commission Chairman Dean Burch and other administration spokesmen, alarm those who believe in the right to dissent and in a free press," the council resolution said.

"Certainly government officials have a right to defend their actions and to challenge those who criticize them," the resolution went on.

The White House declined comment on the Humphrey accusation. But earlier, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said neither Agnew nor Klein had any intention of suggesting censorship, government intervention, or an effort to end criticism.

MONTEREY (UPI) — Buildings were "jiggled" yesterday by a mild earthquake centered in the Pinnacles National Monument area of San Benito County, 40 miles to the southeast.

Seismologists at the University of California in Berkeley recorded the temblor at 12:40 p.m. and said it measured about 3.75 on the Richter Scale.

There were no reports of damage.

Gaza Shelling

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab guerrillas fired homemade bazooka shells today at Israeli military government headquarters in El Arish in the occupied Gaza Strip, an army spokesman said.

Four Israeli soldiers and a woman civilian were wounded in the predawn shelling.

Weatherman Raid

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Police raided three homes last night and arrested 23 persons on charges of assault to murder and conspiracy to murder in a Nov. 8 shooting at police headquarters.

Officers identified the 14 men and nine women in custody as members of the Weatherman faction of Students for a Democratic Society.

The raiding party of more than 20 officers confiscated four rifles, one of them loaded; a shotgun; a bayonet; .22 and .30-caliber ammunition, shotgun shells, and pamphlets.

In the Nov. 8 incident at police headquarters, two shots were fired through a first-story window. No one was injured.

Heart Case Dies

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Boxing promoter Ben Anolik, the world's second longest-living heart transplant patient, died today at the age of 47.

Anolik had lived 14 months and six days with the heart of a man killed in a traffic accident Aug. 31, 1968. A spokesman for Presbyterian Hospital said he died from an "overwhelming infection caused by drugs injected to prevent rejection of the heart."

He had returned to hospital July 1 because of complications from the drugs.

More than $417 in cash and checks were taken from the refrigerator at Laurel House Antiques, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross, during the weekend, police said today. There was no sign of forced entry.

LBJ Fretted Over Vietnam Brother Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson told his brother of doubts about Vietnam policy over a game of dominoes in the White House, Sam Houston Johnson says.

Sam Johnson, who lived in the White House during his brother's presidency, recalls the dominoes game on "a particular night in February" 1968 in the current issue of Look magazine.

The President pondered his next domino move, then told his brother, "That's just the trouble, Sam Houston, it's always my move. And, damn it, I sometimes can't tell whether I'm making the right move or not," Sam Johnson wrote.

The President continued, Sam Johnson said, "Now take this Vietnam mess: How in the hell can anyone know for sure what's right and what's wrong, Sam? I got some of the finest brains in this country—people like Dean Rusk, Walt Rostow and Dean Acheson—making some awful strong and convincing arguments for us to stay in there and not pull out.

"Then I've got some people like George Ball and Fulbright, also intelligent men, whose motives I can't rightly distrust—and telling me we've got to de-escalate or run the risk of total war. And, Sam, I've got to listen to both sides."

Rusk was Johnson's secretary of state; Rostow an adviser on security problems; Acheson was President Truman's secretary of state; Ball, an undersecretary of state, and Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

As the President pondered which domino to play, Sam Johnson wrote, he said: "I've just got to choose between my opposings experts. No way of avoiding it. But I sure as hell wish I could really know what's right."

N.Y. Times Building Emptied; Bomb Scare

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times building was evacuated last night for the second time in five days by a bomb scare. A search failed to turn up a bomb.

Today's edition was delayed about one hour by the hoax.

Nixon Asks Help In Import Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon urged Congress today to enact what he described as modest foreign trade legislation to give him authority to make minor tariff adjustments that would permit industries to obtain easier relief from import competition.

In a special message, Nixon said he had found it in the national interest to continue a 35-year-old policy of promoting freer world trade.

But at the same time, he recommended that U.S. industries adversely affected by imports be provided with "readier relief"—a proposal that paralleled one advanced by former President Lyndon B. Johnson but which was not acted upon.

Noting that the President has had no authority to offer tariffs for more than two years, Nixon sought authority to reduce levies by limited amounts through June 30, 1973.

"This authority is not designed to be used for major tariff negotiations," he said, "but rather to make possible minor adjustments that individual circumstances from time to time require."

Monagan Cool Toward Rash Of Tax Reform Proposals

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Proposals which could crowd the next election ballot with tax reform measures are receiving a cool reception from Assembly speaker Robert T. Monagan.

The California Teachers Association joined with the County Supervisors Association yesterday in backing one proposal. Democratic Assemblyman Joe Gonsalves of Los Angeles offered his own separate plan to lawmakers.

"It now appears that there might be three or four or five different measures on the ballot relating to taxes and I think this would be most confusing to the voters," Monagan told a news conference.

"Obviously, there would be utter chaos if more than one of them were to pass," he added. The proposals by Gonsalves and the CTA-supervisors will appear on the June 2 primary election ballots if enough signatures are gathered to qualify the initiatives.

The CTA-supervisors plan would increase the $750 homeowners' property tax exemption to $1,000 and require the state to pay 50 per cent of school costs and at least 90 per cent of welfare.

The sponsors said counties now pay 65 per cent of school costs and 35 per cent of welfare—not including federal contributions.

But the CTA and supervisors did not say how the state should raise the $898 million the tax shift would cost.

Kiesinger Vote

MAINZ, Germany (AP) — Former Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger was reelected leader of the Christian Democratic party today, but the vote at the party's first congress since it lost control of the government indicated that his support had eroded.

The vote was 386-51, with 33 abstentions and one invalid vote.

Alioto For Antiverbal Threat Law

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco believes that advocating the assassination of a President is carrying freedom of speech too far and there ought to be a law against it.

Now, there is no state law against threatening a public official. And a federal statute has been interpreted to cover only written threats.

Alioto said yesterday he was angered by a Black Panther leader who shouted, "We'll kill President Nixon. We'll kill anybody that stands in the way of our freedom." David Hilliard, Panther chief of staff, was roundly booed when he made that statement Saturday during an antiwar demonstration in San Francisco.

"That's carrying freedom of speech too far," said Alioto. "I think the black people are embarrassed by David Hilliard."

"It seems to me," the mayor said, "that, if there isn't already, there should be a federal and a state law prohibiting the exhortation of assassination of the President of the United States and other public figures."

Japan, U.S. Nearing Deal On Okinawa

WASHINGTON (AP) — An agreement returning Okinawa to Japanese control in 1972 is expected to leave open the question of possible future American use of the U.S. military base on the island for nuclear weapons.

No official announcement has been made on the touchy question of nuclear weapons on Okinawa, but the matter has been settled in principle, according to reliable sources.

Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and President Richard M. Nixon are to begin talks tomorrow on returning Okinawa to Japan within three years, although it will be Friday before any word of the nuclear issue is released.

It already had been agreed that the military base will remain as a U.S. facility, with the presence of the nuclear weapons the controversial item.

Technical talks were conducted here yesterday between Richard Snieder, U.S. special minister in charge of Okinawa affairs, and Fumihiko Togo, director general of the American affairs bureau in Japan's ministery of foreign affairs.

There also were economic issues to be discussed by Nixon and Sato, who arrived here Monday following a violence-marred departure from Tokyo.

Some American firms have looked upon Okinawa as the back door to investment in Japan, and it expected that certain types of industry, including oil refineries, will boom for this reason. But the majority of the established concerns on Okinawa, the chamber said, feel gravely concerned that American business interests amounting to about $240 million would not be protected after Japan takes over.

Such business as dairies, personal services, solf-drinks, department stores, automobile agencies, plywood concerns and bottling companies fear they will loose their 22-year-old preferred position when subjected to the same business rules as exist in Japan.

Humphrey, Demos Flay Agnew's TV Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders, keynoted by Hubert H. Humphrey, have accused the Nixon administration of seeking to stifle criticism and suppress dissent in the United States.

Humphrey aimed the charge at Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, his successor in that job—and beyond, at President Richard M. Nixon.

"This isn't as if the vice president just had a lost weekend," Humphrey said yesterday. "I think the evidence is very clear that this is not just the vice president speaking."

"I believe the Nixon administration is really not trying to bring us together, but is engaged, knowingly or unknowingly, in a polarization process," said Humphrey, "polarization with the intended result of the suppression of dissent."

"I doubt that our country has seen in the past 20 years such an obvious and calculated appeal to our people's lesser or baser instincts," Humphrey said.

". . . I, for one, want to make it very clear that I disagree with those who would create an atmosphere of suppression and call it patriotism."

Humphrey, Democratic presidential nominee a year ago, said the administration is on a course which will lead to backlash, repression and reaction.

The Democratic Policy Council, an issue-shaping panel of party leaders headed by Humphrey, adopted a resolution declaring:

"We cannot tolerate in silence any attempt to silence debate in a free society."

The Humphrey charges and the council resolution were prompted by Agnew's Nov. 13 speech criticizing television network news coverage—specifically those commentaries that followed Nixon's report to the nation on the Vietnam war.

"Certainly government officials have a right to defend their actions and to challenge those who criticize them," the resolution went on.

The White House declined comment on the Humphrey accusation. But earlier, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said neither Agnew nor Klein had any intention of suggesting censorship, government intervention, or an effort to end criticism.

ROBERT M. SHELTON
(AP Wirephoto)

Freed Klansman Will Direct Another Drive

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI)—A few extra pounds of his thin frame after a nine-month stay in a federal prison, Ku Klux Klan Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton secluded himself today at home to talk with his family and close friends.

"He just wants to talk with his family and won't be available for a day or so," a close friend said last night. "He just got back and he's awfully tired."

The former lightning rod salesman and head of the United Klans of America Inc.—largest Klan group in the United States—was released from the Texarkana, Tex., Correctional Institution after serving nine months of a one-year sentence.

His early release from the term, imposed for a contempt of Congress conviction which followed his refusal to reveal Klan membership rolls, was granted for good behavior.

Shelton vowed yesterday to wage a new crusade against blacks.

"A silent majority has realized that it is no longer a question of bad government," Shelton said. "It's a question of impossible government and we are chained to the infested black carcass that's dragging us to down to the low morals and disruption that's in this nation today."

The balding wizard said he was going "into the field again as head of the Klan organization" to organize "the Mormons, the Celts and Anglos, the Saxons, the Hugenots, the German - martyr - blood people into a bond of unity."

Purse Snacher Wounded, San Rafael Woman Saved

A San Francisco special policeman early yesterday rescued a San Rafael woman who was being beaten by a purse snatcher at a San Francisco street corner.

The victim, Ruth Sharpe, 43, of 223 Paloma Avenue, a waitress, was at Van Ness Avenue and Sutter Street when the attack occurred.

Officer Richard Sousa, 35, who was assigned to the Van Ness auto row beat had chatted with Mrs. Sharpe at about 1:30 a.m. as she was waiting for a bus to go home.

He continued his rounds and was across the street when a black sedan containing four young men pulled up in front of her.

One of the passengers jumped out, shoved Mrs. Sharpe against a wall, grabbed her purse and hit her again and again, police reported.

"The more I screamed, the harder he hit me," she later reported to Officer Richard Baker.

Hearing her screams, Officer Sousa ran back to the scene and drew his gun, and the assailant jumped back into the auto which headed north on Van Ness Avenue.

The officer cried halt, then fired three times at the car shooting out the rear tire.

The four men came out of the car at his order, but when he turned his head momentarily to ask a passing taxi cab driver to call police headquarters, the purse snatcher turned and ran.

Sousa shouted to him to halt and then he fired once, hitting the youth, still clutching Mrs. Sharpe's purse, in the left shoulder. The purse contained $25.

The youth, identified as Levon Bell, 22, of 554 Nevada, San Francisco, was taken to San Francisco General Hospital and held under police guard.

Mrs. Sharpe, who suffered cuts and bruises, was treated at Central Emergency Hospital.

Three other youths in the car surrendered and were booked on suspicion of robbery. They were identified as Ronnie Adams, 19; Willie Beasley, 18, both of San Francisco, and Robert Danridge, 20, who gave no address.

Look Article Makes Alioto Better Known

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Poll reported today that the Look Magazine article linking San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto to a half-dozen Mafia figures apparently has made him a better known figure to California voters.

But it also reported that this has been coupled with growth of an unfavorable image of him.

Alioto has denied the article repeatedly and has brought suit against the magazine for $12.5 million.

In surveys taken from a random sample of voters between Nov. 1 and Nov. 9, pollster Mervin D. Field found a shift from just over 50 per cent of Republicans said they "knew something about Alioto." By November, the comparable percentages were 74 and 75 per cent respectively.

Tam Board Eyes Curriculum Plans

Getting back to educational business after wrestling with discipline for six weeks, the Tamalpais High School District board last night heard two long reports on new curriculum programs now in the experimental stage.

One program is aimed at setting up an interdisciplinary curriculum which would relate various subjects for students, including English, art, social studies, and possibly other subjects.

Art teacher Henri M. Boussy, who led a summer workshop to develop an outline for the program, told the board that conventional scheduling puts classes into separate compartments rather than trying to tie them together.

Trustees David D. Ring and Gloria Melbostad expressed doubts about the vagueness of the project to date, but the board agreed to let a proposed two-week pilot unit of the program be taught in spring semester at Tamalpais High School. The pilot unit will provide more information to work out an expanded pilot program for fall semester next year, Boussy said.

The board approved the course outline Genetti presented for the beginning science course.

Board Chairman Bette Wallace set a timetable for choosing a permanent district superintendent which would fill the post by July 1970.

She appointed the existing Next Step Analysis Committee, which includes faculty, administration and students, as a committee to prepare a recruiting brochure and drew up job criteria for the superintendent. The committee is to meet at 3 p.m. next Monday. Acting Supt. Robert D. Torrey will step off the committee, and be replaced by trustees Ring and Frank L. Miller for the selection job.

Mrs. Wallace proposed recruiting for the job through January, screening in January and February, with interviews and selection by the board in April.

Trustee Robert W. Corlett suggested the board wait at least a year before choosing a permanent superintendent in order not to disturb the "delicate and important" new programs in the district, but other trustees said the candidate who is chosen should be able to take office without disrupting programs in the making.

DIFFERENTIAL STAFFING —Heard a brief report by Richard S. Newman, teacher now on sabbatical leave, on his study of "differential staffing" systems, which allow more professional than classroom work or administration. The board, which has a 61-page report from Newman on the subject, said the report will be discussed at length at the Dec. 15 meeting.

NEGOTIATING — Set a closed meeting for 8 p.m. Monday to discuss coming salary negotiations with teachers.

HIRING — Hired two teachers to replace two teachers on sabbatical leaves in the spring semester. Patrick A. Bacchus will teach English at Redwood High School in place of Joseph Wadlington for a one-semester salary of $6,362, and Nina B. White will teach art at Tamalpais in place of Don Michaelian for a one - semester salary of $4,580.

Did Explosion Delay Russia's Man On Moon?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The explosion of a huge Soviet rocket on its launch pad may have set Russian efforts to land a man on the moon back two years and crippled its manned space program, an aerospace magazine says.

Aviation Week & Space Technology Magazine reported yesterday the explosion last summer at Tyuratam destroyed the rocket the Soviets had intended to carry the main portion of a manned orbiting platform into space last month.

The magazine quoted Mstislav V. Keldysh, president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, as saying the Soviet Union would concentrate its 1970 space efforts on scientific satellites orbiting the earth and unmanned planetary spacecraft.

It described the three-vessel launch by the Soviets last month as relatively unproductive, serving primarily to keep the Soviet technical team in practice.

Militant Wing Wanting $20,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Vietnam Moratorium Committee was asked for $20,000 by the militant Weatherman wing of Students for a Democratic Society in exchange for a promise to remain peaceful during anti-war demonstrations, the Washington Post said today.

The newspaper quoted Stephen Cohen, one of the Moratorium leaders as saying:

"They came in and said they wanted $20,000. They tried to shake me down. They wanted protection money. We told them to get lost."

Weatherman leader William Ayers denied threatening violence, but did acknowledge the Weatherman group had asked for money to help pay legal costs of members arrested during demonstrations in Chicago in September, the Post said.

First Conviction On Dirty Movies

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The first obscene movie conviction in the latest wave of police raids here was handed down to producer Lloyd W. Downton yesterday.

Downton, 38, was also found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl as was his cameraman Dennis W. E. Wright, 34, Orinda.

Downton, a former mayoralty candidate who now operates the Peerless Theater, still faces trial on charges of showing obscene movies last February.

Yesterday's verdicts were announced by Municipal Judge Janet Aitken, who heard testimony in a trial last June and considered written arguments by attorneys.

Cyclist Breaks Wrist In Rear-End Crash

Dennis Charles Flynn, 18, of Palo Alto, was treated at Letterman General Hospital Saturday for a broken left wrist suffered when his motorcycle hit the rear of a car driven by William Milton Simmons, 26, of San Leandro.

The California Highway Patrol said Flynn was following Simmons' car too closely and hit it when Simmons slowed to stop near the Fort Cronkhite entrance on the Sausalito lateral at 12:25 p.m.

Corte Madera Changes Mind On Parking

A proposal to increase the minimum size of off-street parking spaces in Corte Madera died abruptly last night and its death may have triggered a whole new parking study in the town.

The town council had been scheduled to adopt an ordinance amendment which would have increased the minimum parking space size from eight by 18 feet to nine by 19 feet, but after nearly 30 minutes of jockeying, the council returned the issue to the town's planning commission for more study.

MAYOR'S POINT

The sudden turnabout — which was somewhat unexpected since all four councilmen in attendance said they preferred the enlarged size — came when Mayor Edward W. Colthurst said the change would penalize persons wishing to improve their parking lots.

The cahnge would have affected only off-street parking spaces such as shopping centers or apartment houses. Persons now having lots with spaces marked off in the old measurement would not have to alter them until normal maintenance required relining of the lot. All new requests for parking would be subject to the new size.

Colthurst maintained that the change would discourage people from improving their lots since it would in essence take away 12 per cent of their parking spots.

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher, however, disagreed, saying he felt property owners would want the larger spaces since it would make parking much easier.

BACK TO PLANNERS

A motion by Holmes S. Norville to adopt the new space size died for lack of a second and the council then voted 4-0 to send the proposal back to the planners for further study.

The council indicated that the planners should possibly consider lowering the minimum number of parking spaces now required for various types of businesses and housing units.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

SIGN ORDINANCE — Set Dec. 1 at 9 p.m. as the time for the first of what is expected to be several public hearings on the town's new sign ordinance which has been forwarded to the town council by the planning commission.

SERVICE STATION — Set Dec. 1 at 7:45 p.m. for the time of a public hearing on a request from the Atlantic-Richfield Co. to rezone 5702 Paradise Drive from C-4 to C-1 zoning.

PIANO LESSONS — Voted 4-0 to allow Mrs. Gloria North to hold piano lessons in her home at 30 Edison Avenue.

CORPORATION YARD — Officially accepted and authorized final payment for the town's new corporation yard.

GRADING ORDINANCE — Set Dec. 15 at 8 p.m. as the time for a public hearing on changes in the town's ordinance regulating coverage, grading and clearing in residential districts.

ABSENT — Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff was absent.

County Government Is Top Marin Employer

Marin County with 1,217 employees is the largest employer in Marin, according to a new industrial survey prepared by the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

Second with 900 civilian employees is Hamilton Air Force Base, putting government in the two top spots.

In private industry, Fairchild Semiconductor and Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. are tied with 650 employees each.

Other large employers listed were: Pacific Gas and Electric Co., 454 employees; H. Koch and Sons, 325; Bergman Manufacturing Co., 275 A. G. Schoonmaker Co., 225; Independent-Journal, 200; and E. D. Bullard Co., 175.

The report designed to provide industries with over-all information about Marin said there were 252 manufacturing plants in Marin, mainly in electronics, plastic molding, printing and publishing, wood working and metal forming.

There are 200 acres zoned for industry in the Sausalito area, 450 in Corte Madera and Larkspur and 315 acres in the San Rafael area, with about 600 acres more in the San Rafael area, intended for industrial use, the report shows. Statistics on the Novato were not in this survey.

The report, available at the chamber and bureau office, 824 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, is distributed to industries and other organizations interested in prospective industrial sites.

The report lists transportation, water supply, utility services, population trends, tax and insurance rates, community facilities and the labor market.

The labor force was listed at agriculture, 858; construction, 2,710; manufacturing 3,576; wholesale and retail trade, 10,594; transportation and utilities, 2,114; finance, insurance and real estate, 2,039; services, 7,406; and government 3,582, as of September, 1968.

New Well Spurts Lots Of Steam

Completion of a new steam well was reported yesterday by Thermal Power Co., which added that explorations are continuing.

Thermal president Dan A. McMillan Jr. said the site for the next drilling has been marked three fourths of a mile north of the newly completed well. The aim is to determine more about the extent of the geothermal reservoir at the Geysers.

The well has added an estimated 50,000 kilowatts of generating capacity to the reservoir, McMillan said. Boosting total capacity to 1.3 million kilowatts.

ROBERT M. SHELTON
(AP Wirephoto)

Freed Klansman Will Direct Another Drive

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI)—A few extra pounds of his thin frame after a nine-month stay in a federal prison, Ku Klux Klan Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton secluded himself today at home to talk with his family and close friends.

"He just wants to talk with his family and won't be available for a day or so," a close friend said last night. "He just got back and he's awfully tired."

The former lightning rod salesman and head of the United Klans of America Inc.—largest Klan group in the United States—was released from the Texarkana, Tex., Correctional Institution after serving nine months of a one-year sentence.

His early release from the term, imposed for a contempt of Congress conviction which followed his refusal to reveal Klan membership rolls, was granted for good behavior.

Shelton vowed yesterday to wage a new crusade against blacks.

"A silent majority has realized that it is no longer a question of bad government," Shelton said. "It's a question of impossible government and we are chained to the infested black carcass that's dragging us to down to the low morals and disruption that's in this nation today."

The balding wizard said he was going "into the field again as head of the Klan organization" to organize "the Mormons, the Celts and Anglos, the Saxons, the Hugenots, the German-martyr-blood people into a bond of unity."

Purse Snacher Wounded, San Rafael Woman Saved

A San Francisco special policeman early yesterday rescued a San Rafael woman who was being beaten by a purse snatcher at a San Francisco street corner.

The victim, Ruth Sharpe, 43, of 223 Paloma Avenue, a waitress, was at Van Ness Avenue and Sutter Street when the attack occurred.

Officer Richard Sousa, 35, who was assigned to the Van Ness auto row beat had chatted with Mrs. Sharpe at about 1:30 a.m. as she was waiting for a bus to go home.

He continued his rounds and was across the street when a black sedan containing four young men pulled up in front of her.

One of the passengers jumped out, shoved Mrs. Sharpe against a wall, grabbed her purse and hit her again and again, police reported.

"The more I screamed, the harder he hit me," she later reported to Officer Richard Baker.

Hearing her screams, Officer Sousa ran back to the scene and drew his gun, and the assailant jumped back into the auto which headed north on Van Ness Avenue.

The officer cried halt, then fired three times at the car shooting out the rear tire.

The four men came out of the car at his order, but when he turned his head momentarily to ask a passing taxi cab driver to call police headquarters, the purse snatcher turned and ran.

Sousa shouted to him to halt and then he fired once, hitting the youth, still clutching Mrs. Sharpe's purse, in the left shoulder. The purse contained $25.

The youth, identified as Levon Bell, 22, of 554 Nevada, San Francisco, was taken to San Francisco General Hospital and held under police guard.

Mrs. Sharpe, who suffered cuts and bruises, was treated at Central Emergency Hospital.

Three other youths in the car surrendered and were booked on suspicion of robbery. They were identified as Ronnie Adams, 19; Willie Beasley, 18, both of San Francisco, and Robert Danridge, 20, who gave no address.

Look Article Makes Alioto Better Known

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Poll reported today that the Look Magazine article linking San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto to a half-dozen Mafia figures apparently has made him a better known figure to California voters.

But it also reported that this has been coupled with growth of an unfavorable image of him.

Alioto has denied the article repeatedly and has brought suit against the magazine for $12.5 million.

In surveys taken from a random sample of voters between Nov. 1 and Nov. 9, pollster Mervin D. Field found a shift from just over 50 per cent of Republicans said they "knew something about Alioto." By November, the comparable percentages were 74 and 75 per cent respectively.

New Well Spurts Lots Of Steam

Completion of a new steam well was reported yesterday by Thermal Power Co., which added that explorations are continuing.

The well has added an estimated 50,000 kilowatts of generating capacity to the reservoir, McMillan said. Boosting total capacity to 1.3 million kilowatts.

Foes Snag Session On Bylaws Changes

Proposed changes in the bylaws of the San Geronimo Valley Association snagged on intense opposition last night, according to Claryce Stevens of Fairfax, the group's publicity chairman.

Mrs. Stevens said the association got about half-way through the 15 changes and postponed the rest to the next meeting.

A proposal to bar association members from board meetings was removed after members pointed out it was illegal under state law.

Some members also objected to a proposal to eliminate the time and place for board meetings as also being in violation of state law.

Changes which were approved include increasing the board from six to nine directors. The association formerly had eight directors but that was changed because of a lack of qualified candidates.

Also approved as a bylaw requiring persons to be an active participating member of the association for six months before being eligible for office.

A proposal to limit terms of officers and directors to two consecutive years was dropped. Only one member of the board would have qualified for election next year.

The board approved a bylaw requiring persons to be members for six months before permitting them to sponsor new members.

Also ruled out were associate members, formerly the type of membership open to persons who rent homes in the valley.

Persons who objected to the changes said they were aimed at limiting membership to a select group.

In other business, the board agreed to pursue the possibility of the county installing street lights in dark areas of the valley.

The next meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 12 at Lagunitas School instead of the regularly scheduled third Monday. A Christmas party will be held in conjunction with the meeting.

APOLLO

ic exploration of the lunar surface.

Conrad and Bean inspected the landing craft six hours after Apollo 12 swept into lunar orbit which prompted outbursts of awe and enthusiasm from all three as they gazed at the wild and wondrous landscape below.

"Wowee!" Bean shouted. "Boy it's beautiful down there. Look at that crater."

The 30-minute telecast followed the course of Apollo 12 as it moved across a narrow band, moving from east to west. Large and small craters, rugged mountains and flat plains were visible as the camera panned across the desolate landscape.

"Even in earth orbit at night or in the daytime, the sky was never as black as it is here," Conrad reported. "This is the blackest black I ever saw."

Gordon pointed out long strands of rock and rubble thrown out when a crater was formed and called it "a fantastic sight."

The stage was set for man's second attempt to land on the moon at 10:47 p.m. Monday night when Conrad, Gordon and Bean triggered Yankee Clipper's big engine on the lunar backside and swept into an initial orbit ranging from 72 to 194 miles above the surface.

Four hours later they again fired the engine to settle into a tighter circle ranging between 63 and 76 miles high.

The initial orbit wasn't confirmed for 18 minutes after the firing, when Apollo 12 reappeared around the edge of the moon.

DISARM

Finnish President Urho Kekkonen is the host for today's reception. And tomorrow — for the first time in history, U.S. officials here believe—the U.S. and Soviet delegates are giving a joint party.

At last night's affair, Smith told newsmen the talks had "started well." Semenov termed the opening session "very fine" and predicted that would apply to today's meeting too.

The chief task of the Helsinki round is to fashion a framework for full-scale negotiations later. Among the negotiators' tasks here, informants said, is to work out what disarmament items should get priority attention when the full-fledged bargaining begins.

A high priority item for the American side is the MIRV—multiple independently targetable re-entry vehicle—the multiwarhead missile which both nations are testing.

Plainly concerned about the success of their arms limitation talks in Helsinki, the United States and the Soviet Union launched the annual disarmament debate at the United Nations yesterday on an unusually conciliatory note.

Omission of the usual invective made delegates hopeful that this year's U.N. disarmament talks will be more fruitful than such discussions in the past.

U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost and Ambassador A. A. Roshchin of the Soviet Union both expressed hope that the Helsinki talks would bring an end to the nuclear arms race. Both also called for quick approval of the U.S.-Soviet draft treaty to keep the seabed free of nuclear weapons.

Despite reservations by some small nations, it seemed certain that the assembly would approve the U.S.-Soviet draft.

The only differences expressed by Yost and Roshchin concerned the curbing of chemical and biological weapons. Two drafts on the issue, submitted by Britain and the Soviet Union, are before the assembly.

approve transfers out, he reported, and parents have indicated they will arrange transportation — 'indeed a sacrifice," he declared.

"Maybe a person, white or black, has a right to send his child to any school," declared Zach. Ten children could be added to each class in the Sausalito schools without adding staff, he pointed out.

Such addition of 10 per class was referred tob y Supt. Phillip W. Schneider of the Sausalito district in an Oct. 27 district board meeting. He was quoted on the antitransfer flyer as saying: "I recommend that we approve these up to 25 pupils in the classroom and not worry about whether San Francisco pays the difference."

Sausalito receives $380 in state aid for each child attending San Francisco, with much higher property valuation per child, loses only $125 in state aid for each pupil transferred out. Sausalito's cost per pupil, based on present enrollment, is about $1,800.

Mrs. Levinson contended Schneider had been misinterpreted. "All hei ntended was that we should not exceed 25 per class," she said, "not that we would load the classes up to that figure."

Harris contradicted that. He said "one of the principals" (later identified as Sidney F. Walton Jr. of Martin Luther King School) said "he had the solution" to the Sausalito district's declining school population — "he was going to bring in children from San Francisco . . . Mr. Schneider said it would indeed be possible to raise classes up to 25."

Mrs. Gergus, agreeing with this version, said Walton had referred to "a $100,000 windfall" by transferring children from San Francisco. He proposed this, she said, when Sausalito trustees were asked to reinstate a remedial reading program and said the district lacked money to hire a remedial reading teacher.

Chadd, himself a former county board member, said Sausalitans would like to see the staff reduced if there are too few pupils per teacher, rather than importing more children. Lyon echoed this, adding, "There seems to be an insidious plan behind" the proposal for transfers from San Francisco.

County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis said that school districts have in the past been allowed to arrange intercounty transfers without county board approval — which is required by law — because there was little problem. Transfers between Marin and neighboring counties balanced themselves out, he said. The possibility of mass transfers makes it necessary "that we do what we should have been doing all along — require they come first to the county board," he said.

Board member Lee C. Richardson Jr., who seconded Glen Robinson's motion to approve the 21 transfers, declared: "If someone were trying to bring 100 children from San Francisco to Sausalito, I would vote no."

Besides the three San Francisco-Sausalito transfers, those approved included three from San Francisco to Mill Valley, one from Petaluma to San Rafael, four from Analy High School District in Sonoma County to Shoreline Unified School District, three from Cotati to Shoreline, one from Petaluma to Shoreline, two from Petaluma to Novato, and four from Novato to Petaluma.

Foes Snag Session On Bylaws Changes

Proposed changes in the bylaws of the San Geronimo Valley Association snagged on intense opposition last night, according to Claryce Stevens of Fairfax, the group's publicity chairman.

Mrs. Stevens said the association got about half-way through the 15 changes and postponed the rest to the next meeting.

A proposal to bar association members from board meetings was removed after members pointed out it was illegal under state law.

Some members also objected to a proposal to eliminate the time and place for board meetings as also being in violation of state law.

Changes which were approved include increasing the board from six to nine directors. The association formerly had eight directors but that was changed because of a lack of qualified candidates.

Also approved as a bylaw requiring persons to be an active participating member of the association for six months before being eligible for office.

A proposal to limit terms of officers and directors to two consecutive years was dropped. Only one member of the board would have qualified for election next year.

The board approved a bylaw requiring persons to be members for six months before permitting them to sponsor new members.

Also ruled out were associate members, formerly the type of membership open to persons who rent homes in the valley.

Persons who objected to the changes said they were aimed at limiting membership to a select group.

In other business, the board agreed to pursue the possibility of the county installing street lights in dark areas of the valley.

The next meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 12 at Lagunitas School instead of the regularly scheduled third Monday. A Christmas party will be held in conjunction with the meeting.

APOLLO

ic exploration of the lunar surface.

Conrad and Bean inspected the landing craft six hours after Apollo 12 swept into lunar orbit which prompted outbursts of awe and enthusiasm from all three as they gazed at the wild and wondrous landscape below.

"Wowee!" Bean shouted. "Boy it's beautiful down there. Look at that crater."

The 30-minute telecast followed the course of Apollo 12 as it moved across a narrow band, moving from east to west. Large and small craters, rugged mountains and flat plains were visible as the camera panned across the desolate landscape.

"Even in earth orbit at night or in the daytime, the sky was never as black as it is here," Conrad reported. "This is the blackest black I ever saw."

Gordon pointed out long strands of rock and rubble thrown out when a crater was formed and called it "a fantastic sight."

The stage was set for man's second attempt to land on the moon at 10:47 p.m. Monday night when Conrad, Gordon and Bean triggered Yankee Clipper's big engine on the lunar backside and swept into an initial orbit ranging from 72 to 194 miles above the surface.

Four hours later they again fired the engine to settle into a tighter circle ranging between 63 and 76 miles high.

The initial orbit wasn't confirmed for 18 minutes after the firing, when Apollo 12 reappeared around the edge of the moon.

Finnish President Urho Kekkonen is the host for today's reception. And tomorrow — for the first time in history, U.S. officials here believe—the U.S. and Soviet delegates are giving a joint party.

At last night's affair, Smith told newsmen the talks had "started well." Semenov termed the opening session "very fine" and predicted that would apply to today's meeting too.

The chief task of the Helsinki round is to fashion a framework for full-scale negotiations later. Among the negotiators' tasks here, informants said, is to work out what disarmament items should get priority attention when the full-fledged bargaining begins.

A high priority item for the American side is the MIRV—multiple independently targetable re-entry vehicle—the multiwarhead missile which both nations are testing.

Plainly concerned about the success of their arms limitation talks in Helsinki, the United States and the Soviet Union launched the annual disarmament debate at the United Nations yesterday on an unusually conciliatory note.

Omission of the usual invective made delegates hopeful that this year's U.N. disarmament talks will be more fruitful than such discussions in the past.

U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost and Ambassador A. A. Roshchin of the Soviet Union both expressed hope that the Helsinki talks would bring an end to the nuclear arms race. Both also called for quick approval of the U.S.-Soviet draft treaty to keep the seabed free of nuclear weapons.

Despite reservations by some small nations, it seemed certain that the assembly would approve the U.S.-Soviet draft.

The only differences expressed by Yost and Roshchin concerned the curbing of chemical and biological weapons. Two drafts on the issue, submitted by Britain and the Soviet Union, are before the assembly.

approve transfers out, he reported, and parents have indicated they will arrange transportation — 'indeed a sacrifice," he declared.

"Maybe a person, white or black, has a right to send his child to any school," declared Zach. Ten children could be added to each class in the Sausalito schools without adding staff, he pointed out.

Such addition of 10 per class was referred tob y Supt. Phillip W. Schneider of the Sausalito district in an Oct. 27 district board meeting. He was quoted on the antitransfer flyer as saying: "I recommend that we approve these up to 25 pupils in the classroom and not worry about whether San Francisco pays the difference."

Sausalito receives $380 in state aid for each child attending San Francisco, with much higher property valuation per child, loses only $125 in state aid for each pupil transferred out. Sausalito's cost per pupil, based on present enrollment, is about $1,800.

Mrs. Levinson contended Schneider had been misinterpreted. "All hei ntended was that we should not exceed 25 per class," she said, "not that we would load the classes up to that figure."

Harris contradicted that. He said "one of the principals" (later identified as Sidney F. Walton Jr. of Martin Luther King School) said "he had the solution" to the Sausalito district's declining school population — "he was going to bring in children from San Francisco . . . Mr. Schneider said it would indeed be possible to raise classes up to 25."

Mrs. Gergus, agreeing with this version, said Walton had referred to "a $100,000 windfall" by transferring children from San Francisco. He proposed this, she said, when Sausalito trustees were asked to reinstate a remedial reading program and said the district lacked money to hire a remedial reading teacher.

Chadd, himself a former county board member, said Sausalitans would like to see the staff reduced if there are too few pupils per teacher, rather than importing more children. Lyon echoed this, adding, "There seems to be an insidious plan behind" the proposal for transfers from San Francisco.

County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis said that school districts have in the past been allowed to arrange intercounty transfers without county board approval — which is required by law — because there was little problem. Transfers between Marin and neighboring counties balanced themselves out, he said. The possibility of mass transfers makes it necessary "that we do what we should have been doing all along — require they come first to the county board," he said.

Board member Lee C. Richardson Jr., who seconded Glen Robinson's motion to approve the 21 transfers, declared: "If someone were trying to bring 100 children from San Francisco to Sausalito, I would vote no."

Besides the three San Francisco-Sausalito transfers, those approved included three from San Francisco to Mill Valley, one from Petaluma to San Rafael, four from Analy High School District in Sonoma County to Shoreline Unified School District, three from Cotati to Shoreline, one from Petaluma to Shoreline, two from Petaluma to Novato, and four from Novato to Petaluma.

He took great pride in the accomplishments of his three sons in public life.

One daughter, Rosemary, was born mentally retarded in 1920 and for many years has lived in a special institution at Jefferson, Wis.

television networks. Agnew said commentators criticized the President's speech immediately after he gave it.

Reagan said that television network chiefs themselves had "discovered news coverage was biased and they were getting this impression from the viewers themselves." He said he had discovered this in an article in the magazine TV Guide.

"I think the Vice President made a very valid point in his request for fairness," he said.

Asked about California coverage of himself, Reagan said, "I would have to say this. You here at the working level. No criticism. You get your story and facts and film and send it in. But I doubt if any one of you here wants to deny that once it reaches the news bureau, certain things take place in the editing and many times what appears on the air is not the way you reported it."

He singled out an incident that occurred during his inaugural ceremony in 1967 when he remarked to Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., a fellow former actor, "Well, here we are on the late show again, George."

"You sent in film of the senator kind of doubled over by laughter at the remark. He enjoyed it. Now how do you explain a network that deliberately edited out the shot of him laughing and substituted a shot of him with a scowl on his face and then told the audience bluntly that the senator wasn't amused by my remarks and implied nationwide that he and I were at odds with each other."

Asked the name of the network, Reagan said, "CBS."

Historic Sanctuary
Over 90 years ago, Marin pioneers dedicated beautiful Mount Tamalpais Cemetery as a resting place for their loved ones. Close to the heart of the county, this lovely 50-acre site is a natural sanctuary—abounding in trees and views typical of the county. EAGER HELPERS—American artillerymen at Firebase Mike Smith, about 135 miles northeast of Saigon, have eager helpers in these two adopted Montagnard children. They lend a hand in helping two shovel earth into sandbags for bunkers around the camp. (AP Wirephoto)

U.S. Shells, Planes Play Major Kill Roll

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces today claimed 273 North Vietnamese killed in two battles in the Bu Prang-Duc Lap area of the central highlands. U.S. artillery and planes did most of the killing.

The heaviest fighting was two miles east of Bu Prang where 243 enemy were reported killed. Informants said South Vietnamese casualties in the day-long battle yesterday were only 11 wounded because each time the government troops met stiff resistance, the pulled back and called on American aircraft and artillery.

The government claim of 243 North Vietnamese killed was somewhat suspect. A search after the battle turned up only six weapons and aerial observers counted some of the enemy dead.

In the other battle, five miles south of Duc Lap, 30 North Vietnamese were killed while South Vietnamese casualties were seven killed and 11 wounded.

Government forces sweeping the battlefield at Bu Prang reported finding some bodies of North Vietnamese soldiers chained to trees and to each other to keep them from retreating under the onslaught of American firepower. There have been similar reports in the past.

The fighting was touched off when a battalion of 400 South Vietnamese infantrymen on a sweep outside the camp's perimeter came under fire from a woodline.

The government soldiers withdrew after a heavy exchange of rifle and machine-gun fire, and more than 20 U.S. F4 and F100 fighter-bombers raked the North Vietnamese troops with bombs, napalm and rockets less than a mile east of the camp perimeter. Some of the North Vietnamese force, estimated at 800 men were caught in the open.

Shortly before dusk the bombardment eased and the South Vietnamese infantrymen again went into the area. Again they encountered stiff resistance, again they pulled back, and the fighter-bombers renewed their attacks in after-dark raids, guided by the light of napalm fires still burning from the earlier strikes.

The North Vietnamese shelled the Bu Prang camp twice today, once at dawn with 40 mortar rounds, then at midmorning with 12 rounds of artillery fired from across the border in Cambodia.

Senator Hits Convictions Of Mafia Members

WASHINGTON (AP) — The courts have dealt lightly with members of the Cosa Nostra—Mafia—on the occasions they have been convicted on federal indictments, Sen. John L. McClellan says.

The Arkansas Democrat said an FBI study of sentences received by Cosa Nostra members shows that most received either no prison sentence or a sentence too short to prevent the defendant from promptly resumming his criminal career.

Since 1960 a total of 235 federal indictments have been returned against 328 defendants, McClellan said. Of those 73 were acquitted or charges were dropped. 15 received no jail term, 85 received less than maximum sentences and 96 have not yet been brought to trial or sentenced.

Election Session

The Tamalpais Fire District board will hold a special meeting at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Fire Station No. 1, 309 Poplar Street, to certify Nov. 4 election results.

Lumping Of Bond Vote Is Studied

San Rafael City Council, pointing toward a bond election for a recreation center and new main fire house, agreed last night to try to combine it with another election to save costs.

April has been considered for an election, but City Mgr. James H. McCown was asked to find out what other elections are slated next year so it could be combined.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini suggested that the council consider putting forth charter amendments at the same time, including propositions to have the police chief, city clerk, city treasurer, and city attorney appointed instead of elected. The propositions have twice been defeated by voters.

Cabinet Families Will Be United

WASHINGTON (AP) — The son of Secretary of State William P. Rogers and the daughter of Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin plan to marry Jan. 31.

"Douglas took one look at Nancy and said, 'Let's get better acquainted with the Hardins,'" Mrs. Rogers said Monday.

Both law students—she at the University of Virginia and he at Yale—they will be married by Nancy's brother, Rev. Clifford Hardin of Denver, at National Presbyterian church here.

Revised Business License On Books

San Rafael City Council last night passed to print a revised business license ordinance, which met no opposition.

"The object isn't to increase revenue," explained City Mgr. James H. McCown.

Under the proposed ordinance, scheduled to become effective Jan. 1, license fees would be based on a flat rate plus an amount for each employee, except for specific businesses, paying only flat rates.

It will be a radical departure from the current method of basing fees on gross receipts.

The intent is to have a simpler, more equitable ordinance, McCown said. "Presently the city receives from $126,000 to $127,000 in fees, and with the change it will be about $125,000 annually.

McCown said the proposed ordinance was endorsed by the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, which earlier this year asked for a delay on the revised plan so it could study it.

Chamber recommendations have been incorporated in the proposed new ordinance, he said.

One of the provisions is that motion picture companies shooting scenes in San Rafael will pay a fee of $350 per day.

Recently, scenes for a pilot film for a television series were shot at the county courthouse, and shooting one day called for closing off Fifth Street, tying up traffic and police officers.

There also is a provision that firms from outside the city which do business in San Rafael pay a fee of $35 per year plus $10 for each vehicle used in the city.

Councilman gave first approval to the proposed new license charges without comment on details.

The fees proposed are for retail, wholesale or manufacturing business, $35 per year; service business, $30; professional, semi-professional, trade business, $45.

The amounts to be paid by employers in these categories are for up to 10 employees, $5 per employee; for 11 through 40 employees, $3 per employee and for more than 40 employees, $1 per employee.

For other businesses there are specific charges, but no charges per employee, as follows:

Outdoor advertising, $90 per year; ambulance service, $50 plus $10 per vehicle; amusement rides, $5 per ride per day; carnival, $150 per day; circus, $200 per day; motion picture theater, indoors or outdoors, $350 per year; theatrical performance or vaudeville performance, $25 per day; penny arcade, $300 a year; public card tables, seating of four or less, $120 per year; seating more than four, $150 per year.

Endurance contests, such as dance marathon, $250, for each or if they last more than one week, $500 per month or any part of month.

Boxing or wrestling match, $50; coin-operated devices and vending machines, $35, plus individual machine tax; pinball machine, $25 year year; juke box, $15 per machine; vending machine, $10 per year machine; Newspapers, radio and TV stations, $75.

Hotel, auto court or motel, $35 for ten or less units, plus $1 for each unit more than 10; boarding house, $10; rooming house, $10; apartment house, $6 per apartment per year; fire or wreck sale, $100 per month; hospital, $75; veterinary or animay hospital, $50.

Rest or convalescent home, $40; bowling alley, $50 plus $10 per alley per year; poolroom $50 plus $10 per table per year.

Contractor, $35 plus $10 for each vehicle per year; peddler, $5 per day to maximum of $50 per year; taxicab or auto for hire, $30 per year; motion picture industry, $350 per day.

Retail deliveries, $35 plus $10 for each vehicle per year; skating rink, $50 per year; garbage collector, $75 a month; undertaker or mortician, $75; yacht harbor, $1 a year for each berth.

Petaluman Enters Innocent Plea In Shooting Case

Judge Alexander J. Mahon set a preliminary hearing for 9 a.m. Thursday and said the court may be convened later that morning at the hospital bedside of Officer Ahola for his testimony.

Hale is charged with assault with intent to commit murder and assault with a deadly weapon. He is accused of shooting Ahola in the neck as the officer attempted to assist Helen Hale, the defendant's estranged wife, to move belongings from the Hale home at 718 I Street on Nov. 7.

Ahola was reported in satisfactory condition at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital where he has regained partial use of his arms. Doctors said his legs remain paralyzed.

Hub Business Fees On Agenda

Final adoption of a new business license ordinance is scheduled when the San Anselmo City Council meets at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

The ordinance will raise the cost of annual business licenses in the city. At the initial ordinance reading Oct. 28, some businessmen objected strongly to the new schedule and one warned some businesses might leave town rather than pay.

The council is also to discuss raising the salary of the assistant fire chief, and will hear first readings of ordinances banning nudity and providing for underground utilities.

Session On San Pedro Road Wanted

San Rafael City Council agreed last night to set up a joint public hearing with Marin County supervisors on the controversial phase four widening of San Pedro Road through Bayside Acres.

ALIGNMENT PLAN

Under consideration is whether the current alignment of the roadway will be followed from Lochinvar Road to Peacock Drive, or whether the new roadway should swing through marshland in Bayside Acres.

The council received a letter from the Glenwood Homeowners Association board backing the marshland route, and a petition from Clinton Lewis of Oak Drive with 31 residents of Bayside Acres for the present alignment and 12 for the marshland route.

Lewis' figures were challenged, but Bettini called off debate, saying arguments should not be held until the public hearing.

City Mgr. James H. McCown said he has received 12 letters supporting the presenting alignment and 45 letters and telegrams supporting the marshland route.

JOINT PROJECT

The widening is a joint city-county project, scheduled to start in fiscal 1970-71.

There also was a letter from Bart J. Data of 34 Marine Drive, charging that a meeting of homeowner's associations on the issue Nov. 10 didn't give advocates of the present alignment ample time for rebuttal.

Data said it appeared that the widening "has turned into a political football and is being controlled by calls from Supervisor (John F.) McInnis."

Pleads Guilty To Weed Possession

William Stephen Weir, 29, of Covello, Mendocino County, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to possessing marijuana when arrested by the California Highway Patrol Sept. 8. A second charge of possessing seconal at the same time was dismissed.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson sentenced Weir to 90 days in jail with credit for the time he has served since his arrest.

He noted that Weir is wanted by San Diego authorities on charges of sex perversion and rape.

Holiday Magic Land To Be Dumping Area

San Rafael City Council last night approved dumping of spoils from dredging of private lands along San Rafael Canal at Holiday Magic property in East San Rafael.

City Engineer Ely Cailloutte said the original site for canal dredging spoils, Kerner-Bellam Realty property, is nearly filled, and a new disposal site was needed.

The only site available was the Holiday Magic property, 100 acres, north of Francisco Boulevard and east of Kerner Boulevard, which now serves as a ponding area.

The council authorized Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles to negotiate with the dredging contractor, West Coast Dredging Co., for dredging of city property, the canal from Grand Avenue to Irwin Street, and report back with a price.

Councilmen also granted the dredging firm permission to use city property along the canal for a temporary storage area.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

Sirhan Prosecutor Still Noncandidate

Los Angeles Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger last night pushed his noncandidacy for the Republican nomination for California attorney general to the brink of an open declaration that he will run.

The chances he will run, and announce his candidacy in January, "are 999 to one," Younger told a Marin County Republican Central Committee reception attended by about 100 persons at Sabella's Restaurant in Mill Valley.

"But it's far too early to announce now," said Younger, who prosecuted the Sirhan B. Sirhan case. Voters simply are not yet interested in something as distant as June's primary election, he said.

He added that if he were to declare his candidacy now, televisions stations in Los Angeles and elsewhere in the state immediately "would treat me as if I had leprosy" because of the federal rule requiring them to give equal time to all candidates. But until he announces, he can get the attention — free — of about 15 million viewers, Younger noted.

He stressed that the Republican candidate with the most experience in law enforcement would stand the best chance of defeating the incumbent attorney general, Democrat Thomas C. Lynch. And Younger made it clear that he considered himself, as head of "one of the most important law enforcement offices in the nation," the Republican with the best experience.

Younger cautioned that a bitter primary fight between GOP conservatives and liberals would only help keep Lynch in office.

Other Republicans already announced candidates in the contest are Sen. George Deukmejian of Long Beach and John L. Harmer of Glendale. Also expected to announce his candidacy is Spencer Williams, secretary of the state Human Relations Agency and unsuccessful GOP nominee against Lynch in 1966.

Younger joked that his campaign could get a boost from the fact that he and his wife "are the skunk-catching champions of Los Angeles — we've caught 28 of the little darlings in the past year."

He conceded "it helps to live on a skunk run."

Guilty Plea In Burglary Case

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Dec. 8.

Jenkins and a companion were reportedly foiled in an attempt to burglarize a house at 178 Glen Drive. The other man arrested with Jenkins was released when a witness failed to identify him.

Japanese TV Crews Film Tiburon Living

Television viewers in Japan are going to get a glimpse of what life is like in a Tiburon household.

A camera crew from Television Tokyo yesterday filmed Mrs. Martin T. Williams, her 10-year-old son, Sam, two cats and a dog as they shopped for a week in a Tiburon supermarket and went home to prepare French fried potatoes.

The Tiburon sequence will be part of a documentary the crew is making on a month-long sojurn in the United States which has taken them from San Francisco to New York and back again to the Bay Area, reported Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. Williams, former convention manager at the Whitcomb Hotel in San Francisco 15 years ago, was asked by a friend on the San Francisco Convention and Visitors Bureau to allow the filming of her home at 542 Virginia Drive.

Two cameramen, a director and Takashi Uryu, an interpreter sent by the Travel Bureau in San Francisco, filmed Mrs. Williams as she bought canned goods, soft drinks, wine, TV dinners, noodles, fruit, potatoes, steaks, hamburger and a turkey, all of which the Japanese paid for, at a Tiburon market.

They also captured Sam riding up and down the store aisles in the supermarket cart.

They filmed the loading of the groceries into the family car, the trip home and the grocery unpacking in the avocado-hued French provincial kitchin in the Williams home.

The crew photographed Mrs. Williams peeling potatoes, using an automatic vegetable chopper and cooking French fries in an electric deepfryer. They also were intrigued with and filmed all the gadgets in the kitchen the family remodeled after moving to Tiburon two years ago, even capturing the garbage disposal and electric can opener on film.

After finishing in the kitchen, the crew photographed the entire three-bedroom home overlooking San Francisco Bay, even filming the portraits of the ancestors hanging on the walls, Mrs. Williams commented.

After the three-hour session was over, Mrs. Williams who had treated the crew to cheese, crackers and wine in place of the lunch they had missed, exclaimed, "I hope it isn't a Communist outfit . . . We'll look like fat Americans."

$19,000 Tab For Wardrobe

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon has purchased a wardrobe from American designers valued at some $19,000 since her husband became president in January, according to a survey of U.S. designers.

They say that to their knowledge she has purchased no clothes from European designers.

"Fitting Mrs. Nixon is a downright pleasure," said Larry Croen, vice president of Marquise of New York.

Another New York designer, Harvey Berin, says Mrs. Nixon wore a size 10 for inaugural ceremonies last January, but now takes a 6 or 8.

U.S. Shells, Planes Play Major Kill Roll

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces today claimed 273 North Vietnamese killed in two battles in the Bu Prang-Duc Lap area of the central highlands. U.S. artillery and planes did most of the killing.

The heaviest fighting was two miles east of Bu Prang where 243 enemy were reported killed. Informants said South Vietnamese casualties in the day-long battle yesterday were only 11 wounded because each time the government troops met stiff resistance, the pulled back and called on American aircraft and artillery.

The government claim of 243 North Vietnamese killed was somewhat suspect. A search after the battle turned up only six weapons and aerial observers counted some of the enemy dead.

In the other battle, five miles south of Duc Lap, 30 North Vietnamese were killed while South Vietnamese casualties were seven killed and 11 wounded.

Government forces sweeping the battlefield at Bu Prang reported finding some bodies of North Vietnamese soldiers chained to trees and to each other to keep them from retreating under the onslaught of American firepower. There have been similar reports in the past.

The fighting was touched off when a battalion of 400 South Vietnamese infantrymen on a sweep outside the camp's perimeter came under fire from a woodline.

The government soldiers withdrew after a heavy exchange of rifle and machine-gun fire, and more than 20 U.S. F4 and F100 fighter-bombers raked the North Vietnamese troops with bombs, napalm and rockets less than a mile east of the camp perimeter. Some of the North Vietnamese force, estimated at 800 men were caught in the open.

Shortly before dusk the bombardment eased and the South Vietnamese infantrymen again went into the area. Again they encountered stiff resistance, again they pulled back, and the fighter-bombers renewed their attacks in after-dark raids, guided by the light of napalm fires still burning from the earlier strikes.

The North Vietnamese shelled the Bu Prang camp twice today, once at dawn with 40 mortar rounds, then at midmorning with 12 rounds of artillery fired from across the border in Cambodia.

Senator Hits Convictions Of Mafia Members

WASHINGTON (AP) — The courts have dealt lightly with members of the Cosa Nostra—Mafia—on the occasions they have been convicted on federal indictments, Sen. John L. McClellan says.

The Arkansas Democrat said an FBI study of sentences received by Cosa Nostra members shows that most received either no prison sentence or a sentence too short to prevent the defendant from promptly resumming his criminal career.

Since 1960 a total of 235 federal indictments have been returned against 328 defendants, McClellan said. Of those 73 were acquitted or charges were dropped. 15 received no jail term, 85 received less than maximum sentences and 96 have not yet been brought to trial or sentenced.

Election Session

The Tamalpais Fire District board will hold a special meeting at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Fire Station No. 1, 309 Poplar Street, to certify Nov. 4 election results.

Lumping Of Bond Vote Is Studied

San Rafael City Council, pointing toward a bond election for a recreation center and new main fire house, agreed last night to try to combine it with another election to save costs.

April has been considered for an election, but City Mgr. James H. McCown was asked to find out what other elections are slated next year so it could be combined.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini suggested that the council consider putting forth charter amendments at the same time, including propositions to have the police chief, city clerk, city treasurer, and city attorney appointed instead of elected. The propositions have twice been defeated by voters.

Cabinet Families Will Be United

WASHINGTON (AP) — The son of Secretary of State William P. Rogers and the daughter of Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin plan to marry Jan. 31.

"Douglas took one look at Nancy and said, 'Let's get better acquainted with the Hardins,'" Mrs. Rogers said Monday.

Both law students—she at the University of Virginia and he at Yale—they will be married by Nancy's brother, Rev. Clifford Hardin of Denver, at National Presbyterian church here.

Revised Business License On Books

San Rafael City Council last night passed to print a revised business license ordinance, which met no opposition.

"The object isn't to increase revenue," explained City Mgr. James H. McCown.

Under the proposed ordinance, scheduled to become effective Jan. 1, license fees would be based on a flat rate plus an amount for each employee, except for specific businesses, paying only flat rates.

It will be a radical departure from the current method of basing fees on gross receipts.

The intent is to have a simpler, more equitable ordinance, McCown said. "Presently the city receives from $126,000 to $127,000 in fees, and with the change it will be about $125,000 annually.

McCown said the proposed ordinance was endorsed by the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, which earlier this year asked for a delay on the revised plan so it could study it.

Chamber recommendations have been incorporated in the proposed new ordinance, he said.

One of the provisions is that motion picture companies shooting scenes in San Rafael will pay a fee of $350 per day.

Recently, scenes for a pilot film for a television series were shot at the county courthouse, and shooting one day called for closing off Fifth Street, tying up traffic and police officers.

There also is a provision that firms from outside the city which do business in San Rafael pay a fee of $35 per year plus $10 for each vehicle used in the city.

Councilman gave first approval to the proposed new license charges without comment on details.

The fees proposed are for retail, wholesale or manufacturing business, $35 per year; service business, $30; professional, semi-professional, trade business, $45.

The amounts to be paid by employers in these categories are for up to 10 employees, $5 per employee; for 11 through 40 employees, $3 per employee and for more than 40 employees, $1 per employee.

For other businesses there are specific charges, but no charges per employee, as follows:

Outdoor advertising, $90 per year; ambulance service, $50 plus $10 per vehicle; amusement rides, $5 per ride per day; carnival, $150 per day; circus, $200 per day; motion picture theater, indoors or outdoors, $350 per year; theatrical performance or vaudeville performance, $25 per day; penny arcade, $300 a year; public card tables, seating of four or less, $120 per year; seating more than four, $150 per year.

Endurance contests, such as dance marathon, $250, for each or if they last more than one week, $500 per month or any part of month.

Boxing or wrestling match, $50; coin-operated devices and vending machines, $35, plus individual machine tax; pinball machine, $25 year year; juke box, $15 per machine; vending machine, $10 per year machine; Newspapers, radio and TV stations, $75.

Hotel, auto court or motel, $35 for ten or less units, plus $1 for each unit more than 10; boarding house, $10; rooming house, $10; apartment house, $6 per apartment per year; fire or wreck sale, $100 per month; hospital, $75; veterinary or animay hospital, $50.

Rest or convalescent home, $40; bowling alley, $50 plus $10 per alley per year; poolroom $50 plus $10 per table per year.

Contractor, $35 plus $10 for each vehicle per year; peddler, $5 per day to maximum of $50 per year; taxicab or auto for hire, $30 per year; motion picture industry, $350 per day.

Retail deliveries, $35 plus $10 for each vehicle per year; skating rink, $50 per year; garbage collector, $75 a month; undertaker or mortician, $75; yacht harbor, $1 a year for each berth.

Petaluman Enters Innocent Plea In Shooting Case

Judge Alexander J. Mahon set a preliminary hearing for 9 a.m. Thursday and said the court may be convened later that morning at the hospital bedside of Officer Ahola for his testimony.

Hale is charged with assault with intent to commit murder and assault with a deadly weapon. He is accused of shooting Ahola in the neck as the officer attempted to assist Helen Hale, the defendant's estranged wife, to move belongings from the Hale home at 718 I Street on Nov. 7.

Ahola was reported in satisfactory condition at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital where he has regained partial use of his arms. Doctors said his legs remain paralyzed.

Hub Business Fees On Agenda

Final adoption of a new business license ordinance is scheduled when the San Anselmo City Council meets at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

The ordinance will raise the cost of annual business licenses in the city. At the initial ordinance reading Oct. 28, some businessmen objected strongly to the new schedule and one warned some businesses might leave town rather than pay.

The council is also to discuss raising the salary of the assistant fire chief, and will hear first readings of ordinances banning nudity and providing for underground utilities.

Session On San Pedro Road Wanted

San Rafael City Council agreed last night to set up a joint public hearing with Marin County supervisors on the controversial phase four widening of San Pedro Road through Bayside Acres.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini suggested the city try for a joint meeting next Monday night.

ALIGNMENT PLAN

Under consideration is whether the current alignment of the roadway will be followed from Lochinvar Road to Peacock Drive, or whether the new roadway should swing through marshland in Bayside Acres.

The council received a letter from the Glenwood Homeowners Association board backing the marshland route, and a petition from Clinton Lewis of Oak Drive with 31 residents of Bayside Acres for the present alignment and 12 for the marshland route.

Lewis' figures were challenged, but Bettini called off debate, saying arguments should not be held until the public hearing.

City Mgr. James H. McCown said he has received 12 letters supporting the presenting alignment and 45 letters and telegrams supporting the marshland route.

JOINT PROJECT

The widening is a joint city-county project, scheduled to start in fiscal 1970-71.

There also was a letter from Bart J. Data of 34 Marine Drive, charging that a meeting of homeowner's associations on the issue Nov. 10 didn't give advocates of the present alignment ample time for rebuttal.

Data said it appeared that the widening "has turned into a political football and is being controlled by calls from Supervisor (John F.) McInnis."

Pleads Guilty To Weed Possession

William Stephen Weir, 29, of Covello, Mendocino County, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to possessing marijuana when arrested by the California Highway Patrol Sept. 8. A second charge of possessing seconal at the same time was dismissed.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson sentenced Weir to 90 days in jail with credit for the time he has served since his arrest.

He noted that Weir is wanted by San Diego authorities on charges of sex perversion and rape.

Holiday Magic Land To Be Dumping Area

San Rafael City Council last night approved dumping of spoils from dredging of private lands along San Rafael Canal at Holiday Magic property in East San Rafael.

City Engineer Ely Cailloutte said the original site for canal dredging spoils, Kerner-Bellam Realty property, is nearly filled, and a new disposal site was needed.

The only site available was the Holiday Magic property, 100 acres, north of Francisco Boulevard and east of Kerner Boulevard, which now serves as a ponding area.

The council authorized Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles to negotiate with the dredging contractor, West Coast Dredging Co., for dredging of city property, the canal from Grand Avenue to Irwin Street, and report back with a price.

Councilmen also granted the dredging firm permission to use city property along the canal for a temporary storage area.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 18, the 322nd day of 1969 with 43 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Venus, and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1883, the United States adopted standard time and set up the four time zones: Eastern, Central, Mountain and Pacific.

In 1903, Panama and the United States signed a treaty reaching agreement on the proposed Panama Canal.

In 1967, Britain devalued the pound 14.3 per cent, to $2.40.

In 1968, New York City school teachers agreed to end their third strike of the term.

A thought for the day: George Bernard Shaw said, "My method is to take the utmost trouble to find the right thing to say, and then to say it with the utmost levity."

Shelley Winters In Musical Next

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Shelley Winters has been signed to a starring role in a new Broadway musical about the Marx Brothers and their mother.

The show, "Minnie's Boys," is scheduled to open at the Imperial Theater on March 7, with Miss Winters playing the role of Minnie.

Another character in the production will be Al Sheen, the comedian of the Gallagher and Sheen team. He was Mrs. Marx's brother.

Sometimes Counting May Help Solve Problem Of Finessing

"You have to take the bitter with the sweet," South said after the play of today's hand. "If you make every game that you bid, you're not bidding enough of them. Only a crybaby would complain about going down one at a reasonable contract." It was excellent philsosphy, but it didn't have anything to do with the hand he had just played.

HEART ACTION

East overtook the queen of hearts with the king and continued with the nine of hearts. When that held, he led the ten of hearts, hoping that West could overruff declarer.

Our philosophic South ruffed the third heart with the king of spades, drew three rounds of trumps, cashed the king of diamonds and then led a diamond toward his own hand. East discarded a heart, and it became obvious that the diamond finesse was not going to work.

South had to give up a diamond and a club, going down one. This was what provoked him to discourse so eloquently about the bitter and the sweet.

POSTPONE DECISION

South should postpone the decision on the diamonds until all the evidence is in. After ruffing the third heart and drawing three rounds of trumps, South should knock out the ace of clubs. East returns a club (his best defense), and declarer ruffs dummy's last heart and then ruffs his last club in dummy.

By this time South knows that East started with six hearts, three trumps and three clubs. There is room for only one diamond in the East hand. South should cash the ace of diamonds to find out what that diamond is.

KEEP QUIET!

When East drops the ten of diamonds, South can lead the jack of diamonds for a finesse through West's queen. This would bring home the game and rubber and would give the opponents their chance to say philsosphic things about luck and the thrill of the game even when one loses. South could keep quiet all the way to the bank.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠—K Q J 6 5
◇—A J 6
♣—9 5 3

What do you say?

Answer: Pass.

The hand is not quite worth an opening bid. If the jack of diamonds were the queen, you would open with one spade. The ceiling won't fall on you if you open such hands, but the hand is just a shade too light for a normal, sound opening bid.

Japanese TV Crews Film Tiburon Living

Television viewers in Japan are going to get a glimpse of what life is like in a Tiburon household.

A camera crew from Television Tokyo yesterday filmed Mrs. Martin T. Williams, her 10-year-old son, Sam, two cats and a dog as they shopped for a week in a Tiburon supermarket and went home to prepare French fried potatoes.

The Tiburon sequence will be part of a documentary the crew is making on a month-long sojurn in the United States which has taken them from San Francisco to New York and back again to the Bay Area, reported Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. Williams, former convention manager at the Whitcomb Hotel in San Francisco 15 years ago, was asked by a friend on the San Francisco Convention and Visitors Bureau to allow the filming of her home at 542 Virginia Drive.

Two cameramen, a director and Takashi Uryu, an interpreter sent by the Travel Bureau in San Francisco, filmed Mrs. Williams as she bought canned goods, soft drinks, wine, TV dinners, noodles, fruit, potatoes, steaks, hamburger and a turkey, all of which the Japanese paid for, at a Tiburon market.

They also captured Sam riding up and down the store aisles in the supermarket cart.

They filmed the loading of the groceries into the family car, the trip home and the grocery unpacking in the avocado-hued French provincial kitchin in the Williams home.

The crew photographed Mrs. Williams peeling potatoes, using an automatic vegetable chopper and cooking French fries in an electric deepfryer. They also were intrigued with and filmed all the gadgets in the kitchen the family remodeled after moving to Tiburon two years ago, even capturing the garbage disposal and electric can opener on film.

After finishing in the kitchen, the crew photographed the entire three-bedroom home overlooking San Francisco Bay, even filming the portraits of the ancestors hanging on the walls, Mrs. Williams commented.

After the three-hour session was over, Mrs. Williams who had treated the crew to cheese, crackers and wine in place of the lunch they had missed, exclaimed, "I hope it isn't a Communist outfit . . . We'll look like fat Americans."

$19,000 Tab For Wardrobe

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon has purchased a wardrobe from American designers valued at some $19,000 since her husband became president in January, according to a survey of U.S. designers.

They say that to their knowledge she has purchased no clothes from European designers.

"Fitting Mrs. Nixon is a downright pleasure," said Larry Croen, vice president of Marquise of New York.

Another New York designer, Harvey Berin, says Mrs. Nixon wore a size 10 for inaugural ceremonies last January, but now takes a 6 or 8.

Sirhan Prosecutor Still Noncandidate

Los Angeles Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger last night pushed his noncandidacy for the Republican nomination for California attorney general to the brink of an open declaration that he will run.

The chances he will run, and announce his candidacy in January, "are 999 to one," Younger told a Marin County Republican Central Committee reception attended by about 100 persons at Sabella's Restaurant in Mill Valley.

"But it's far too early to announce now," said Younger, who prosecuted the Sirhan B. Sirhan case. Voters simply are not yet interested in something as distant as June's primary election, he said.

He added that if he were to declare his candidacy now, televisions stations in Los Angeles and elsewhere in the state immediately "would treat me as if I had leprosy" because of the federal rule requiring them to give equal time to all candidates. But until he announces, he can get the attention — free — of about 15 million viewers, Younger noted.

He stressed that the Republican candidate with the most experience in law enforcement would stand the best chance of defeating the incumbent attorney general, Democrat Thomas C. Lynch. And Younger made it clear that he considered himself, as head of "one of the most important law enforcement offices in the nation," the Republican with the best experience.

Younger cautioned that a bitter primary fight between GOP conservatives and liberals would only help keep Lynch in office.

Other Republicans already announced candidates in the contest are Sen. George Deukmejian of Long Beach and John L. Harmer of Glendale. Also expected to announce his candidacy is Spencer Williams, secretary of the state Human Relations Agency and unsuccessful GOP nominee against Lynch in 1966.

Younger joked that his campaign could get a boost from the fact that he and his wife "are the skunk-catching champions of Los Angeles — we've caught 28 of the little darlings in the past year."

He conceded "it helps to live on a skunk run."

Last Friday, workmen in the Hall of Justice touched off a fire alarm sensor and sent employees out of the Civic Center just before 1 p.m.

Mill Valley Council Approves Ridge Plans

The Shelter Ridge development of 461 apartments, townhouses, duplexes and single family homes, the largest single development in the city's history, was approved last night by the Mill Valley City Council.

Approval of the development's master plan came on a 4-1 vote after a lengthy presentation during which many questions were aked but few objections voiced.

Councilman Robert H. Andresen dissented on the vote, saying he did not like minor changes in density arrangements made in the final master plan presentation.

Designer Charles Warren Callister of Tiburon said final plans moved 35 units from the west slope of the ridge between Enchanted Knolls and Highway 101 onto the ridge itself to lessen the density and impact on Enchanted Knolls.

This move, he said, increased the ridge density from 6.5 to 7.3 units per acre but lessened the west slope density from 4 to 2.5 units per acre.

Undeveloped portions of the 73 acre ridge will be retained as open space with some park, landscaping and trail development, he said. Callister also noted that only 10 per cent of the property will be covered by structures.

Ammunition Bill To Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bill eliminating record keeping provisions for rifle and shotgun ammunition in the 1968 gun control act has gone to a Senate-House conference committee.

The measure was sent to the committee by a 313-36 vote of the House yesterday. The bill, a tax measure, originated in the House and the Senate added a provision taking off the record keeping requirement when the bill came before that chamber.

The Senate amendment retains the requirement that purchasers of .22-caliber rimfire ammunition give their name, age and address to sellers.

Layton was accused of making two sales to undercover officers, one of marijuana and the other LSD.

The suspect is believed one of five persons who have survived the bridge leap.

Marin Firm Asks Bus Service For Tiburon

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A Marin City-based company, Marin Transit Systems Inc., yesterday applied to the California Public Utilities Commission for permission to run feeder buses between Mill Valley and the Tiburon ferry.

A PUC spokesman said the application would take at least one month to get approval — but only if there wre no protest filed. If a protest were filed, he said, then hearings would held, a process that would stretch the time needed to act on the application.

A protest, however, is unlikely, since the only competing public carrier on the route, Greyhound Line West, has agreed not to protest. Greyhound's general counsel, William L. McCracken, in a letter last Wednesday to the Marin City company, wrote that his firm "would not enter a protest."

But McCracken's letter declined the Marin County Transit District's request that Greyhound agree not to cut back its Tiburon-Mill Valley service after the Marin City company started operations. The transit district directors agreed in principle on Nov. 5 to subsidize the Marin City company with $10,000, but said the subsidy should be made only if Grehound agreed not to cut back its service.

McCracken told the Independent-Journal today that his firm was "still considering" its previous proposal to ask the PUC to allow Greyhound to abandon its Marin service.

As for Greyhound's response to competition posed by the Marin City company, McCracken noted that his letter of last week said that "when and where patronage declines, Greyhound will make appropriate changes in its service."

The Marin City company plans to operate three initial routes with two 27-passenger minibuses and one large bus. Two routes would be for commuters, one from downtown Mill Valley via Tiburon Boulevard, and one from Strawberry Drive, both to the ferry dock in Tiburon.

The third route would be a circular midday shopper shuttle, serving the Strawberry and Tiburon shopping areas and residential areas between them.

Fares for the shopper shuttle would be 25 cents a ride. Commuters would pay a single fare for both the bus and ferry to San Francisco.

The company asked for a PUC certificate allowing it to operate the feeder bus service whether the ferry service is operated by the Golden Gate Bridge District or by Harbor Tours.

Mill Valley Lions Growling At Performing Arts Group

Conflicts between the Mill Valley Lions Club and the Mill Valley center for the Performing Arts popped up again last night before the Mill Valley City Council.

In a letter to the council the club complained of damage inflicted by the center on the city's golf clubhouse, which both groups use. Similar complains have been voiced during the past two years and usually were resolved after some debate.

And, in a separate note, the Lions Club president asked if the performing arts group had not lost its resident status by giving benefit performances for non-Mill Valley groups.

In particular, President Leslie A. Mize noted that during the center's current production of "One Flew over the Cuckoo's Nest" benefit performances have been scheduled for the Americcan Civil Liberties Union, the Legal Defense Fund for the San Francisco State College student strike, the social workers union and the International Youth Exchange Committee.

In a handwritten note attached to the list, Mize asked, "Is the Center for the Performing Arts still a city sponsored group?"

The council asked for a staff report at its Dec. 1 meeting on questions raised in both letters.

Damage complaints listed by the Lions Club included plug outlets being covered up, hardboard nailed over some walls including windows and the fireplace, unsafe lighting fictures hanging from the ceiling and white paint splattered on the redwood paneling.

After the meeting, Sali Lieberman, a member of the performing arts group, said, "What disturbs me about this is that before each production we ask all organizations in town, including the Lions Club and the churches, if they would like to take advantage of benefit performances."

In a benefit performance, a group guarantees to buy out the house at a reduced price of $1.75 per person instead of the regular $2.50 price. The group usually charges more for the tickets it in turn sells to make money for its organization.

County Due To Conclude Logging Case

The County of Marin is expected to conclude its case Thursday in a court bid to stop logging on the 1,4000-acre Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said today that the county, which seeks a permanent injunction in Alameda County Superior Court to halt logging operations by an Oregon lumber firm, expects to call three more witnesses.

Robert H. Burgy, professor of water science and civil engineering at the University of California At Davis, took the stand before Judge Robert H. Kroninger yesterday. He is expected to be crossexamined today.

Maloney said Burgy testified about potential erosion dangers from the logging, noting that the area has the highest rainfall in Marin.

An injunction temporarily halting the logging was issued Oct. 3 by Kloninger after the case was transferred from Marin on the request of the owner of the ranch, Dr. Ethel Righetti, who lives in Alameda County.

Maloney said all testimony should be complete early next week.

Presidio Sewage Plant Rejected

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The Army has rejected a proposal by San Francisco to build a pilot sewage treatment plant at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Thaddeus R. Beal, undersecretary of the Army, wrote Mayor Joseph L. Alioto: "The Army wishes to avoid releasing Presidio property for nonmilitary use, particularly when alternative land areas are available."

Beal noted that adjacent city property at the foot of Lyons Street was a "suitable alternative."

San Francisco's board of supervisors, which had proposed the Presidio site after Marina residents objected to the Lyons Street site, objected yesterday to Beal's letter, but agreed to put th plant on Lyons Street.

The city has been under strong pressure to build the plant promptly by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board. The plant will test a new system to separate solids from raw sewage wastes the city now dumps into the bay whenever rain overwhelms its present treatment facilities.

The city has a system of combining its sewer and storm pipes, and if the test fails, faces a multimillion-dollar bill for building separate systems.

Youth Given Choice Of Fine, Jail On Marijuana

A 20-year-old Corte Madera youth who had earlier admitted having a bowl of marijuana in his room was given a choice yesterday of paying a $240 fine or spending 20 days in jail.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court also placed Gary Reid Steadman on two years' probation after listening to a heated exchange between his attorney and a probation officer. He gave him six months in which to pay the fine or serve the time.

The probation officer, Patricia Schuman, had recommended 30 days in jail for Steadman, saying that he was selctive in the laws he chooses to obey and had no remorse for the offense.

Steadman's attorney, Carl B. Shapiro, argued that Steadman was being punished "because he doesn't feel sorry that he broke a law he doesn't believe in." Shapiro also accused Miss Schuman of having gathered up gossip and printed it in a probation report.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales did not join in the discussion after learning that a member of his staff had already agreed to recommend a fine for the youth at the time he pleaded guilty.

Steadman was arrested on Jan. 10 when policemen investigating a neighborhood burglary glanced through the window of his room and saw him rolling a cigarette. Officers returned with a search warrant and found a bowl of marijuana.

Death Brings End To Burglary Case

A case against James Roger Kraft, 23, of San Francisco, was dismissed yesterday in Marin Superior Court when it was reported that he had died last month in San Francisco and that a coroner's inquest will be held to determine the cause of death.

Kraft, who was accused of burglarizing a Forest Knolls home on May 28, had a long arrest record including narcotics charges.

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 18, the 322nd day of 1969 with 43 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Venus, and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1883, the United States adopted standard time and set up the four time zones: Eastern, Central, Mountain and Pacific.

In 1903, Panama and the United States signed a treaty reaching agreement on the proposed Panama Canal.

In 1967, Britain devalued the pound 14.3 per cent, to $2.40.

In 1968, New York City school teachers agreed to end their third strike of the term.

A thought for the day: George Bernard Shaw said, "My method is to take the utmost trouble to find the right thing to say, and then to say it with the utmost levity."

Shelley Winters In Musical Next

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Shelley Winters has been signed to a starring role in a new Broadway musical about the Marx Brothers and their mother.

The show, "Minnie's Boys," is scheduled to open at the Imperial Theater on March 7, with Miss Winters playing the role of Minnie.

Another character in the production will be Al Sheen, the comedian of the Gallagher and Sheen team. He was Mrs. Marx's brother.

Sometimes Counting May Help Solve Problem Of Finessing

"You have to take the bitter with the sweet," South said after the play of today's hand. "If you make every game that you bid, you're not bidding enough of them. Only a crybaby would complain about going down one at a reasonable contract." It was excellent philsosphy, but it didn't have anything to do with the hand he had just played.

HEART ACTION

East overtook the queen of hearts with the king and continued with the nine of hearts. When that held, he led the ten of hearts, hoping that West could overruff declarer.

Our philosophic South ruffed the third heart with the king of spades, drew three rounds of trumps, cashed the king of diamonds and then led a diamond toward his own hand. East discarded a heart, and it became obvious that the diamond finesse was not going to work.

South had to give up a diamond and a club, going down one. This was what provoked him to discourse so eloquently about the bitter and the sweet.

POSTPONE DECISION

South should postpone the decision on the diamonds until all the evidence is in. After ruffing the third heart and drawing three rounds of trumps, South should knock out the ace of clubs. East returns a club (his best defense), and declarer ruffs dummy's last heart and then ruffs his last club in dummy.

By this time South knows that East started with six hearts, three trumps and three clubs. There is room for only one diamond in the East hand. South should cash the ace of diamonds to find out what that diamond is.

KEEP QUIET!

When East drops the ten of diamonds, South can lead the jack of diamonds for a finesse through West's queen. This would bring home the game and rubber and would give the opponents their chance to say philsosphic things about luck and the thrill of the game even when one loses. South could keep quiet all the way to the bank.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠—K Q J 6 5
♦—A J 6
♣—9 5 3

What do you say?

Answer: Pass.

The hand is not quite worth an opening bid. If the jack of diamonds were the queen, you would open with one spade. The ceiling won't fall on you if you open such hands, but the hand is just a shade too light for a normal, sound opening bid.

Key Insurance Firm Ordered To Liquidate

Liquidation of a Novato-based insurance company, Key Insurance Exchange, has been ordered by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court.

The company faces a minimum loss of $350,000 to $400,000 because of its "inability to generate sufficient volume to cover its losses," said California Deputy Atty. Gen. David E. Bunim.

The company primarily handled high-risk automobile insurance, generally sold month to month, and also operated in Orange, Los Angeles and San Diego counties.

The State Insurance Department, in a legal notice to creditors, policyholders and shareholders, advised all persons interested in the assets of the company to file their claims with the state insurance commissioner, Richards D. Barger, 107 South Broadway, Room 8022, Los Angeles.

Bunim noted that the company's policyholders, in theory, will be liable to make good on the company's loss, but that in practice this provision is difficult to enforce. The company was a reciprocal insurer, he said, or a company in which the policyholders insure one another.

Youth Is Held As Suspect In Theft Of Beer

A 20-year-old San Rafael youth was arrested Thursday on suspicion of stealing beer and contributing to the delinquency of his five teen-age companions.

Jesse Howard Chidester III of 9 Louise Street was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary after being arrested in the voltage room of Sil's Market, 175 Belvedere Street, at 10:15 p.m.

Arrested with him and booked into Juvenile Hall on suspicion of possessing alcohol were five youths ranging in age from 15 to 18.

Chidester was arrested, according to police, after being seen leaving the 7-11 store at 80 Medway Road with a six-pack of beer concealed under his coat.

He is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court today at 2 p.m.

South Bay Resident Denies LSD Charge

Edward Charles Pierce Jr., of Campbell, Santa Clara County, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of possessing LSD on July 10 in Marin.

A jury trial was scheduled for the week of March 16.

Warrants Issued For Two In Drug Cases

Bench warrants with bail set at $3,000 each were issued yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court for two men accused of narcotics violations who seem to have gone to Massachusetts.

Failing to appear in court were Paul Martin Washburn, 19, of Gate 6, near Sausalito, and Joseph George Ross, 26, of no known address.

The men were arrested Sept. 19 in Sausalito by a drug agent who said one of them threw evidence into Bay waters, forcing the agent to dive in after it.

Washburn is accused of possessing marijuana and possessing the weed for sale, and Ross is charged with possession of LSD and possession of the same drug for sale.

Yesterday Washburn's attorney said that the youth had written from Massachusetts saying that he had hepatitis and could not travel. A doctor's note confirming this was presented which had been written on a prescription blank and signed with the name of a physician not mentioned on the blank. Judge Wilson smilingly refused to accept this as proof of illness.

Ross, who had claimed that he had gone East to visit his mother who had had a heart attack, failed to answer a letter from his attorney, it was reported.

Wide Variety Of Items On Stolen Lists

A wide variety of items were stolen in the past week, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Two portable television sets valued at $280 were taken Wednesday from the phone equipment and engineering room at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, 99 Montecillo Road.

Wigs, beauty supplies and a roll of pennies valued at about $70 were stolen Friday night by a thief who smashed a window at the Acaia Beauty Salon, 740 A Street.

Two coats and tennis shoes valued at $144 were stolen some time last week from a car parked at Fourth and B streets and owned by Sally Driscoll Fulton of 101 Wolfgrade, Kentfield.

Fourteen white-walled tires and one truck tire, with a total value of $500, were stolen Thursday night from the Gulf Service Station at 1320 Second Street.

Patrol Cars Foil Cracking Of Safe

Two thieves were foiled Sunday night in their attempts to break open the safe at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church, Mill Valley police reported yesterday.

Police said witnesses reported seeing two persons leaving the church carrying a large object at 9:40 p.m. A short while later the safe was found unopened on the municipal golf course.

Police said if appeared that the thieves, who escaped, were attempting to open the safe when they were frightened away by patrol cars.

Color Film Set

"Dalmatia and Greece," a color travel film, will be presented Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in Olney Hall at the College of Marin. The program, co-sponsored by the Associated Marin Travel Agents and the college's community service office, will include line Greek dances and a question-and-answer period.

Special Tags For Snowmobiles Are Must Now

Snowmobile owners must attach a 5-by-8-inch metal identification plate on the rear of their vehicles this winter, the Department of Motor Vehicles announced yesterday.

Owners should bring papers showing they have bought or are buying a vehicle to the nearest Motor Vehicle office, fill out an application form and pay a $5 fee, the department said.

The plate will not require annual renewal, it was said, but if the vehicle should be sold, the new owner must re-register the vehicle.

Cocaine Possession Trial Is Scheduled

A jury trial was set yesterday in Marin Superior Court for the week of March 16 for Karen Elaine Gowel, 23, of Mill Valley, who is charged with possessing cocaine.

Miss Gowel is accused of having the drug when booked into Marin County Jail May 5 on traffic warrants.

Excavation Permit Taken Under Study

Can an owner of agricultural preserve land, who is getting a tax break on grounds that the property will remain agricultural, sell excavation rights on the land for commercial purposes?

County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill took the request under submission yesterday and announced he would make a decision in about 10 days.

Cordill said he also wants to see what effect the excavation of sand from the Lawson property will have on a well owned by the Coast Springs Water Co., which serves Dillon's Beach.

L. R. Vanoni, owner-manager of the water company, said he fears erosion will cause flooding of his well during winter rains. The excavation site is about a thousand feet from his well. Vanoni said hauling trucks parked along Dillon's Beach Road is a traffic hazard.

Herman Supply Co. of San Rafael is hauling sand from the Lawson ranch to be used for building and construction purposes.

Harold E. Gregg, president of the Marin Conservation League, asked for a careful study of the excavation to prevent ugly scarring and erosion and to make sure it is not detrimental to the neighborhood.

Court Date Set On Marijuana

Kenneth Stanley Ross II, 22, of Novato, is to appear in Marin Superior Court next Monday for arraignment on a charge of possessing marijuana Oct. 11.

He was bound over to superior count after a preliminary hearing in municipal court Friday.

Ross was arrested by Novato police who stopped him for not having a taillight on his truck. Officers said Ross had with him three hand-rolled cigarettes and loose vegetable matter, believed to be marijuana.

Mill Valley Council Approves Ridge Plans

The Shelter Ridge development of 461 apartments, townhouses, duplexes and single family homes, the largest single development in the city's history, was approved last night by the Mill Valley City Council.

Approval of the development's master plan came on a 4-1 vote after a lengthy presentation during which many questions were asked but few objections voiced.

Councilman Robert H. Andresen dissented on the vote, saying he did not like minor changes in density arrangements made in the final master plan presentation.

Designer Charles Warren Callister of Tiburon said final plans moved 35 units from the west slope of the ridge between Enchanted Knolls and Highway 101 onto the ridge itself to lessen the density and impact on Enchanted Knolls.

This move, he said, increased the ridge density from 6.5 to 7.3 units per acre but lessened the west slope density from 4 to 2.5 units per acre.

Undeveloped portions of the 73 acre ridge will be retained as open space with some park, landscaping and trail development, he said. Callister also noted that only 10 per cent of the property will be covered by structures.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

Ammunition Bill To Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bill eliminating record keeping provisions for rifle and shotgun ammunition in the 1968 gun control act has gone to a Senate-House conference committee.

The measure was sent to the committee by a 313-36 vote of the House yesterday. The bill, a tax measure, originated in the House and the Senate added a provision taking off the record keeping requirement when the bill came before that chamber.

The Senate amendment retains the requirement that purchasers of .22-caliber rimfire ammunition give their name, age and address to sellers.

Election Reset, Director Absent

The election is scheduled for the next meeting on Dec. 15 at the Terra Linda fire station.

Neal D. Harding has served as chairman for the past two years. The other directors are Robert Bennett, Hubert Cooper anf William Kane.

A Long Holiday At Sonoma State

Sonoma State College students will take a seven-week Christmas vacation this year to allow time for the relocation of the library.

Fall semester classes will end the week of Dec. 15 with the spring semester opening on Feb. 9.

During the interim, the library facilities will be moved from Stevenson Hall to the newly completed library. Faculty members have used a portion of the new library for office space since September.

After the move, the old library space will be converted to office space and classrooms.

Span Survivor Nabbed In Raid

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A young man who evaded death when he jumped off the Golden Gate Bridge last summer couldn't elude the narcotics squad yesterday.

James C. Layton, 20, who survived a leap off the span July 15, was among 18 persons arrested in a series of marijuana and LSD raids.

Layton was accused of making two sales to undercover officers, one of marijuana and the other LSD.

The suspect is believed one of five persons who have survived the bridge leap.

EMCEE — Ben Williams, KPIX newscaster, will be master of ceremonies Thursday at the third annual public dinner meeting of the Marin City Boys Club at the Sausalito Yacht Club at 7:30 p.m.

Mill Valley Lions Growling At Performing Arts Group

Conflicts between the Mill Valley Lions Club and the Mill Valley center for the Performing Arts popped up again last night before the Mill Valley City Council.

In a letter to the council the club complained of damage inflicted by the center on the city's golf clubhouse, which both groups use. Similar complains have been voiced during the past two years and usually were resolved after some debate.

And, in a separate note, the Lions Club president asked if the performing arts group had not lost its resident status by giving benefit performances for non-Mill Valley groups.

In particular, President Leslie A. Mize noted that during the center's current production of "One Flew over the Cuckoo's Nest" benefit performances have been scheduled for the Americcan Civil Liberties Union, the Legal Defense Fund for the San Francisco State College student strike, the social workers union and the International Youth Exchange Committee.

In a handwritten note attached to the list, Mize asked, "Is the Center for the Performing Arts still a city sponsored group?"

The council asked for a staff report at its Dec. 1 meeting on questions raised in both letters.

Damage complaints listed by the Lions Club included plug outlets being covered up, hardboard nailed over some walls including windows and the fireplace, unsafe lighting fictures hanging from the ceiling and white paint splattered on the redwood paneling.

After the meeting, Sali Lieberman, a member of the performing arts group, said, "What disturbs me about this is that before each production we ask all organizations in town, including the Lions Club and the churches, if they would like to take advantage of benefit performances."

In a benefit performance, a group guarantees to buy out the house at a reduced price of $1.75 per person instead of the regular $2.50 price. The group usually charges more for the tickets it in turn sells to make money for its organization.

Small Change Taken

Thieves pried open a soft drink machine and stole small change from a cash drawer at the Children's Bootery, 1000 Fifth Street, Thursday night, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Marin Firm Asks Bus Service For Tiburon

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A Marin City-based company, Marin Transit Systems Inc., yesterday applied to the California Public Utilities Commission for permission to run feeder buses between Mill Valley and the Tiburon ferry.

A PUC spokesman said the application would take at least one month to get approval — but only if there wre no protest filed. If a protest were filed, he said, then hearings would held, a process that would stretch the time needed to act on the application.

A protest, however, is unlikely, since the only competing public carrier on the route, Greyhound Line West, has agreed not to protest. Greyhound's general counsel, William L. McCracken, in a letter last Wednesday to the Marin City company, wrote that his firm "would not enter a protest."

But McCracken's letter declined the Marin County Transit District's request that Greyhound agree not to cut back its Tiburon-Mill Valley service after the Marin City company started operations. The transit district directors agreed in principle on Nov. 5 to subsidize the Marin City company with $10,000, but said the subsidy should be made only if Grehound agreed not to cut back its service.

McCracken told the Independent-Journal today that his firm was "still considering" its previous proposal to ask the PUC to allow Greyhound to abandon its Marin service.

As for Greyhound's response to competition posed by the Marin City company, McCracken noted that his letter of last week said that "when and where patronage declines, Greyhound will make appropriate changes in its service."

The Marin City company plans to operate three initial routes with two 27-passenger minibuses and one large bus. Two routes would be for commuters, one from downtown Mill Valley via Tiburon Boulevard, and one from Strawberry Drive, both to the ferry dock in Tiburon.

The third route would be a circular midday shopper shuttle, serving the Strawberry and Tiburon shopping areas and residential areas between them.

Fares for the shopper shuttle would be 25 cents a ride. Commuters would pay a single fare for both the bus and ferry to San Francisco.

The company asked for a PUC certificate allowing it to operate the feeder bus service whether the ferry service is operated by the Golden Gate Bridge District or by Harbor Tours.

County Due To Conclude Logging Case

The County of Marin is expected to conclude its case Thursday in a court bid to stop logging on the 1,4000-acre Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said today that the county, which seeks a permanent injunction in Alameda County Superior Court to halt logging operations by an Oregon lumber firm, expects to call three more witnesses.

Robert H. Burgy, professor of water science and civil engineering at the University of California At Davis, took the stand before Judge Robert H. Kroninger yesterday. He is expected to be crossexamined today.

Maloney said Burgy testified about potential erosion dangers from the logging, noting that the area has the highest rainfall in Marin.

An injunction temporarily halting the logging was issued Oct. 3 by Kloninger after the case was transferred from Marin on the request of the owner of the ranch, Dr. Ethel Righetti, who lives in Alameda County.

Maloney said all testimony should be complete early next week.

Presidio Sewage Plant Rejected

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The Army has rejected a proposal by San Francisco to build a pilot sewage treatment plant at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Thaddeus R. Beal, undersecretary of the Army, wrote Mayor Joseph L. Alioto: "The Army wishes to avoid releasing Presidio property for nonmilitary use, particularly when alternative land areas are available."

Beal noted that adjacent city property at the foot of Lyons Street was a "suitable alternative."

San Francisco's board of supervisors, which had proposed the Presidio site after Marina residents objected to the Lyons Street site, objected yesterday to Beal's letter, but agreed to put th plant on Lyons Street.

The city has been under strong pressure to build the plant promptly by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board. The plant will test a new system to separate solids from raw sewage wastes the city now dumps into the bay whenever rain overwhelms its present treatment facilities.

The city has a system of combining its sewer and storm pipes, and if the test fails, faces a multimillion-dollar bill for building separate systems.

Death Brings End To Burglary Case

A case against James Roger Kraft, 23, of San Francisco, was dismissed yesterday in Marin Superior Court when it was reported that he had died last month in San Francisco and that a coroner's inquest will be held to determine the cause of death.

Kraft, who was accused of burglarizing a Forest Knolls home on May 28, had a long arrest record including narcotics charges.

Youth Given Choice Of Fine, Jail On Marijuana

A 20-year-old Corte Madera youth who had earlier admitted having a bowl of marijuana in his room was given a choice yesterday of paying a $240 fine or spending 20 days in jail.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court also placed Gary Reid Steadman on two years' probation after listening to a heated exchange between his attorney and a probation officer. He gave him six months in which to pay the fine or serve the time.

The probation officer, Patricia Schuman, had recommended 30 days in jail for Steadman, saying that he was selctive in the laws he chooses to obey and had no remorse for the offense.

Steadman's attorney, Carl B. Shapiro, argued that Steadman was being punished "because he doesn't feel sorry that he broke a law he doesn't believe in." Shapiro also accused Miss Schuman of having gathered up gossip and printed it in a probation report.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales did not join in the discussion after learning that a member of his staff had already agreed to recommend a fine for the youth at the time he pleaded guilty.

Steadman was arrested on Jan. 10 when policemen investigating a neighborhood burglary glanced through the window of his room and saw him rolling a cigarette. Officers returned with a search warrant and found a bowl of marijuana.

Religious Worship In USSR

By GAY PAULEY

ZAGORSK, USSR (UPI) — God is not dead in the Soviet Union. Instead, he is very much alive in the numbers you see expressing their faiths despite the official government credo of atheism.

As a publication on religion the USSR from Novosti Press Agency's Publishing House states, "The (Communist) Party. . . does not conceal its views on religion and atheism and deems it necessary to struggle against religion, but the struggle is a matter of persuasion and not compulsion, waged only with ideological weapons. Extreme caution is used so as not to offend the religious convictions and feelings of the believers.

". . . To claim that atheists are devoid of moral convictions . . . is to slander the Soviet people and the millions of people the world over who no longer believe in God."

SO MUCH FOR the government stand.

But how much practice is there of religious beliefs, in spite of the party's discouragement? The U.S. State Department estimates that between 50 and 70 million Soviets, in a country of some 239 million, "adhere to some religious faith: most are Russian Orthodox Christians."

Certainly, to this observer on a second tour in as many years to the U.S.S.R., practice of Christianity and of Islam, when you move into Central Asia, are quite open — more obvious this year than last year at about the same time.

Last year, guided tours for a group of U.S. women on an unofficial and informal "woman to woman" trip tended to skirt the religious centers. This trip, we have been through cathedrals and mosques, many of them fully restored in recent years, others under restoration. Last year, the tendency was to call the cathedrals "museums." This year, the Museum of Atheism in Leningrad was back to being the Cathedral of Kazan, but it still housed thousands of relics of antichurch artifacts.

ONE TOUR OF this time featured an almost day-long visit to Zagorsk, 46 miles from Moscow, and locale of the Trinity-Saint Sergius Monastery, a "live" Russian Orthodox religious center training priests for both urban and rural assignments.

The monastery dates to 1340 when St. Sergius started it with a wooden church on a hill. Today, facing on its courtyards are five churches or cathedrals built through the centuries and filled with priceless icons and other religious objects.

Originally, the town where the monastery is located was named Serghiev, after St. Sergius, but in 1919 it was renamed to honor V. M. Zagorsk, a Communist Party hero. The whole center underwent restoration during the World War II years and after the war reopened to worshipers. Today, you see the elderly worshipers at mass, kissing the icons, watching the tourists who also pause to see the tomb in one churchyard of Boris Gudonov.

Our day included an informal two-hour visit with Father Simon, the "patriarch" of the monastery, with its 40 teachers, its 250 resident students, its 450 studying by correspondence. He is a genial, bearded, kindly man wearing the black vestments of the Orthodox Christian Church.

Degrees as high as doctor of theology are offered, he said, and courses include history of the Bible, of the Russian Church, and of Western European churches including the Roman Catholic.

IN ZAGORSK in the USSR worshipers visit Trinity-Saint Sergius Monastery stopping to feed the pigeons on a wind-swept Russian winter day. Numbers of persons in the Soviet Union express their faiths despite the official government credo of atheism. (UPI Telephoto)

Episcopal Minister, Wife Look Back On Their 50 Years

The Rev. and Mrs. William T. Travis, who were married 50 years ago Nov. 8, really celebrated last May when they took a trip to England, where Reverend Travis was born and reared.

They have lived in Terra Linda for 12 years — since they came here to retire after 30 years of living in Chicago, where Reverend Travis was rector of Old Grace Church and Chaplain of St. Luke's Hospital.

He will be retiring for the second time in January after being Chaplain of The Episcopal Old Ladies Home in San Francisco for seven years.

"It didn't take me long to get tired of retirement the first time," he said.

He was ordained into the Episcopal ministry 50 years ago at Seabury Theological Seminary in St. Joseph, Mo., where he met Virginia Duncan while she was student nurse at Bishop Clarkson Memorial Hospital. Reverend Travis had been sent to the hospital for six months training and was "a sort of roustabout orderly," he said of the experience which "came in handy later when I was chaplain of a large hospital." He said hospital training is now required of seminary students.

The May trip to England was Reverend Travis's 11th.

"I have to come back to make it even," he said about his Atlantic crossings. He made the first at 18 when he came "to learn and practice ranching." His father was in the shipbuilding business and wouldn't let him go to sea but did permit him to come to the western United States to become a rancher.

After about two years of "knocking about with the cows and horses I could see it wasn't getting me anywhere," he said. He tried to get into a school of architecture but found the universities wouldn't accept his credits from the School of Arts and Architecture in England.

He then became a salesman for a building materials company before entering the seminary.

The garden of the Travis home, which shows hundreds of man hours of work by both the couple is constantly being improved and rearranged. Reverend Travis and daughter Margaret Anne recently took out a hedge to make room for a brick patio and elaborate rock garden.

Mrs. Travis does crewel work often on designs created by an artist friend and Reverend Travis carves wooden crosses some of which are sold at the shop of Grace Cathederal in San Francisco. He has studied painting in England, Chicago, Boston and New York and has exhibited oils in Carmel and Chicago art galleries. Having refinished nearly every piece of furniture in their home Reverend Travis also remade a pair of antique end tables adding nearly 50 pieces of wood marquetry to the top and doors.

Mrs. Travis who was active in volunteer work in Chicago said the duties of the church rector's wife were greater in a small church than a large one.

"A large church is more of an institution," she said.

After retirement Reverend Travis plans to take up acrylic painting, wants to exhibit more and may take another trip to England.

They have another daughter, Mrs. Harold P. Ford of Terra Linda, who has three children.

Women Are Often To Blame For Criminal Attacks Made On Them

Women themselves are often to blame for criminal attacks and robbery of their persons.

So says Gordon Gordon, one-time Federal Bureau of Investigation agent and now a noted author in collaboration with his wife, Mildred, under the name of The Gordons. The two have written 15 novels that have sold 12 million copies in 17 countries.

"Many girls assume it will never happen to them, so they don't stop to think about what they are doing," Gordon says. "They leave keys in the ignition, walk dark streets alone at night, and go marketing in bikinis."

In writing their latest novel, "Night Before The Wedding", the Gordons did research on cases in which women could have escaped assault by taking a few simple precautions. In their book the heroine, a legal secertary, walks to her car at midnight at the far end of a dark parking lot and slides behind the wheel. A man rises up from the back seat and pulls a paper sack over her head.

GORDON GORDON

"IN THE FIRST place," Gordon says, "she shouldn't have parked her car in that spot, and in the second, she should have automatically checked the back seat. This should be a habit that you don't even think about, like putting on your shoes."

From his extensive FBI experience and his research for "Night Before The Wedding", Gordon set forth some precautions women should take:

Always keep your car doors locked while driving day or night, even in the summer when the windows are down. The sex-crazed fellow who waits at a stop signal, likes your looks, and tries to slide in beside you will be delayed a few seconds if he has to unlock the door. By that time the sign may change, or you can call out to someone before he has a chance to push a gun into your side.

IF YOU HAVE to wait in a car for a friend, take the key out of the ignition. If a criminal does get into the car beside you, it will take a few seconds to put the key back in.

If that happens, start the car,

Key Insurance Firm Ordered To Liquidate

Liquidation of a Novato-based insurance company, Key Insurance Exchange, has been ordered by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court.

The company faces a minimum loss of $350,000 to $400,000 because of its "inability to generate sufficient volume to cover its losses," said California Deputy Atty. Gen. David E. Bunim.

The company primarily handled high-risk automobile insurance, generally sold month to month, and also operated in Orange, Los Angeles and San Diego counties.

The State Insurance Department, in a legal notice to creditors, policyholders and shareholders, advised all persons interested in the assets of the company to file their claims with the state insurance commissioner, Richards D. Barger, 107 South Broadway, Room 8022, Los Angeles.

Bunim noted that the company's policyholders, in theory, will be liable to make good on the company's loss, but that in practice this provision is difficult to enforce. The company was a reciprocal insurer, he said, or a company in which the policyholders insure one another.

Youth Is Held As Suspect In Theft Of Beer

A 20-year-old San Rafael youth was arrested Thursday on suspicion of stealing beer and contributing to the delinquency of his five teen-age companions.

Jesse Howard Chidester III of 9 Louise Street was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary after being arrested in the voltage room of Sil's Market, 175 Belvedere Street, at 10:15 p.m.

Arrested with him and booked into Juvenile Hall on suspicion of possessing alcohol were five youths ranging in age from 15 to 18.

Chidester was arrested, according to police, after being seen leaving the 7-11 store at 80 Medway Road with a six-pack of beer concealed under his coat.

He is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court today at 2 p.m.

South Bay Resident Denies LSD Charge

Edward Charles Pierce Jr., of Campbell, Santa Clara County, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of possessing LSD on July 10 in Marin.

A jury trial was scheduled for the week of March 16.

Warrants Issued For Two In Drug Cases

Bench warrants with bail set at $3,000 each were issued yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court for two men accused of narcotics violations who seem to have gone to Massachusetts.

Failing to appear in court were Paul Martin Washburn, 19, of Gate 6, near Sausalito, and Joseph George Ross, 26, of no known address.

The men were arrested Sept. 19 in Sausalito by a drug agent who said one of them threw evidence into Bay waters, forcing the agent to dive in after it.

Washburn is accused of possessing marijuana and possessing the weed for sale, and Ross is charged with possession of LSD and possession of the same drug for sale.

Yesterday Washburn's attorney said that the youth had written from Massachusetts saying that he had hepatitis and could not travel. A doctor's note confirming this was presented which had been written on a prescription blank and signed with the name of a physician not mentioned on the blank. Judge Wilson smilingly refused to accept this as proof of illness.

Ross, who had claimed that he had gone East to visit his mother who had had a heart attack, failed to answer a letter from his attorney, it was reported.

Wide Variety Of Items On Stolen Lists

A wide variety of items were stolen in the past week, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Two portable television sets valued at $280 were taken Wednesday from the phone equipment and engineering room at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, 99 Montecillo Road.

Wigs, beauty supplies and a roll of pennies valued at about $70 were stolen Friday night by a thief who smashed a window at the Acaia Beauty Salon, 740 A Street.

Two coats and tennis shoes valued at $144 were stolen some time last week from a car parked at Fourth and B streets and owned by Sally Driscoll Fulton of 101 Wolfgrade, Kentfield.

Fourteen white-walled tires and one truck tire, with a total value of $500, were stolen Thursday night from the Gulf Service Station at 1320 Second Street.

Patrol Cars Foil Cracking Of Safe

Two thieves were foiled Sunday night in their attempts to break open the safe at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church, Mill Valley police reported yesterday.

Police said witnesses reported seeing two persons leaving the church carrying a large object at 9:40 p.m. A short while later the safe was found unopened on the municipal golf course.

Police said if appeared that the thieves, who escaped, were attempting to open the safe when they were frightened away by patrol cars.

Color Film Set

"Dalmatia and Greece," a color travel film, will be presented Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in Olney Hall at the College of Marin. The program, co-sponsored by the Associated Marin Travel Agents and the college's community service office, will include line Greek dances and a question-and-answer period.

Special Tags For Snowmobiles Are Must Now

Snowmobile owners must attach a 5-by-8-inch metal identification plate on the rear of their vehicles this winter, the Department of Motor Vehicles announced yesterday.

Owners should bring papers showing they have bought or are buying a vehicle to the nearest Motor Vehicle office, fill out an application form and pay a $5 fee, the department said.

The plate will not require annual renewal, it was said, but if the vehicle should be sold, the new owner must re-register the vehicle.

Cocaine Possession Trial Is Scheduled

A jury trial was set yesterday in Marin Superior Court for the week of March 16 for Karen Elaine Gowel, 23, of Mill Valley, who is charged with possessing cocaine.

Miss Gowel is accused of having the drug when booked into Marin County Jail May 5 on traffic warrants.

Excavation Permit Taken Under Study

Can an owner of agricultural preserve land, who is getting a tax break on grounds that the property will remain agricultural, sell excavation rights on the land for commercial purposes?

County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill took the request under submission yesterday and announced he would make a decision in about 10 days.

Cordill said he also wants to see what effect the excavation of sand from the Lawson property will have on a well owned by the Coast Springs Water Co., which serves Dillon's Beach.

L. R. Vanoni, owner-manager of the water company, said he fears erosion will cause flooding of his well during winter rains. The excavation site is about a thousand feet from his well. Vanoni said hauling trucks parked along Dillon's Beach Road is a traffic hazard.

Herman Supply Co. of San Rafael is hauling sand from the Lawson ranch to be used for building and construction purposes.

Harold E. Gregg, president of the Marin Conservation League, asked for a careful study of the excavation to prevent ugly scarring and erosion and to make sure it is not detrimental to the neighborhood.

Court Date Set On Marijuana

Kenneth Stanley Ross II, 22, of Novato, is to appear in Marin Superior Court next Monday for arraignment on a charge of possessing marijuana Oct. 11.

He was bound over to superior count after a preliminary hearing in municipal court Friday.

Ross was arrested by Novato police who stopped him for not having a taillight on his truck. Officers said Ross had with him three hand-rolled cigarettes and loose vegetable matter, believed to be marijuana.

Ida Geary, author of "Marin Trails" and instructor in creative writing in San Francisco, will discuss "How to Write a Book" Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at the Larkspur Library. The program is sponsored by the Friends of the Larkspur Library.

"Three Centuries of Italy" are yours in Each piece of the new Cum Laude furniture has its raison d'etre. It is as if each piece were acquired separately. Carefully finished with a clarity showing the character of the veneers, each is hand-distressed to simulate the patina of age, the character of heirloom furniture. Picture, if you will, a family palazzo, handsomely furnished with several generations' accumulations of furniture illustrating "Three Centuries of Italy" in furniture.

The Cum Laude Dining Area: The first eye catching aspect of the large 73-inch china is the architecture. Note the four bold vertical pilasters, the top to floor overall cabinetry. The popular over 67 inch table extends to 103 inches with two 18 inch leaves. Louis XVI style side and arm chairs and the eleganted canted front credenza complete the picture.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Love Is Trust When Your'e Waiting For The Boy Away At College

DEAR HELEN:

When I read "What is a Service Girl?" I began to think of what it's like for a girl to wait for a guy who is away at college. For instance:

Here he is, that guy of your every dream. But you know, of course, that if you are to have any kind of future, he must get his all-important college degree. So off he goes.

You either sit home on weekends or go out with your family or girl friends — poor substitutes for that special guy.

You get a letter two or three times a week, if you're lucky — for he's got to study extra hard to keep those grades up. But even those few letters are enough to assure you he loves you.

Then some of your so-called friends tell you they hear he is going out on you. Seems they have a friend who's a friend of a friend of the roommate who's a friend of your guy's friend, so they're sure it's true. If you are wise, you won't believe a word — after all, isn't love trust?

Sometimes you wonder how he's staying in line with all the booze parties, drugs and dames around but then you realize it's that prayer you say every day.

Finally, he's got a chance to come home for a weekend. Your eyes are filled with tears of happiness — then the sadness because those two days have flown so fast.

Then it starts all over: the tears, the worries, the waiting. But you hang on to the dream of a happy life together in a few long-short years. You know what, Helen? Every yearning hour will be worth it, after a while. — WAITING IN ILLINOIS

DEAR HELEN:

My school called a sit-in. One of the main objectives was a change in dress code. The girls want to wear pants, and the boys jeans. We also wanted to wear sandals without socks.

My question is, how many boys really like to see girls come to school in pants? I know a lot of girls don't like guys in jeans. Could you ask kids to write in expressing their opinions on what kind of dress is right for high school wear? — MONA

DEAR MONA:

Consider them asked. — H.

P.S. Your school might consider this sensible dress code announced by our daughter's high school in Sacramento, Calif.: "In the belief that high school students are able to make mature judgments, decision about dress will be the student's personal responsibility. The only dress that will not be accepted will be that which in any way interferes either in whole or in part with the educational program or other activities of the school."

DEAR HELEN:

We have noticed signs on our highways that say "Drive Slow" or "Drive Careful." You'd think people on the state highway commission would know better than that.

We in freshman English think they should bring back the "ly" in such signs. They make the State of Indiana look somewhat illiterate. Right? — ASSOCIATION FOR YOUTH GRAMMAR SUPPORT

DEAR A.F.Y.G.S.:

Maybe they just ran out of room on the signs. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Conference Set Saturday On Jobs For Women Scientists

Women scientists, there are jobs waiting at medical schools, electronics, food and chemical industries, and in clinical and research laboratories around the Bay Area, on the Peninsula and across the country.

Iota Sigma Pi, national honorary chemical society for women, and the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor have searched out 297 jobs for women. The jobs vary from investigation of radionuclide uptake by plants to synthesis of resins. Pay ranges from $450 a month for literature analyst to $1,833 a month for a PhD in adhesive chemistry.

Dr. Naomi Goldsmith, president of the Bay Area Chapter of Iota Sigma Pi, and Mrs. Madeline Mixer, regional director of the Labor Department's Women's Bureau, invite women interested in science careers, bachelors and graduates in chemistry, biology, mathematics, physics, statistics, and engineering, to attend a day-long symposium and job mart. It is slated for Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the Alumni House on the University of California campus at Berkeley.

Mrs. Elizabeth Koontz, national director of the Women's Bureau, will be the featured speaker in a morning session devoted to the status of women scientists.

Other speakers include Dr. Martha S. White, on the staff of Adult Education, Langley Porter Clinic, James Netto, job market analyst for the California State Department of Human Resources Development; and Thomas A. O'Brien, head of technical placement for the University of California.

An afternoon panel of top scientists will exchange views on problems of curriculum for training and retraining in scientific fields. Speakers include Dr. Doris H. Calloway, professor of nutritional sciences, University of California; Dr. Edwin M. Kinderman, Stanford Research Institute; Dr. Elizabeth Scott, chairman, department of statistics, U.C.; Dr. Allen Nixon, Shell Development Co., and Dr. J. N. Ospenson, Chevron Chemical Co.

Women science graduates and industry experts will join these speakers to suggest solutions for the problems of the "science dropout" — the woman who has been out of scientific pursuits for 10 or 15 years as a mother of two or three children, and now wants to get back to the field she trained for.

Housing accommodations and fee scholarships are available for students who need them. Registration chairman is Mrs. Terry Kennedy, 1342 Everett St., El Cerrito.

Caroline Talbott Is Bride In Belvedere

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Belvedere was the setting Sunday afternoon for the marriage of Caroline Talbott and Terry L. Parsley of Honolulu.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Talbott of Tiburon, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Parsley of Windsor.

Cathy Chapman of Greenbrae was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Peggy Parsley, the bridegroom's sister, and Heidi Stewart of Tiburon.

Larry Hughes of San Rafael was best man, and Clancy O'Shaughnessy and Jack Schotte, both of San Rafael, ushered.

Caroline was graduated from Redwood High School and College of Marin and attended San Francisco State College. Prior to her marriage she was employed by Stan's for Sports in San Rafael. Peter Talbot of Loyalton is her beother.

The bridegroom was graduated from Healdsburg High School and attended College of San Mateo. He is also the brother of Mrs. Doug Rorick and Kim Parsley, both of Windsor and Kenneth Decailet of Willits. Terry is employed by United Air Lines in Honolulu.

Following a wedding trip to Southern California and several islands in Hawaii the couple will live in Honolulu.

CRIMINAL ATTACKS

then kill the engine by giving it too much gas. Act excited but try to keep your head. Size up the fellow. Maybe you can talk him out or robbing or assaulting you. Stall for time. Do everything wrong. Remember, though, that as long as he holds a gun on you, he may squeeze the trigger any time. So in the beginning follow his orders in the hope you will get a break. Don't say anything that will anger him.

Always take the same precautions in the daytime that you do at night. People forget that many crimes of this nature are committed in daylight hours.

Never assume you are safe in a crowd. Many crimes take place on department store parking lots with scores of people hurrying by.

Never assume you are safe in a "good" neighborhood. There are no "good" neighborhoods. Just as many sex crimes, and crimes against the person, are committed per person in suburbia as in a ghetto. Crime knows no economic level.

Never carry much money in your purse. If someone grabs it, let him have it. Otherwise you may be beaten or killed. If you must carry a considerable sum, keep it in a dress pocket or somewhere on your person.

DON'T RISK your life to save a dollar. If you live on a dark street, take a taxi home — and scream to the authorities to get the street lighted. It's the least a city can do for your tax dollars in this crime-ridden era.

Don't carry a gun, or keep one in the house unless you know guns and have used them for years. You may shoot yourself or an innocent person, in an excited moment. What's more, a clever criminal can easily turn that gun on you.

Rely strongly on the telephone. If you live alone and your home is expecially vulnerable, install a second phone readily accessible that no one knows about, not even your friends. Hide it under your bed or inside a nightstand cabinet.

Don't let strangers pick you up. Women who warn children about doing so often forget this same admonition. That nice guy you met at the country club or had a drink with at a bar may not be so nice alone with you.

Remember that if you wear a bikini to shop in at the market, or a very abbreviated miniskirt, you invite trouble. You are a neon sign to a man looking for an easy pick up. He may not take "no" for an answer.

Stocking-Fletcher Vows Said

Linda-Lu Diane Fletcher exchanged marriage vows with Patrick Clayton Stocking in a Nov. 8 ceremony at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fletcher of San Rafael, the bride chose the bridegroom's sister-in-law, Mrs. James Stocking of Tacoma, Wash., as her only attendant.

James Stocking served as his brother's best man. The ushers were William Meyer of Kentfield and Ben Selfridge of Ross.

The bride is a graduate of San Rafael High School and is employed with Pacific Telephone Co. in San Rafael. Mrs. Richard Schmidt of San Rafael is her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Stocking of Kentfield are Patrick's parents and Mrs. Clayton Stocking of Santa Cruz is his grandmother. He was graduated from Redwood High School and attended the College of Marin and is employed with Enterprize Commercial Co. in Emeryville.

Model Schools To Be Studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Thirty-four secondary schools in 20 states, the District of Columbia, Canada and Germany have been selected to participate in a five-year project which may help provide the pattern for 21st-century education.

Although approaches will vary from school to school, the central idea of the project is to gather—for the first time—all major and practical new ideas in secondary school education under a single roof—or 34 roofs in this case. The goal is comprehensive change. The model schools project is supported by a grant from the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis.

Religious Worship In USSR

By GAY PAULEY

ZAGORSK, USSR (UPI) — God is not dead in the Soviet Union. Instead, he is very much alive in the numbers you see expressing their faiths despite the official government credo of atheism.

As a publication on religion the USSR from Novosti Press Agency's Publishing House states, "The (Communist) Party. . . does not conceal its views on religion and atheism and deems it necessary to struggle against religion, but the struggle is a matter of persuasion and not compulsion, waged only with ideological weapons. Extreme caution is used so as not to offend the religious convictions and feelings of the believers.

". . . To claim that atheists are devoid of moral convictions . . . is to slander the Soviet people and the millions of people the world over who no longer believe in God."

SO MUCH FOR the government stand.

But how much practice is there of religious beliefs, in spite of the party's discouragement? The U.S. State Department estimates that between 50 and 70 million Soviets, in a country of some 239 million, "adhere to some religious faith; most are Russian Orthodox Christians."

Certainly, to this observer on a second tour in as many years to the U.S.S.R., practice of Christianity and of Islam, when you move into Central Asia, are quite open — more obvious this year than last year at about the same time.

Last year, guided tours for a group of U.S. women on an unofficial and informal "woman to woman" trip tended to skirt the religious centers. This trip, we have been through cathedrals and mosques, many of them fully restored in recent years, others under restoration. Last year, the tendency was to call the cathedrals "museums." This year, the Museum of Atheism in Leningrad was back to being the Cathedral of Kazan, but it still housed thousands of relics of antichurch artifacts.

ONE TOUR OF this time featured an almost day-long visit to Zagorsk, 46 miles from Moscow, and locale of the Trinity-Saint Sergius Monastery, a "live" Russian Orthodox religious center training priests for both urban and rural assignments.

The monastery dates to 1340 when St. Sergius started it with a wooden church on a hill. Today, facing on its courtyards are five churches or cathedrals built through the centuries and filled with priceless icons and other religious objects.

Originally, the town where the monastery is located was named Serghiev, after St. Sergius, but in 1919 it was renamed to honor V. M. Zagorsk, a Communist Party hero. The whole center underwent restoration during the World War II years and after the war reopened to worshipers. Today, you see the elderly worshipers at mass, kissing the icons, watching the tourists who also pause to see the tomb in one churchyard of Boris Gudonov.

Our day included an informal two-hour visit with Father Simon, the "patriarch" of the monastery, with its 40 teachers, its 250 resident students, its 450 studying by correspondence. He is a genial, bearded, kindly man wearing the black vestments of the Orthodox Christian Church.

Degrees as high as doctor of theology are offered, he said, and courses include history of the Bible, of the Russian Church, and of Western European churches including the Roman Catholic.

IN ZAGORSK in the USSR worshipers visit Trinity-Saint Sergius Monastery stopping to feed the pigeons on a wind-swept Russian winter day. Numbers of persons in the Soviet Union express their faiths despite the official government credo of atheism. (UPI Telephoto)

The Rev. and Mrs. William T. Travis, who were married 50 years ago Nov. 8, really celebrated last May when they took a trip to England, where Reverend Travis was born and reared.

They have lived in Terra Linda for 12 years — since they came here to retire after 30 years of living in Chicago, where Reverend Travis was rector of Old Grace Church and Chaplain of St. Luke's Hospital.

He will be retiring for the second time in January after being Chaplain of The Episcopal Old Ladies Home in San Francisco for seven years.

"It didn't take me long to get tired of retirement the first time," he said.

He was ordained into the Episcopal ministry 50 years ago at Seabury Theological Seminary in St. Joseph, Mo., where he met Virginia Duncan while she was student nurse at Bishop Clarkson Memorial Hospital. Reverend Travis had been sent to the hospital for six months training and was "a sort of roustabout orderly," he said of the experience which "came in handy later when I was chaplain of a large hospital." He said hospital training is now required of seminary students.

The May trip to England was Reverend Travis's 11th.

"I have to come back to make it even," he said about his Atlantic crossings. He made the first at 18 when he came "to learn and practice ranching." His father was in the shipbuilding business and wouldn't let him go to sea but did permit him to come to the western United States to become a rancher.

After about two years of "knocking about with the cows and horses I could see it wasn't getting me anywhere," he said. He tried to get into a school of architecture but found the universities wouldn't accept his credits from the School of Arts and Architecture in England.

He then became a salesman for a building materials company before entering the seminary.

The garden of the Travis home, which shows hundreds of man hours of work by both the couple is constantly being improved and rearranged. Reverend Travis and daughter Margaret Anne recently took out a hedge to make room for a brick patio and elaborate rock garden.

Mrs. Travis does crewel work often on designs created by an artist friend and Reverend Travis carves wooden crosses some of which are sold at the shop of Grace Cathederal in San Francisco. He has studied painting in England, Chicago, Boston and New York and has exhibited oils in Carmel and Chicago art galleries. Having refinished nearly every piece of furniture in their home Reverend Travis also remade a pair of antique end tables adding nearly 50 pieces of wood marquetry to the top and doors.

Mrs. Travis who was active in volunteer work in Chicago said the duties of the church rector's wife were greater in a small church than a large one.

"A large church is more of an institution," she said.

After retirement Reverend Travis plans to take up acrylic painting, wants to exhibit more and may take another trip to England.

They have another daughter, Mrs. Harold P. Ford of Terra Linda, who has three children.

Women Are Often To Blame For Criminal Attacks Made On Them

Women themselves are often to blame for criminal attacks and robbery of their persons.

So says Gordon Gordon, one-time Federal Bureau of Investigation agent and now a noted author in collaboration with his wife, Mildred, under the name of The Gordons. The two have written 15 novels that have sold 12 million copies in 17 countries.

"Many girls assume it will never happen to them, so they don't stop to think about what they are doing," Gordon says. "They leave keys in the ignition, walk dark streets alone at night, and go marketing in bikinis."

GORDON GORDON

In writing their latest novel, "Night Before The Wedding", the Gordons did research on cases in which women could have escaped assault by taking a few simple precautions. In their book the heroine, a legal secertary, walks to her car at midnight at the far end of a dark parking lot and slides behind the wheel. A man rises up from the back seat and pulls a paper sack over her head.

"IN THE FIRST place," Gordon says, "she shouldn't have parked her car in that spot, and in the second, she should have automatically checked the back seat. This should be a habit that you don't even think about, like putting on your shoes."

From his extensive FBI experience and his research for "Night Before The Wedding", Gordon set forth some precautions women should take:

Always keep your car doors locked while driving day or night, even in the summer when the windows are down. The sex-crazed fellow who waits at a stop signal, likes your looks, and tries to slide in beside you will be delayed a few seconds if he has to unlock the door. By that time the sign may change, or you can call out to someone before he has a chance to push a gun into your side.

IF YOU HAVE to wait in a car for a friend, take the key out of the ignition. If a crimina does get into the car beside you it will take a few seconds to pu the key back in.

If that happens, start the car

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Love Is Trust When Your'e Waiting For The Boy Away At College

DEAR HELEN:

When I read "What is a Service Girl?" I began to think of what it's like for a girl to wait for a guy who is away at college. For instance:

Here he is, that guy of your every dream. But you know, of course, that if you are to have any kind of future, he must get his all-important college degree. So off he goes.

You either sit home on weekends or go out with your family or girl friends — poor substitutes for that special guy.

You get a letter two or three times a week, if you're lucky — for he's got to study extra hard to keep those grades up. But even those few letters are enough to assure you he loves you.

Then some of your so-called friends tell you they hear he is going out on you. Seems they have a friend who's a friend of a friend of the roommate who's a friend of your guy's friend, so they're sure it's true. If you are wise, you won't believe a word — after all, isn't love trust?

Sometimes you wonder how he's staying in line with all the booze parties, drugs and dames around but then you realize it's that prayer you say every day.

Finally, he's got a chance to come home for a weekend. Your eyes are filled with tears of happiness — then the sadness because those two days have flown so fast.

Then it starts all over: the tears, the worries, the waiting. But you hang on to the dream of a happy life together in a few long-short years. You know what, Helen? Every yearning hour will be worth it, after a while. — WAITING IN ILLINOIS

DEAR HELEN:

My school called a sit-in. One of the main objectives was a change in dress code. The girls want to wear pants, and the boys jeans. We also wanted to wear sandals without socks.

My question is, how many boys really like to see girls come to school in pants? I know a lot of girls don't like guys in jeans. Could you ask kids to write in expressing their opinions on what kind of dress is right for high school wear? — MONA

DEAR MONA:

Consider them asked. — H.

P.S. Your school might consider this sensible dress code announced by our daughter's high school in Sacramento, Calif.: "In the belief that high school students are able to make mature judgments, decision about dress will be the student's personal responsibility. The only dress that will not be accepted will be that which in any way interferes either in whole or in part with the educational program or other activities of the school."

DEAR HELEN:

We have noticed signs on our highways that say "Drive Slow" or "Drive Careful." You'd think people on the state highway commission would know better than that.

We in freshman English think they should bring back the "ly" in such signs. They make the State of Indiana look somewhat illiterate. Right? — ASSOCIATION FOR YOUTH GRAMMAR SUPPORT

DEAR A.F.Y.G.S.:

Maybe they just ran out of room on the signs. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Conference Set Saturday On Jobs For Women Scientists

Women scientists, there are jobs waiting at medical schools, electronics, food and chemical industries, and in clinical and research laboratories around the Bay Area, on the Peninsula and across the country.

Iota Sigma Pi, national honorary chemical society for women, and the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor have searched out 297 jobs for women. The jobs vary from investigation of radionuclide uptake by plants to synthesis of resins. Pay ranges from $450 a month for literature analyst to $1,833 a month for a PhD in adhesive chemistry.

Dr. Naomi Goldsmith, president of the Bay Area Chapter of Iota Sigma Pi, and Mrs. Madeline Mixer, regional director of the Labor Department's Women's Bureau, invite women interested in science careers, bachelors and graduates in chemistry, biology, mathematics, physics, statistics, and engineering, to attend a day-long symposium and job mart. It is slated for Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the Alumni House on the University of California campus at Berkeley.

Mrs. Elizabeth Koontz, national director of the Women's Bureau, will be the featured speaker in a morning session devoted to the status of women scientists.

Other speakers include Dr. Martha S. White, on the staff of Adult Education, Langley Porter Clinic, James Netto, job market analyst for the California State Department of Human Resources Development; and Thomas A. O'Brien, head of technical placement for the University of California.

An afternoon panel of top scientists will exchange views on problems of curriculum for training and retraining in scientific fields. Speakers include Dr. Doris H. Calloway, professor of nutritional sciences, University of California; Dr. Edwin M. Kinderman, Stanford Research Institute; Dr. Elizabeth Scott, chairman, department of statistics, U.C.; Dr. Allen Nixon, Shell Development Co., and Dr. J. N. Ospenson, Chevron Chemical Co.

Women science graduates and industry experts will join these speakers to suggest solutions for the problems of the "science dropout" — the woman who has been out of scientific pursuits for 10 or 15 years as a mother of two or three children, and now wants to get back to the field she trained for.

Housing accommodations and fee scholarships are available for students who need them. Registration chairman is Mrs. Terry Kennedy, 1342 Everett St., El Cerrito.

Caroline Talbott Is Bride In Belvedere

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Belvedere was the setting Sunday afternoon for the marriage of Caroline Talbott and Terry L. Parsley of Honolulu.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Talbott of Tiburon, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Parsley of Windsor.

Cathy Chapman of Greenbrae was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Peggy Parsley, the bridegroom's sister, and Heidi Stewart of Tiburon.

Larry Hughes of San Rafael was best man, and Clancy O'Shaughnessy and Jack Schotte, both of San Rafael, ushered.

Caroline was graduated from Redwood High School and College of Marin and attended San Francisco State College. Prior to her marriage she was employed by Stan's for Sports in San Rafael. Peter Talbot of Loyalton is her beother.

The bridegroom was graduated from Healdsburg High School and attended College of San Mateo. He is also the brother of Mrs. Doug Rorick and Kim Parsley, both of Windsor and Kenneth Decailet of Willits. Terry is employed by United Air Lines in Honolulu.

Following a wedding trip to Southern California and several islands in Hawaii the couple will live in Honolulu.

then kill the engine by giving it too much gas. Act excited but try to keep your head. Size up the fellow. Maybe you can talk him out or robbing or assaulting you. Stall for time. Do everything wrong. Remember, though, that as long as he holds a gun on you, he may squeeze the trigger any time. So in the beginning follow his orders in the hope you will get a break. Don't say anything that will anger him.

Always take the same precautions in the daytime that you do at night. People forget that many crimes of this nature are committed in daylight hours.

Never assume you are safe in a crowd. Many crimes take place on department store parking lots with scores of people hurrying by.

Never assume you are safe in a "good" neighborhood. There are no "good" neighborhoods. Just as many sex crimes, and crimes against the person, are committed per person in suburbia as in a ghetto. Crime knows no economic level.

Never carry much money in your purse. If someone grabs it, let him have it. Otherwise you may be beaten or killed. If you must carry a considerable sum, keep it in a dress pocket or somewhere on your person.

DON'T RISK your life to save a dollar. If you live on a dark street, take a taxi home — and scream to the authorities to get the street lighted. It's the least a city can do for your tax dollars in this crime-ridden era.

Don't carry a gun, or keep one in the house unless you know guns and have used them for years. You may shoot yourself or an innocent person, in an excited moment. What's more, a clever criminal can easily turn that gun on you.

Rely strongly on the telephone. If you live alone and your home is expecially vulnerable, install a second phone readily accessible that no one knows about, not even your friends. Hide it under your bed or inside a nightstand cabinet.

Don't let strangers pick you up. Women who warn children about doing so often forget this same admonition. That nice guy you met at the country club or had a drink with at a bar may not be so nice alone with you.

Remember that if you wear a bikini to shop in at the market, or a very abbreviated miniskirt, you invite trouble. You are a neon sign to a man looking for an easy pick up. He may not take "no" for an answer.

Model Schools To Be Studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Thirty-four secondary schools in 20 states, the District of Columbia, Canada and Germany have been selected to participate in a five-year project which may help provide the pattern for 21st-century education.

Although approaches will vary from school to school, the central idea of the project is to gather—for the first time—all major and practical new ideas in secondary school education under a single roof—or 34 roofs in this case. The goal is comprehensive change. The model schools project is supported by a grant from the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis.

Bonds Aide Held Water Plans Need

Facing the possibility of a multimillion dollar bond issue within a year, to finance the Russian River watar project, directors of three water agencies last night agreed informally it would be wise to hire a financial consultant.

Each of the agencies, the Marin Municipal Water District, the North Marin County Water Distict and the Sonoma County Water Agency, will be asked to take formal action as soon as the three general managers find suitable consultants.

The three agencies and the Mendocino County Russian River and Water Conservation Improvement District met last night at the Marin Municipal board room to discuss the Warm Springs Dam and the aqueducts which carry additional water supplies to Marin.

General managers of the three agencies involved in the proposed aqueduct construction, expected to require a bond issue, reviewed the plans, necessary action and alternate methods of financing.

Creation of a "paper district" to hold a simultaneous bond issue emerged as the most popular proposal among the managers.

Such a district would cover the territory of all three districts and provide an opportunity for voters to decide on a bond issue for the entire project. It would have no staff or elected directors.

Other possibilites mentioned were enlargement of the Sonoma County agency, special legislation to allow for joint elections, reduction in the required two-thirds majority and the possiblity of revenue bond financing within each district.

Bond plans fo the three districts, including system improvements, total $96.5 million.

George A. Amaroli, a North Marin Director, worried creation of a paper district would add a new layer of government, mentioning problems in paper districts in Southern California.

However, William R. Seeger, general manager of Marin Municipal, said those districts are considered operating districts and have a staff, though they have no facilities.

In the only other discussion in the meeting billed as a "discussion session," Ignazio A. Vella urged the managers to seek an objective financial consultant, one who is in no way involved with any of the districts or private property owners who might be involved.

The managers also asked the boards to endorse the Russian River project and authorize the managers to proceed. Each is expected to take that action at its next meeting.

Kennel Must Await County Noise Report

A kennel for 43 dogs will be approved at 899 Eucalyptus Avenue in Novato if County Administrator Thomas E. Cordill is convinced that noise from the kennel will not disturb adjoining homes.

Anne Keleman, owner of Mutts of Marin at Strawberry Town and Country Village, yesterday asked for a use permit for the kennel on three acres at the corner of Eucalyptus Avenue and Hicks Valley Road. The property is zoned limited agricultural, which allows kennels with a use permit.

Castlewood subdivision is located on one side of the proposed kennel and Parkwood Estates is under construction on the other side.

Cordill asked his assistant, John Hau, to get a report from an acoustical engineer to determine the amount of noise that the kennel would create.

The County Zoning Administrator Also:

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION — SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1969 — 17

FIVE-POUND BEETS

Corte Madera Gardener Boasts Oversize Vegetable Harvest

By ALAN JONES

If John L. Thomas literally had a green thumb, it would be a foot long and eight inches around.

As it is, his thumbs are normal but you should see the vegetables he grows in his Corte Madera garden.

Even in mid-November, there are rows of flourishing cabbages, blackberries, tomatoes, wax peppers, carrots, beets and various greens that testify to Thomas's southern upbringing.

The most astonishing vegetables at this time of year are Thomas's beets and carrots. His garden is producing mammoth beets weighing up to five pounds and huge Cantenay carrots of up to four pounds apiece.

The beets are the size of duckpin balls and the carrots as big as a size 8 shoe. Despite their size, they are as tasty as normal size vegetables, Thomas said.

"This kind of carrot is the sweetest thing you could ever want to eat," he said. "You don't even have to add sugar when you cook them."

There's no single reason for the oversized vegetables, according to Thomas. The beets and carrots reached eating size long ago, but he left some in the ground to continue growing.

With plenty of sun, irrigation, spraying to keep off insects, and no frost to crack the roots and rot them, the vegetables have continued to grow in the fertilizer-rich soil until they reach enormous size. Unlike some other vegetables, carrots and beets will continue to grow without going to seed, Thomas said.

Although gardening is a hobby now, Thomas started out as a fulltime farmer in his teens in Alabama, where he was foreman on his mother's farm near Slocum. Later, he worked for a seed store and continued to experiment with crops on his own.

A tall, husky man, Thomas credits gardening with helping keep him in shape now that he's out of the Army.

While proud of his oversized carrots and beets, Thomas said his best crop this year was sweet corn. He had three or four ears to the stalk, he said, and the supposedly bantam corn grew as tall as his own six feet three inches.

His care is evident throughout the garden. Crops are planted in raised rows, tomatoes and pepper vines are carefully tied up, and even the berry vines are meticulously pruned back into a neat row.

You name it, the Thomases probably grow it.

"The secret," Thomas said, "is to prepare the soil well." He used two kinds of fertilizer, steer manure and a chemical mixture.

"And it's important to follow the watering instructions for the crops," he said. "Irrigation is the best way to water — late in the evening about twice a week."

Irrigation through channels parelling the crop rows is better than sprinkling, he said, because many plants will rot or develop disease when wet from sprinkling.

The third rule, Thomas said, is spraying. He uses a house and garden type spray to keep insects out.

Follow Thomas's three rules — prepare the soil, irrigate, and spray — and one may be able to raise crops almost like his, and like Thomas, provide enough vegetables for the family, neighbors and everyone at the office. But remember Thomas has a head start of 35 years' experience.

Hub Youth To Court On Drugs

I-J Special Report

UKIAH — A 19-year-old San Anselmo youth, who has pleaded inocent to charges of possessing marijuana yesterday, was bound over to Mendocino Superior Court following a preliminary hearing in Ukiah Justice Court.

James M. Harrenbruck, of 37 Sequoia Drive, will appear in superior court Dec. 5 for setting of a trial date.

The youth was arested Nov. 9 after a California Highway patrolman stopped him for a minor traffic violation on Highway 101, just north of Willits in Mendocino County. He is free on $1,250 bail.

Alioto Urges Gas Tax Diversion To Transit

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Breaking the highway lobby's exclusive claim on all gas taxes would free money to buy a ferry and bus system to serve Marin commuters, San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto said today.

Testifying before the Assembly Transportation Committee, Alioto said diversion of gas taxes to transit also will be needed for rail transit to Marin.

The number of daily commuters from Marin to San Francisco will more than double to some 73,000 persons within 20 years, Alioto said. "Rail transit will be indispensable, although speedy ferryboats, connecting with express bus service, will do much to relieve congestion for Marin."

The committee met in the State Building in one of its series of hearings on proposed legislation to amend the state constitution so gas tax revenues can be used for transit.

Alioto used the occasion to reiterate his absolute opposition to a freeway into San Francisco from the Golden Gate Bridge. Any new freeway in San Francisco will have to be underground, he said.

"We're not being stubborn, it's a coldly reasoned judgment," Alioto said, "and the state highway people have simply got to get it through their heads."

Alioto also objected that rural areas get too large a share of gas tax revenue. In the past five years, for example, San Francisco paid $105 million in state highway taxes but got back only $41 million, Alioto said.

"Where did the difference go? That's the $64 million question," Alioto told the committee.

240-Unit Mobile Home Plan Approved In Rohnert Park

A 30-acre mobile home park, eventually to include 240 living units, was approved last night by the Rohnert Park City Council.

Lorraine Curley of the Curley Real Estate Agency, San Rafael, presented the plan that included eight living units per acre, a recreation center and extensive landscaping. The development will be known as Lorena Manor Mobile Home Park.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the council set no special conditions for approval.

The Rohnert Park City Council Also:

APPOINTMENT — Named Harold Wilkes to fill a vacancy on the recreation commission.

GOLF COURSE — Approved preferred player cards for members of the Rohnert Park men's and women's golf clubs. Card holders can play at 50 cents off the usual rate. The council said that military personnel may play at the reduced rate without preferred player cards.

DUGOUTS — Approved the expenditure of $1,500 to construct dugouts and a concession stand at the Benecia Park baseball field.

BEAUTY — Asked that a resolution be prepared asking the state Public Utility Commission to require railroads to beautify railroad right-of-way areas.

OPERA — Approved the expenditure of $69 for the Cultural Arts Commission to purchase tickets to the opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors" at Sonoma State College. The 75-cent tickets will be sold to elementary students for 25 cents, with bus transportation to the college provided.

Panel Sets Study Of School Arts

A committee to study the arts in the Ross School District has been organized, the board learned last night.

The board authorized the committee last month and asked for a report by March 1970. So far, no meetings have been held.

Meanwhile, the board last night hired an instrumental music conductor on a part-time basis. Marilyn Pool was named to the post at $15 a day, Prinicpal William M. Cooper reported.

The lack of a music program this year prompted the formation of the arts study committee.

The Ross School District board also:

SCHOOL STUDY — Heard a report from Paul Rosenthal on how his firm, Rosenthal and Associates, would study the condition of the school plant. The board asked for a written report to be presented before a decision is made.

GIFTS — Accepted a slide projector and the indefinite loan of a microscope from Dr. and Mrs. Justin Williams.

READING — Learned students in the first, second and third grades at Ross School had scored highest in the county on a reading test given last spring. Sixth graders were also near the top, Cooper said.

Thefts Of Four Bikes Reported

Four bicycles were stolen in San Rafael during the last week, police reported today.

An $80 bicycle owned by Peter Joost, 11, of 34 Kinross Drive was stolen Saturday from a sidewalk near his home and a blue and white bicycle owned by Sarah Magid of 322 Glen Park Avenue was taken Saturday or Sunday from the Coleman School yard.

The 10-speed bicycle of John Sims, 14, of 15 Harcourt Street was stolen sometime between Tuesday and Thursday while it was parked in the yard at 25 Harcourt Street.

Compromise Teacher Pay Hike Taken

Mill Valley teachers last night voted to accept a compromise 1.5 per cent across-the-board salary scale increase retroactive to September, Mill Valley Teachers Association president Pat Assimakis reported.

Miss Assimakis said the offer was made by Supt. James A. Collins representing the board in a negotiation session held Fridoay.

Both the negotiation panel and the teachers association executive board recommended that the teachers accept the compromise offer, which Miss Assimakis called "fair and equitable."

The teachers also directed their board to withdraw its sanctions alert, filed with the California Teachers Association, when the pay increase is adopted oficially by the board, probably at its 8 p.m. Monday meeting.

In August teachers requested a 3 per cent across-the-board salary increase on top of a 5 per cent increase granted in June after the district had received $200,000 in additional funds.

Sausalito To Study Refuse Hike Request

A request from Bay Cities Refuse Co., for a rate increase and the upcoming backyard burning ban will be studied by the Sausalito City Council at its 8 p.m. meeting today in city hall.

City Mgr. George M. Patterson is due to give reports on the rate hike request along with a report on changing Highway 101 signs to encourage tourists coming off Golden Gate Bridge to enter Sausalito from the Marin City exit instead of from the south.

Heroin Suspect Is Cut Off Welfare

Marin's chief welfare official said yesterday that aid to Rosita Dolores Branstetter, 37-year-old San Rafael woman accused of being a heroin dealer, has been discontinued because she had "excess cash" with her when arrested.

The "excess cash," which turned out to be $5,435 when counted at a San Rafael bank, was seized yesterday by state tax officials, who said they figured that Mrs. Branstetter owes $9,280 for this year's state income taxes.

Although Harris Zeff, tax compliance supervisor for the State Franchise Borad's San Francisco office, declined to say how the tax had been computed, he said that it was done on the basis of information furnished by narcotics officers.

Sheriff's officers yesterday handed over the money, which had been held in a safe in the sheriff's department since Mrs. Branstetter's arrest on Nov. 7.

Meanwhile, Betty L. Presley, director of Marin's Public Social Services, said that she had verified that Mrs. Branstetter's children do exist and are living with her. Earlier, welfare officials had said they had not checked the existence of the children when granting Mrs. Branstetter aid in August.

Mrs. Presley said that there was no indication of neglect of the children.

She added that she had intended to recall the last two checks, each for $114, which were found in Mrs. Branstetter's wallet along with the $5,435 at the time of her arrest.

"However, we learned that the authorities had apparently returned those checks to her, and the checks have been cashed," Mrs. Presley said.

What about future welfare aid for Mrs. Branstetter?

That will depend on the facts if she reapplies for aid, Miss Presley answered. She said welfare officials have no information on the reported $5,435 and whether it was her money or someone else's.

Miss Presley has asked the district attorney to investigate if there was any fraud in the Branstetter case.

State officials said today that Mrs. Branstetter may appeal the amount of tax she has been assessed.

She was first arrested in Marin Oct. 29 at her San Rafael apartment and was accused of possessing heroin for sale as well as a sale of the narcotic on Sept. 24.

On Nov. 7 drug agents returned and seized more suspected heroin, which Mrs. Branstetter said was milk sugar. The substance is still undergoing analysis.

Branstetter Case Likely To Spur Quiz

Betty L. Presley, Marin director of public social services, is expected to be questioned about the Rosita Branstetter case tomorrow night when she makes a scheduled speaking appearance before the Irate Taxpayers of Marin.

Welfare records show that Mrs. Bransetter, arrested Nov 7 and accused of being a heroin dealer, had received $798 in Aid to Dependent Children assistance since Aug. 1.

Miss Presley is scheduled to speak before the Irate Taxpayers at 8 p.m. in Room 218 of the county courthouse in San Rafael.

Bonds Aide Held Water Plans Need

Facing the possibility of a multimillion dollar bond issue within a year, to finance the Russian River watar project, directors of three water agencies last night agreed informally it would be wise to hire a financial consultant.

Each of the agencies, the Marin Municipal Water District, the North Marin County Water Distict and the Sonoma County Water Agency, will be asked to take formal action as soon as the three general managers find suitable consultants.

The three agencies and the Mendocino County Russian River and Water Conservation Improvement District met last night at the Marin Municipal board room to discuss the Warm Springs Dam and the aqueducts which carry additional water supplies to Marin.

General managers of the three agencies involved in the proposed aqueduct construction, expected to require a bond issue, reviewed the plans, necessary action and alternate methods of financing.

Creation of a "paper district" to hold a simultaneous bond issue emerged as the most popular proposal among the managers.

Such a district would cover the territory of all three districts and provide an opportunity for voters to decide on a bond issue for the entire project. It would have no staff or elected directors.

Other possibilites mentioned were enlargement of the Sonoma County agency, special legislation to allow for joint elections, reduction in the required two-thirds majority and the possiblity of revenue bond financing within each district.

Bond plans fo the three districts, including system improvements, total $96.5 million.

George A. Amaroli, a North Marin Director, worried creation of a paper district would add a new layer of government, mentioning problems in paper districts in Southern California.

However, William R. Seeger, general manager of Marin Municipal, said those districts are considered operating districts and have a staff, though they have no facilities.

In the only other discussion in the meeting billed as a "discussion session," Ignazio A. Vella urged the managers to seek an objective financial consultant, one who is in no way involved with any of the districts or private property owners who might be involved.

The managers also asked the boards to endorse the Russian River project and authorize the managers to proceed. Each is expected to take that action at its next meeting.

Kennel Must Await County Noise Report

A kennel for 43 dogs will be approved at 899 Eucalyptus Avenue in Novato if County Administrator Thomas E. Cordill is convinced that noise from the kennel will not disturb adjoining homes.

Anne Keleman, owner of Mutts of Marin at Strawberry Town and Country Village, yesterday asked for a use permit for the kennel on three acres at the corner of Eucalyptus Avenue and Hicks Valley Road. The property is zoned limited agricultural, which allows kennels with a use permit.

Castlewood subdivision is located on one side of the proposed kennel and Parkwood Estates is under construction on the other side.

Cordill asked his assistant, John Hau, to get a report from an acoustical engineer to determine the amount of noise that the kennel would create.

The County Zoning Administrator Also:

Featured on the program will be the first West Coast performance of the Six Concertos for Two Keyboards by Padre Antonio Soler (1729-1783) of Spain. A pupil of Scarlatti, Soler was organist-choir director of the Escorial Monastery.

Other works to be performed are "Batalla Imperial" by Juan Cabanailles, "Dos Versillos de Segundo Tono" by Juan Moreno and "Differencias sobre la Galliarda Milanese" by Juan de Cabezon.

The Great Protest Week: Bad Start, Impressive End

The great protest week started off badly.

Early on Tuesday — Veterans Day, the anniversary of the World War I armistice — simultaneous explosions shook and damaged the Radio Corp. of America, Chase Manhattan Bank and General Motors buildings in New York. A letter received by United Press International, claiming responsibility for the three bombings, said they were in protest at the Vietnam war.

The following day, the violence moved to a familiar environment: the campuses. At Fordham University in New York, about 75 students seized administrative offices to protest the Reserve Officer Training Corps program. They threw hot water on campus police who tried to oust them, swung lead pipes to defend their seizure. At University of Wisconsin in Milwaukee, war protesters flew the Viet Cong flag. At Princeton University in New Jersey, students tried unsuccessfully to blockade a building.

THAT NIGHT, a bomb exploded in the New York Criminal Courts Building. Police and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents nabbed two men they said were putting dynamite bombs into army trucks at a National Guard armory in Manhattan.

Three men and a woman were arrested for the bombings. Two of the men had been employed by radical anti-war publications.

There were other bomb threats. In Washington, the government was at loggerheads with the New Mobilization Committee over the route for the protest parade planned for Saturday.

In this ominous atmosphere, troops were called from surrounding states to garrison government buildings in Washington, ready for instant action if the Saturday parade should erupt into violence.

BUT THE GREAT protest week ended on a high note of dedication.

A quarter of a million people marched in Washington, without incident. They carried banners. They sang. Some of them made bad jokes. But mostly they just marched, holding aloft their hands in the "peace sign," to the slow cadence of drums. And it was the Stars and Stripes, over and over again, that floated above their moving ranks. Only a few bore the enemy banner of the Viet Cong.

In San Francisco also there was an orderly march, with the throng estimated at 30,000.

And throughout the nation, there were smaller marches, less publicized but full of the same meaning: The war is wrong. We must get out. It was never our war.

Most of the marchers were young. But there were older men and women, too — "squares" who joined to show that the "silent majority" is not a single-minded agglomeration, as some would have it.

MOSTLY, THE MESSAGE was simply in the marching. But there were some words said that carried meaning.

Sen. George McGovern told the Washington throng: "We are all prisoners of war and we long to be free." Sen. Charles E. Goodell said: "We do advocate peace with pride and honor —the pride and honor that comes when a nation has made a mistake, recognizes it and gets out of that mistake."

And folksinger Peter Seeger, between refrains of his songs, shouted: "Do you hear us, Mr. Nixon?"

Five blocks away, in a heavily guarded White House, the President must have heard.

"Tell me again how different things are gonna be with Warren off the Supreme Court!"

Arms Limitation Talks Start Amid Cold Winter Darkness

HELSINKI — As the long winter darkness settles down here in this northern capital, a handful of men are committed to the search for a way out of the nuclear trap. A delegation from the Soviet Union and a delegation from the United States have come together for the long-delayed strategic arms limitation talks.

By all rights — the rights of generations yet unborn — this should be the most momentous conference since that first unearthly flash of atomic particles lit up the sky over the New Mexico proving ground. It is either/or: either the swift upward spiral of the arms race costing ever-more billions of dollars or a pause for stock taking and the hope of a gradual levelling off and eventually a reduction in the arsenals of the two giants.

Yet, even as the conference begins with a phase of preliminary discussion, most observers take a dour and cynical view. Both sides are so positioned that they cannot afford to make the mutual concessions which must be part of any agreement, or so it seems to those on the sidelines.

The war in Vietnam deeply divides and distracts the United States. The roar of protest and counter-protest is so loud that what is beginning here seems like a distant and almost inaudible sideshow.

Then there is the swift pace of new strategic technology — the multi-warhead missile (MIRV), the anti-ballistic missile, the Russian's blockbust ss-9. If a moratorium cannot be agreed upon to hold up MIRV in the first weeks of the new year, it may be too late. Inspection and control will then be all but impossible.

WITHIN the American delegation, headed by Gerrard C. Smith, director of the arms control agency, this defeatist view is sternly rejected. Granted, the testing of MIRV has gone a long way in the United States and probably also in the Soviet Union. Nevertheless since neither side has a MIRV pinpointed for the other side's missiles, the whole argument for the anti-ballistic missile, so bitterly fought over in the Senate, falls through.

This is hope and it is perhaps also faith on the part of Smith and the other members of the delegation. But they are aware of the realities, of the changed circumstances, on both sides of the divide complicating and confusing an already incredibly complicated negotiation.

In the summer of 1963 the United States concluded with the Soviet Union a limited test-ban agreement. Both sides agreed to stop nuclear explosions in the atmosphere. Both sides have continued to set off deep underground explosions.

THAT NEGOTIATION six years ago was kindergarten exercise compared to what is contemplated in the "SALT" talks. At that time the entire civilian establishment in the Pentagon was committed to the test-ban agreement. The situatuon is today almost completely reversed.

The then secretary of defense, Robert S. McNamara, recalls that he set out to convince the Joint Chiefs of Staff that they were wrong in opposing the test ban. They talked for three solid weeks and in the end the JCS assented to the test ban.

Today the systems analysis that McNamara built is gutted. The JCS today oppose any moratorium on NIRV, and there is no one in sight who would make the case with them for an agreement properly policed. As one of the leading scientists who formerly played a leading part in weapons research put it recently: "I feel when I get back today that I am in a Goldwater Pentagon."

This has given the disarmers a sense of isolation. Smith is on a very short leash.

UNICEF Response Termed Beautiful

I would like to take this opportunity publicly to thank all the people who helped to make trick-or-treat for UNICEF such a success this year and especially all the children who took the time to carry a UNICEF carton.

Over $1,000 was donated in the Terra Linda and Santa Venetia areas, including some Sunday schools in these areas with enrollments from throughout the county. What a beautiful response!

Thank you, too, for the publicity you gave us; I'm sure that it was helpful in bringing such a good response.

Miller Opponents Shifting Stand

Several important aspects of the mental health controversy have not been reported and /or questioned in the stories carried by your newspaper.

For example: The group of people (e.g. Mrs. Trudi Baum, Mrs. Sally Mishkind, Dr. Alvin Haag) who were opposed to Dr. Clyde Miller have shifted their position from It Is Dr. Miller's Personality That Is Offensive To Us to Anyone Who Opposes Dr. Wilson Is Unacceptable To Us. I expect that this shift is not lost on our board of supervisors or the reading public.

The fact that Dr. Wanerman's differences with Dr. Wilson might have some basis in fact is not considered by this group. Dr. Wilson abruptly abolished the children's service early in August, removing Dr. Wanerman from his post as deputy director in charge of this service. This children's service was widely hailed as excellent; as late as this past April, I heard Dr. Wilson, speaking is a meeting with some of his staff, say "the children's service is the best organized and administered unit of the Community Mental Health Center." Yet a few months later he saw fit to abolish this unit and remove Dr. Wanerman, who was responsible for much of the program, from his post.

If Mrs. Baum, Dr. Haag, Mrs. Sally Mishkind and their group feel that the resolution of this conflict lies in appointing to the post of interim director of Community Mental Health Services someone who is not critical of Dr. Wilson and his activities at the Center, then I suggest they address themselves to the question that should logically follow. Has Dr. Wilson demonstrated his competence to be given such an unsupervised trust? . . .

Mrs. Baum and her group also opposed the proposal to remove the outpatient services from the administration of Marin General Hospital on the grounds that this would "fragment the program" Their opposition on administrative grounds is remarkable in that just as little as a year ago when the previous board of supervisors decided to include the outpatient services under the hospital administration, every agency and association concerned with mental health and illness, including the Marin Association for Mental Health, took an official stand opposing this and urged that they be kept under county administration.

Mobile Homes Pay Their Share

In answer to Mr. Arnold Baptiste's statement quoted in the paper on Nov. 11 and 12 that mobile home owners can vote on special district elections, but don't pay their share of taxes, I would like to reply.

I say we do pay our share of taxes! They are included in our rent payments. What about the people that live in apartments, or rented homes? They pay the taxes in their rents, too, and they vote, too, if they care to register. The mobile home owner at least owns his own home. And he pays high rent for the small space that his mobile sits on. The owner of the court pays a high rate of taxes here in Marin County for the ground he developed into the court. So, that money is divided up between all the special districts.

I could not afford to keep up the taxes on my home and ground, nor could I keep up the property as it should be. Therefore I sold it and moved into a mobile. I live alone. Now the income from my home helps provide for my living, which I needed very much. I do not have a big yard and garden to care for. I don't have to worry about getting help, which was expensive, and at times, very unsatisfactory . . .

Over the many years we owned our own homes in many different cities, I feel we paid our share of taxes for school and other districts. Part of the time we didn't even have a child in school. Later, we sent one child through school, and paid more taxes on our two lots than other families did on one lot that had several children.

It gripes me to tears to hear these people of high incomes, griping all the time, and trying to take the privilege away from lower income people, or elderly people with much lower incomes, and those who have paid taxes for 40 years or more, to live in mobile homes, or in other words, homes of their own choice. We are not trying to tell those people what kind of homes they have to live in, and pay for . . .

I can remember when Marin County didn't want to rent to service families. Now if they pulled Hamilton Field out of here the county would go broke.

Same chance . . .

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Morality Raises Its Weary Head Briefly Again In San Francisco

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—San Francisco, the jewel city of the Golden West, is a most peculiar city with respect to the normal morals of a community. For more than a century, it has been noted as an "open" city, which tolerates almost everything from hootch to hop, ladies of the night, and other forms of so-called pleasures.

Everyone who lived in or visited the city frequently during the old Prohibition days was aware of the fact that enforcement of the 18th Amendment and the Wright Act was barely perfunctory, and that a people who felt restrictions were for the sea gulls were not likely to cooperate wholeheartedly in the enforcement of laws designed to put the clamp on personal pleasure or cut down profits.

APPARENTLY, the theory has persisted over the years, as the city is now in the throes of a controversy with the state Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control over the enforcement of today's liquor laws.

The question is the operation of the so-called "breakfast clubs," which are establishments in which liquor is sold in violation of state laws between 2 and 6 a.m.

The clubs are the subject of attack by a newspaper in the city, and in a high dudgeon of self-righteousness, the board of supervisors has asked Gov. Ronald Reagan to step up law enforcement. Reagan turned the request over to the proper state officer, Edward J. Kirby, director of the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control.

APPARENTLY, the San Francisco supervisors had forgotten that Kirby, a little less than six months ago, made the "breakfast clubs" the subject of a special investigation and turned over evidence to the San Francisco district attorney, which resulted in 44 arrests and 21 cases turned over to local courts.

Seven cases were dismissed, five received fines of $25 each, and seven were fined $35 each. Abatement was recommended by the state in three cases, but no action was taken.

During the probe into the breakfast club situation, the department took action against five tenderloin licenses for "B-girl" violations and is seeking revocation of the licenses.

IT WAS ON the San Francisco tenderloin that "topless" waitresses virtually had their beginning some years ago, and continue to work despite the efforts of the department to eliminate this form of costume (or no costume) in the service of alcoholic beverages.

Aside from its tolerance in matters of morals, San Francisco can be aroused to take real "clean-up" action when things get too bad. This has been happening occasionally ever since the days of the vigilantes, who cleaned up the town back in the gold mining days. The lessening of activities on the old Barbary Coast was another example earlier in the century of a San Francisco briefly adopting morality as a step-child.

Whether the current dispute with state is another indignant go at morality, or merely an effort to blame anotther law enforcement agency for allowing publicized questionable activities to continue, remains to be seen. But it can be assumed that when the shouting blows over, San Francisco will be the same tolerant city it has been since its beginning.

And when it comes down to the real nitty gritty, who wants it otherwise? A few oases in a desert of righteousness might build the state's image!

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Nov. 18, 1959

Twenty-seven candidates were entered in the race for seats on the Novato City Council, the biggest field for any city council race in Marin history.

Officials of the undefeated Redwood Junior Giants football team started a fund-raising drive to send the squad to Boise, Ida., for a post-season bowl game.

20 YEARS AGO

Nov. 19, 1949

North Bay commuters rallied behind the Independent-Journal's program for a permanent end to interruptions in San Rafael-Richmond transportation service, which called for bridge linking Marin and Contra Costa counties.

Southern Baptists Not Unanimous

Dr. W. A. Criswell, in his recently publicized statement on the anti-war movement, did not necessarily speak for any Southern Baptist other than himself.

As president of the Southern Baptist Convention, his primary function is to preside at meetings of that body. No other special powers go with the office.

There are a number of Southern Baptists, of whom I am one, who are not willing to brand the entire protest movement as "traitorous".

Split In Congress Party Perils Indian Democracy

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Nearly 23 years under a tricolor banner bearing Gandhi's spinning wheel and a pair of yoked bullocks, symbol at the ballot box, the Congress party has ruled India.

Today the party is split, many think beyond repair, threatening not only the party but the future of parliamentary rule in India as well.

The fight is between Mrs. Indira Ghandi, who has not distinguished herself as a prime minister but has proved adept at political survival, and the "Syndicate," the old party bosses struggling to protect their freedoms in the cities and in India's 17 separate states.

THE CONGRESS Party is an inheritance from Mohandas K. Gandhi, who based his campaign for independence from Britain on non-violence. The late Jawaharlal Nehru, father of the prime minister, held it together by the force of his personality.

It is India's only national party. And, in the absence of another Nehru, its disintegration could leave a vacuum no other political party could fill.

The party leaders, for the most part aging and conservative, brought Mrs. Gandhi into the prime minister's job three and a half years ago on the theory she would be tractible to their dictates and would help them at the polls in 1967. Neither came to pass.

THE POWER struggle came into the open last summer.

In July, the party bosses put up a candidate for the Indian presidency whom she bitterly opposed. She retaliated by firing her finance minister, Morarji Desai, a member of the syndicate.

In a sudden move she nationalized India's 14 largest private banks, an action she said would take money out of the hands of the industrial tycoons and make credit more easily available to small businessmen and farmers.

She further proposed land reform and sharing of industrial profits with workers.

She described her proposals as "democratic socialism" in the manner of her father. She then went ahead and won the national presidency for her own candidate, V.V. Giri.

LAST WEEK the Syndicate fired her from the party and moved to oust her from the prime ministership, but she won a parliamentary vote of confidence to keep her in power— at least for the time being.

Religious strife is mounting between India's 50 million Moslems and roughly 450 million Hindus.

THE UNITED STATES, with some $9 billion already invested in India, is growing tired of aid without visible results. Indian moves toward closer ties with Communist North Vietnam cannot increase U.S. good will.

Her opposition says her moves toward socialism will mean the rape of democracy. She says it will be India's salvation.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

One of those under-40 geniuses who built a billion-dollar conglomerate out of a dinky Texas hamburger stand in six years was reminded during a three-minute lull in his wheelings and dealings that his daughter at finishing school was celebrating her 16th birthday the next day. He hurriedly sent her a check for $10,000 and went back to work.

A few days later he got the check back from his daughter with a note saying, "The thought — and the amount — were both gratifying, but the bank says you better use another signature." The check to his daughter had been signed —"Love, Dad."

FIVE-POUND BEETS

By ALAN JONES

If John L. Thomas literally had a green thumb, it would be a foot long and eight inches around.

As it is, his thumbs are normal but you should see the vegetables he grows in his Corte Madera garden.

Even in mid-November, there are rows of flourishing cabbages, blackberries, tomatoes, wax peppers, carrots, beets and various greens that testify to Thomas's southern upbringing.

The most astonishing vegetables at this time of year are Thomas's beets and carrots. His garden is producing mammoth beets weighing up to five pounds and huge Cantenay carrots of up to four pounds apiece.

The beets are the size of duckpin balls and the carrots as big as a size 8 shoe. Despite their size, they are as tasty as normal size vegetables, Thomas said.

"This kind of carrot is the sweetest thing you could ever want to eat," he said. "You don't even have to add sugar when you cook them."

There's no single reason for the oversized vegetables, according to Thomas. The beets and carrots reached eating size long ago, but he left some in the ground to continue growing.

With plenty of sun, irrigation, spraying to keep off insects, and no frost to crack the roots and rot them, the vegetables have continued to grow in the fertilizer-rich soil until they reach enormous size. Unlike some other vegetables, carrots and beets will continue to grow without going to seed, Thomas said.

Although gardening is a hobby now, Thomas started out as a fulltime farmer in his teens in Alabama, where he was foreman on his mother's farm near Slocum. Later, he worked for a seed store and continued to experiment with crops on his own.

A tall, husky man, Thomas credits gardening with helping keep him in shape now that he's out of the Army.

While proud of his oversized carrots and beets, Thomas said his best crop this year was sweet corn. He had three or four ears to the stalk, he said, and the supposedly bantam corn grew as tall as his own six feet three inches.

His care is evident throughout the garden. Crops are planted in raised rows, tomatoes and pepper vines are carefully tied up, and even the berry vines are meticulously pruned back into a neat row.

You name it, the Thomases probably grow it.

"The secret," Thomas said, "is to prepare the soil well." He used two kinds of fertilizer, steer manure and a chemical mixture.

"And it's important to follow the watering instructions for the crops," he said. "Irrigation is the best way to water — late in the evening about twice a week."

Irrigation through channels parelling the crop rows is better than sprinkling, he said, because many plants will rot or develop disease when wet from sprinkling.

The third rule, Thomas said, is spraying. He uses a house and garden type spray to keep insects out.

Follow Thomas's three rules — prepare the soil, irrigate, and spray — and one may be able to raise crops almost like his, and like Thomas, provide enough vegetables for the family, neighbors and everyone at the office. But remember Thomas has a head start of 35 years' experience.

Alioto Urges Gas Tax Diversion To Transit

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Breaking the highway lobby's exclusive claim on all gas taxes would free money to buy a ferry and bus system to serve Marin commuters, San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto said today.

Testifying before the Assembly Transportation Committee, Alioto said diversion of gas taxes to transit also will be needed for rail transit to Marin.

The number of daily commuters from Marin to San Francisco will more than double to some 73,000 persons within 20 years, Alioto said. "Rail transit will be indispensable, although speedy ferryboats, connecting with express bus service, will do much to relieve congestion for Marin."

The committee met in the State Building in one of its series of hearings on proposed legislation to amend the state constitution so gas tax revenues can be used for transit.

Alioto used the occasion to reiterate his absolute opposition to a freeway into San Francisco from the Golden Gate Bridge. Any new freeway in San Francisco will have to be underground, he said.

"We're not being stubborn, it's a coldly reasoned judgment," Alioto said, "and the state highway people have simply got to get it through their heads."

Alioto also objected that rural areas get too large a share of gas tax revenue. In the past five years, for example, San Francisco paid $105 million in state highway taxes but got back only $41 million, Alioto said.

"Where did the difference go? That's the $64 million question," Alioto told the committee.

240-Unit Mobile Home Plan Approved In Rohnert Park

A 30-acre mobile home park, eventually to include 240 living units, was approved last night by the Rohnert Park City Council.

Lorraine Curley of the Curley Real Estate Agency, San Rafael, presented the plan that included eight living units per acre, a recreation center and extensive landscaping. The development will be known as Lorena Manor Mobile Home Park.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the council set no special conditions for approval.

The Rohnert Park City Council Also:

APPOINTMENT — Named Harold Wilkes to fill a vacancy on the recreation commission.

GOLF COURSE — Approved preferred player cards for members of the Rohnert Park men's and women's golf clubs. Card holders can play at 50 cents off the usual rate. The council said that military personnel may play at the reduced rate without preferred player cards.

DUGOUTS — Approved the expenditure of $1,500 to construct dugouts and a concession stand at the Benecia Park baseball field.

BEAUTY — Asked that a resolution be prepared asking the state Public Utility Commission to require railroads to beautify railroad right-of-way areas.

OPERA — Approved the expenditure of $69 for the Cultural Arts Commission to purchase tickets to the opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors" at Sonoma State College. The 75-cent tickets will be sold to elementary students for 25 cents, with bus transportation to the college provided.

Panel Sets Study Of School Arts

A committee to study the arts in the Ross School District has been organized, the board learned last night.

The board authorized the committee last month and asked for a report by March 1970. So far, no meetings have been held.

Meanwhile, the board last night hired an instrumental music conductor on a part-time basis. Marilyn Pool was named to the post at $15 a day, Prinicpal William M. Cooper reported.

The lack of a music program this year prompted the formation of the arts study committee.

The Ross School District board also:

SCHOOL STUDY — Heard a report from Paul Rosenthal on how his firm, Rosenthal and Associates, would study the condition of the school plant. The board asked for a written report to be presented before a decision is made.

GIFTS — Accepted a slide projector and the indefinite loan of a microscope from Dr. and Mrs. Justin Williams.

READING — Learned students in the first, second and third grades at Ross School had scored highest in the county on a reading test given last spring. Sixth graders were also near the top, Cooper said.

PERSONNEL — Hired William Doyle as a part-time custodian at $2 an hour and Gail Richter as a part-time clerical aide at $1.65 an hour.

Folk Art Will Be Theme Of Two Workshops

"International Folk Art," is the title of the Marin annual winter art workshop to be held from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Thursday and Friday, sponsored by the Marin chapter of the California Art Education Association and the Marin County Superintendent of Schools.

The Thursday session will be held at San Clemente Elementary School at 330 Golden Hinde Passage, Corte Madera, and the Friday session at San Jose Junior High School at 1000 Sunset Parkway, Novato.

The workshops are planned for public, private and parochial school teachers, teacher aides and volunteers.

The workshops, featuring projects for the holiday season and all through the year, lists such topics as Mexican God's eyes, Mexican yarn painting, origami, macrami, aesthometry, plastic flowers, simple print making, Egyphian paste beads, Swedish cookies, paper mache, primitive weaving, candle casting and reed basketry.

Hub Youth To Court On Drugs

I-J Special Report

UKIAH — A 19-year-old San Anselmo youth, who has pleaded inocent to charges of possessing marijuana yesterday, was bound over to Mendocino Superior Court following a preliminary hearing in Ukiah Justice Court.

James M. Harrenbruck, of 37 Sequoia Drive, will appear in superior court Dec. 5 for setting of a trial date.

The youth was arested Nov. 9 after a California Highway patrolman stopped him for a minor traffic violation on Highway 101, just north of Willits in Mendocino County. He is free on $1,250 bail.

Thefts Of Four Bikes Reported

Four bicycles were stolen in San Rafael during the last week, police reported today.

An $80 bicycle owned by Peter Joost, 11, of 34 Kinross Drive was stolen Saturday from a sidewalk near his home and a blue and white bicycle owned by Sarah Magid of 322 Glen Park Avenue was taken Saturday or Sunday from the Coleman School yard.

The 10-speed bicycle of John Sims, 14, of 15 Harcourt Street was stolen sometime between Tuesday and Thursday while it was parked in the yard at 25 Harcourt Street.

Compromise Teacher Pay Hike Taken

Mill Valley teachers last night voted to accept a compromise 1.5 per cent across-the-board salary scale increase retroactive to September, Mill Valley Teachers Association president Pat Assimakis reported.

Miss Assimakis said the offer was made by Supt. James A. Collins representing the board in a negotiation session held Fridoay.

Both the negotiation panel and the teachers association executive board recommended that the teachers accept the compromise offer, which Miss Assimakis called "fair and equitable."

The teachers also directed their board to withdraw its sanctions alert, filed with the California Teachers Association, when the pay increase is adopted oficially by the board, probably at its 8 p.m. Monday meeting.

In August teachers requested a 3 per cent across-the-board salary increase on top of a 5 per cent increase granted in June after the district had received $200,000 in additional funds.

Sausalito To Study Refuse Hike Request

A request from Bay Cities Refuse Co., for a rate increase and the upcoming backyard burning ban will be studied by the Sausalito City Council at its 8 p.m. meeting today in city hall.

City Mgr. George M. Patterson is due to give reports on the rate hike request along with a report on changing Highway 101 signs to encourage tourists coming off Golden Gate Bridge to enter Sausalito from the Marin City exit instead of from the south.

Heroin Suspect Is Cut Off Welfare

Marin's chief welfare official said yesterday that aid to Rosita Dolores Branstetter, 37-year-old San Rafael woman accused of being a heroin dealer, has been discontinued because she had "excess cash" with her when arrested.

The "excess cash," which turned out to be $5,435 when counted at a San Rafael bank, was seized yesterday by state tax officials, who said they figured that Mrs. Branstetter owes $9,280 for this year's state income taxes.

Although Harris Zeff, tax compliance supervisor for the State Franchise Borad's San Francisco office, declined to say how the tax had been computed, he said that it was done on the basis of information furnished by narcotics officers.

Sheriff's officers yesterday handed over the money, which had been held in a safe in the sheriff's department since Mrs. Branstetter's arrest on Nov. 7.

Meanwhile, Betty L. Presley, director of Marin's Public Social Services, said that she had verified that Mrs. Branstetter's children do exist and are living with her. Earlier, welfare officials had said they had not checked the existence of the children when granting Mrs. Branstetter aid in August.

Mrs. Presley said that there was no indication of neglect of the children.

She added that she had intended to recall the last two checks, each for $114, which were found in Mrs. Branstetter's wallet along with the $5,435 at the time of her arrest.

"However, we learned that the authorities had apparently returned those checks to her, and the checks have been cashed," Mrs. Presley said.

What about future welfare aid for Mrs. Branstetter?

That will depend on the facts if she reapplies for aid, Miss Presley answered. She said welfare officials have no information on the reported $5,435 and whether it was her money or someone else's.

Miss Presley has asked the district attorney to investigate if there was any fraud in the Branstetter case.

State officials said today that Mrs. Branstetter may appeal the amount of tax she has been assessed.

She was first arrested in Marin Oct. 29 at her San Rafael apartment and was accused of possessing heroin for sale as well as a sale of the narcotic on Sept. 24.

On Nov. 7 drug agents returned and seized more suspected heroin, which Mrs. Branstetter said was milk sugar. The substance is still undergoing analysis.

Branstetter Case Likely To Spur Quiz

Betty L. Presley, Marin director of public social services, is expected to be questioned about the Rosita Branstetter case tomorrow night when she makes a scheduled speaking appearance before the Irate Taxpayers of Marin.

Welfare records show that Mrs. Bransetter, arrested Nov 7 and accused of being a heroin dealer, had received $798 in Aid to Dependent Children assistance since Aug. 1.

Miss Presley is scheduled to speak before the Irate Taxpayers at 8 p.m. in Room 218 of the county courthouse in San Rafael.

Visible House Numbers Needed; Also Non-Confusing Street Names

With the end of daylight saving time and the days growing shorter, the Novato Fire Department has asked that residents check their house numbers so that they are plainly visible at night. This would aid not only firemen but anyone else trying to find an address in a hurry for an emergency.

It would aid newspaper boys and others trying to make deliveries. Residents should occasionally check their house numbers to see if they have become hidden in summer's plant growth or if they have been painted over during the summer.

THE NOVATO FIRE district board must soon come to grips with the problem of filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Donald Donaghue.

The board received a petition with 314 signatures on Oct. 8 asking that the candidate receiving the third number of votes in the recent election be named to the board. He is Richard W. Price, who has run twice for the board.

Commissioner Henry V. Alvernaz said he wants to appoint the third highest candidate. Commissioner Peter J. Ferrarese, chairman of the board, favors appointing William Kirk, former member of the Novato Unified School District board although Kirk did not run. In an unofficial tally, the fire board is divided 3-1 for Kirk.

Price is the president of the Novato volunteer Fireman and has the backing of that organization and the Novato Firemen's Association.

NOVATO IS the fastest growing city in Marin County. As such, it has had and will continue to have many subdivisions. All of these require names for their streets.

Even as young as the city is, confusing duplication of names is developing. Some similar names that cause confusion are: Carmen and Carmel, Kathy and Katlas, and Kristin and Kristy.

Then there are names duplicated except for being called street, lane, court, road, or boulevard. Some of these are miles apart and if an address fails to have the last designation, it leaves nothing for a person to do but go all over the city looking for an address.

Nave Court and Nave Drive are four miles apart, and these are not to be confused with Nova Lane which is two miles from Nave Court.

There are also Ignacio Boulevard, Ignacio Lane and Ignacio Service Road; San Luis Court, San Luis Drive and San Luis way.

Some names that baffle understanding are: Redwood Highway, Redwood Boulevard, Redwood Road and Redwood Road North. Then there are Sunset Court, Sunset Drive, Sunset Parkway and Sunset Trail, all scattered over the city.

Perhaps the city planners and city council could do something about this duplication and similarity before it becomes so well established it will be confusing for all time.

Agnew Won't Dump Nixon; He Has Plans For Running Mate

WASHINGTON — Despite rumors that have been rampant in Washington in the past few months, I can now reliably report that Vice President Spiro Agnew has no intention of dumping Richard Nixon in 1972. A spokesman for the vice president told me that Agnew was very satisfied with the job his President was doing, and that he even intended to give him more responsibilities than any vice president has ever given his President before.

The spokesman said, "I have been authorized to say that Vice President Agnew is proud of Mr. Nixon and feels the President has been a tremendous help to him in taking some of the vice president's awesome burdens off his shoulders. Despite criticism of Mr. Nixon's speeches, Mr. Agnew has no intention of asking to see copies of them in advance."

"HOW DOES Mr. Agnew intend to make fuller use of his President?"

"The vice president has urged the President to get more exposure. For example, last week Mr. Agnew sent the President up to Capitol Hill to thank Congress for its support on the Vietnam issue. The vice president has issued orders that President Nixon be briefed on every important decision that Mr. Agnew makes. He has made Mr. Nixon feel he is one of the family.

"But," I asked, "when President Nixon speaks out as he has been doing lately, is he speaking for himself or for the Agnew administration?"

"The Vice President sees Mr. Nixon's role as that of a missionary to explain the administration's policies and to seek support for them. The President fills a basic need, touching on subjects that the vice president of the United States is in no position to discuss. Also, by turning over to President Nixon such day-to-day chores as Vietnam, disarmament, inflation, the urban crisis and the Middle East, the vice president can devote himself the the important issues the country is interested in, such as moratoriums, students, snobs and intellectuals and the coverage of TV news."

"IT HAS BEEN bandied about that Mr. Agnew chose Mr. Nixon as his President to win the South. Is there any truth to this?"

"Absolutely none. Mr. Agnew chose Mr. Nixon because he considered him the best man for the job. Agnew's so-called southern strategy has been made up by a handful of elite TV commentators who are prejudiced and opinionated. The vice president is not interested in politics. His only concern is what is best for the country."

"Does it bother the vice president that sometimes Presidnet Nixon gets bigger headlines than he does?"

"Never. Vice President Humphrey was always angered when President Johnson took the spotlight away from him, but Mr. Agnew feels there are enough headlines for everyone. Also, he believes that the more he gives President Nixon to do, the less the President will feel left out of things.

"The vice president not only took Mr. Nixon with him to Cape Kennedy for the moon shot, but made sure the President was seated next to him in the grandstand so Mr. Nixon could share some of the glory."

Chamber Elects In Mill Valley

Four incumbents and one new director were elected yesterday to the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce board, Secretary-Mgr. Granville L. Beedle reported.

Elected were Normand B. Black, owner, El Marin florist, and incumbents Richard C. Conrad, manager, Pacific Gas and Electric Co.; Jack Packard, manager, Crocker-Citizens National Bank; Louis J. Pizzio, owner, Lou's Chevron Service; and Samuel W. Schneider, co-owner, Varney's Hardware store.

Black will replace Director Guido A. Todaro who retired from the board.

Election of officers will be held at noon, Dec. 1, in the Mill Valley School District offices.

Sanity Check Set For Youth

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday appointed two psychiatrists to examine Thomas R. Cunningham, 19, of no known address, to determine if there is doubt as to his present sanity.

Cunningham, who was recently released from El Dorado County Jail after serving time for a joyriding conviction, is accused of passing a check at a Fairfax store Sept. 5 to which he signed his father's name.

During proceedings in El Dorado County he was found to be sane after a hearing.

Closed, Open Reed District Board Talks Set

Reading achievement test results will be discussed by the Reed School District board at 9 p.m. today at the Bel Aire School.

At 7:30 p.m. the board will hold a closed session to instruct the board's representative in negotiations with the Reed School District Teachers' Association regarding the district's report card policy. The negotiation panel will meet at 5 p.m. tomorrow at Del Mar School.

Supt. Robert B. Gaw said the board decided to meet in closed session, which it is allowed but not required to do under state law, because it believed it would be easier to work out an "agreeable solution" in private rather than in public in front of an audience of approximately 300 persons.

At 8 p.m., the board will hold a joint workshop session with the finance committee to discuss school financing.

Also on the regular board agenda will be discussion of the educationally handicapped program and a salary increase request for 1970-71 by teachers.

The Great Protest Week: Bad Start, Impressive End

The great protest week started off badly.

Early on Tuesday — Veterans Day, the anniversary of the World War I armistice — simultaneous explosions shook and damaged the Radio Corp. of America, Chase Manhattan Bank and General Motors buildings in New York. A letter received by United Press International, claiming responsibility for the three bombings, said they were in protest at the Vietnam war.

The following day, the violence moved to a familiar environment: the campuses. At Fordham University in New York, about 75 students seized administrative offices to protest the Reserve Officer Training Corps program. They threw hot water on campus police who tried to oust them, swung lead pipes to defend their seizure. At University of Wisconsin in Milwaukee, war protesters flew the Viet Cong flag. At Princeton University in New Jersey, students tried unsuccessfully to blockade a building.

THAT NIGHT, a bomb exploded in the New York Criminal Courts Building. Police and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents nabbed two men they said were putting dynamite bombs into army trucks at a National Guard armory in Manhattan.

Three men and a woman were arrested for the bombings. Two of the men had been employed by radical anti-war publications.

There were other bomb threats. In Washington, the government was at loggerheads with the New Mobilization Committee over the route for the protest parade planned for Saturday.

In this ominous atmosphere, troops were called from surrounding states to garrison government buildings in Washington, ready for instant action if the Saturday parade should erupt into violence.

BUT THE GREAT protest week ended on a high note of dedication.

A quarter of a million people marched in Washington, without incident. They carried banners. They sang. Some of them made bad jokes. But mostly they just marched, holding aloft their hands in the "peace sign," to the slow cadence of drums. And it was the Stars and Stripes, over and over again, that floated above their moving ranks. Only a few bore the enemy banner of the Viet Cong.

In San Francisco also there was an orderly march, with the throng estimated at 30,000.

And throughout the nation, there were smaller marches, less publicized but full of the same meaning: The war is wrong. We must get out. It was never our war.

Most of the marchers were young. But there were older men and women, too — "squares" who joined to show that the "silent majority" is not a single-minded agglomeration, as some would have it.

MOSTLY, THE MESSAGE was simply in the marching. But there were some words said that carried meaning.

Sen. George McGovern told the Washington throng: "We are all prisoners of war and we long to be free." Sen. Charles E. Goodell said: "We do advocate peace with pride and honor —the pride and honor that comes when a nation has made a mistake, recognizes it and gets out of that mistake."

And folksinger Peter Seeger, between refrains of his songs, shouted: "Do you hear us, Mr. Nixon?"

Five blocks away, in a heavily guarded White House, the President must have heard.

UNICEF Response Termed Beautiful

I would like to take this opportunity publicly to thank all the people who helped to make trick-or-treat for UNICEF such a success this year and especially all the children who took the time to carry a UNICEF carton.

Over $1,000 was donated in the Terra Linda and Santa Venetia areas, including some Sunday schools in these areas with enrollments from throughout the county. What a beautiful response!

Thank you, too, for the publicity you gave us; I'm sure that it was helpful in bringing such a good response.

Mobile Homes Pay Their Share

In answer to Mr. Arnold Baptiste's statement quoted in the paper on Nov. 11 and 12 that mobile home owners can vote on special district elections, but don't pay their share of taxes, I would like to reply.

I say we do pay our share of taxes! They are included in our rent payments. What about the people that live in apartments, or rented homes? They pay the taxes in their rents, too, and they vote, too, if they care to register. The mobile home owner at least owns his own home. And he pays high rent for the small space that his mobile sits on. The owner of the court pays a high rate of taxes here in Marin County for the ground he developed into the court. So, that money is divided up between all the special districts.

I could not afford to keep up the taxes on my home and ground, nor could I keep up the property as it should be. Therefore I sold it and moved into a mobile. I live alone. Now the income from my home helps provide for my living, which I needed very much. I do not have a big yard and garden to care for. I don't have to worry about getting help, which was expensive, and at times, very unsatisfactory . . .

Over the many years we owned our own homes in many different cities, I feel we paid our share of taxes for school and other districts. Part of the time we didn't even have a child in school. Later, we sent one child through school, and paid more taxes on our two lots than other families did on one lot that had several children.

It gripes me to tears to hear these people of high incomes, griping all the time, and trying to take the privilege away from lower income people, or elderly people with much lower incomes, and those who have paid taxes for 40 years or more, to live in mobile homes, or in other words, homes of their own choice. We are not trying to tell those people what kind of homes they have to live in, and pay for . . .

I can remember when Marin County didn't want to rent to service families. Now if they pulled Hamilton Field out of here the county would go broke.

Same chance . . .

Miller Opponents Shifting Stand

Several important aspects of the mental health controversy have not been reported and /or questioned in the stories carried by your newspaper.

For example: The group of people (e.g. Mrs. Trudi Baum, Mrs. Sally Mishkind, Dr. Alvin Haag) who were opposed to Dr. Clyde Miller have shifted their position from It Is Dr. Miller's Personality That Is Offensive To Us to Anyone Who Opposes Dr. Wilson Is Unacceptable To Us. I expect that this shift is not lost on our board of supervisors or the reading public.

The fact that Dr. Wanerman's differences with Dr. Wilson might have some basis in fact is not considered by this group. Dr. Wilson abruptly abolished the children's service early in August, removing Dr. Wanerman from his post as deputy director in charge of this service. This children's service was widely hailed as excellent; as late as this past April, I heard Dr. Wilson, speaking is a meeting with some of his staff, say "the children's service is the best organized and administered unit of the Community Mental Health Center." Yet a few months later he saw fit to abolish this unit and remove Dr. Wanerman, who was responsible for much of the program, from his post.

If Mrs. Baum, Dr. Haag, Mrs. Sally Mishkind and their group feel that the resolution of this conflict lies in appointing to the post of interim director of Community Mental Health Services someone who is not critical of Dr. Wilson and his activities at the Center, then I suggest they address themselves to the question that should logically follow. Has Dr. Wilson demonstrated his competence to be given such an unsupervised trust? . . .

Mrs. Baum and her group also opposed the proposal to remove the outpatient services from the administration of Marin General Hospital on the grounds that this would "fragment the program" Their opposition on administrative grounds is remarkable in that just as little as a year ago when the previous board of supervisors decided to include the outpatient services under the hospital administration, every agency and association concerned with mental health and illness, including the Marin Association for Mental Health, took an official stand opposing this and urged that they be kept under county administration.

HELSINKI — As the long winter darkness settles down here in this northern capital, a handful of men are committed to the search for a way out of the nuclear trap. A delegation from the Soviet Union and a delegation from the United States have come together for the long-delayed strategic arms limitation talks.

By all rights — the rights of generations yet unborn — this should be the most momentous conference since that first unearthly flash of atomic particles lit up the sky over the New Mexico proving ground. It is either/or: either the swift upward spiral of the arms race costing ever-more billions of dollars or a pause for stock taking and the hope of a gradual levelling off and eventually a reduction in the arsenals of the two giants.

Yet, even as the conference begins with a phase of preliminary discussion, most observers take a dour and cynical view. Both sides are so positioned that they cannot afford to make the mutual concessions which must be part of any agreement, or so it seems to those on the sidelines.

The war in Vietnam deeply divides and distracts the United States. The roar of protest and counter-protest is so loud that what is beginning here seems like a distant and almost inaudible sideshow.

Then there is the swift pace of new strategic technology — the multi-warhead missile (MIRV), the anti-ballistic missile, the Russian's blockbust ss-9. If a moratorium cannot be agreed upon to hold up MIRV in the first weeks of the new year, it may be too late. Inspection and control will then be all but impossible.

WITHIN the American delegation, headed by Gerrard C. Smith, director of the arms control agency, this defeatist view is sternly rejected. Granted, the testing of MIRV has gone a long way in the United States and probably also in the Soviet Union. Nevertheless since neither side has a MIRV pinpointed for the other side's missiles, the whole argument for the anti-ballistic missile, so bitterly fought over in the Senate, falls through.

This is hope and it is perhaps also faith on the part of Smith and the other members of the delegation. But they are aware of the realities, of the changed circumstances, on both sides of the divide complicating and confusing an already incredibly complicated negotiation.

In the summer of 1963 the United States concluded with the Soviet Union a limited test-ban agreement. Both sides agreed to stop nuclear explosions in the atmosphere. Both sides have continued to set off deep underground explosions.

THAT NEGOTIATION six years ago was kindergarten exercise compared to what is contemplated in the "SALT" talks. At that time the entire civilian establishment in the Pentagon was committed to the test-ban agreement. The situatuon is today almost completely reversed.

The then secretary of defense, Robert S. McNamara, recalls that he set out to convince the Joint Chiefs of Staff that they were wrong in opposing the test ban. They talked for three solid weeks and in the end the JCS assented to the test ban.

Today the systems analysis that McNamara built is gutted. The JCS today oppose any moratorium on NIRV, and there is no one in sight who would make the case with them for an agreement properly policed. As one of the leading scientists who formerly played a leading part in weapons research put it recently: "I feel when I get back today that I am in a Goldwater Pentagon."

This has given the disarmers a sense of isolation. Smith is on a very short leash.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Morality Raises Its Weary Head Briefly Again In San Francisco

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—San Francisco, the jewel city of the Golden West, is a most peculiar city with respect to the normal morals of a community. For more than a century, it has been noted as an "open" city, which tolerates almost everything from hootch to hop, ladies of the night, and other forms of so-called pleasures.

Everyone who lived in or visited the city frequently during the old Prohibition days was aware of the fact that enforcement of the 18th Amendment and the Wright Act was barely perfunctory, and that a people who felt restrictions were for the sea gulls were not likely to cooperate wholeheartedly in the enforcement of laws designed to put the clamp on personal pleasure or cut down profits.

APPARENTLY, the theory has persisted over the years, as the city is now in the throes of a controversy with the state Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control over the enforcement of today's liquor laws.

The question is the operation of the so-called "breakfast clubs," which are establishments in which liquor is sold in violation of state laws between 2 and 6 a.m.

The clubs are the subject of attack by a newspaper in the city, and in a high dudgeon of self-righteousness, the board of supervisors has asked Gov. Ronald Reagan to step up law enforcement. Reagan turned the request over to the proper state officer, Edward J. Kirby, director of the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control.

APPARENTLY, the San Francisco supervisors had forgotten that Kirby, a little less than six months ago, made the "breakfast clubs" the subject of a special investigation and turned over evidence to the San Francisco district attorney, which resulted in 44 arrests and 21 cases turned over to local courts.

Seven cases were dismissed, five received fines of $25 each, and seven were fined $35 each. Abatement was recommended by the state in three cases, but no action was taken.

During the probe into the breakfast club situation, the department took action against five tenderloin licenses for "B-girl" violations and is seeking revocation of the licenses.

IT WAS ON the San Francisco tenderloin that "topless" waitresses virtually had their beginning some years ago, and continue to work despite the efforts of the department to eliminate this form of costume (or no costume) in the service of alcoholic beverages.

Aside from its tolerance in matters of morals, San Francisco can be aroused to take real "clean-up" action when things get too bad. This has been happening occasionally ever since the days of the vigilantes, who cleaned up the town back in the gold mining days. The lessening of activities on the old Barbary Coast was another example earlier in the century of a San Francisco briefly adopting morality as a step-child.

Whether the current dispute with state is another indignant go at morality, or merely an effort to blame another law enforcement agency for allowing publicized questionable activities to continue, remains to be seen. But it can be assumed that when the shouting blows over, San Francisco will be the same tolerant city it has been since its beginning.

And when it comes down to the real nitty gritty, who wants it otherwise? A few oases in a desert of righteousness might build the state's image!

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Nov. 18, 1959

Twenty-seven candidates were entered in the race for seats on the Novato City Council, the biggest field for any city council race in Marin history.

Officials of the undefeated Redwood Junior Giants football team started a fund-raising drive to send the squad to Boise, Ida., for a post-season bowl game.

20 YEARS AGO

Nov. 19, 1949

North Bay commuters rallied behind the Independent-Journal's program for a permanent end to interruptions in San Rafael-Richmond transportation service, which called for bridge linking Marin and Contra Costa counties.

Southern Baptists Not Unanimous

Dr. W. A. Criswell, in his recently publicized statement on the anti-war movement, did not necessarily speak for any Southern Baptist other than himself.

As president of the Southern Baptist Convention, his primary function is to preside at meetings of that body. No other special powers go with the office.

There are a number of Southern Baptists, of whom I am one, who are not willing to brand the entire protest movement as "traitorous".

Split In Congress Party Perils Indian Democracy

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Nearly 23 years under a tricolor banner bearing Gandhi's spinning wheel and a pair of yoked bullocks, symbol at the ballot box, the Congress party has ruled India.

Today the party is split, many think beyond repair, threatening not only the party but the future of parliamentary rule in India as well.

The fight is between Mrs. Indira Ghandi, who has not distinguished herself as a prime minister but has proved adept at political survival, and the "Syndicate," the old party bosses struggling to protect their freedoms in the cities and in India's 17 separate states.

THE CONGRESS Party is an inheritance from Mohandas K. Gandhi, who based his campaign for independence from Britain on non-violence. The late Jawaharlal Nehru, father of the prime minister, held it together by the force of his personality.

It is India's only national party. And, in the absence of another Nehru, its disintegration could leave a vacuum no other political party could fill.

The party leaders, for the most part aging and conservative, brought Mrs. Gandhi into the prime minister's job three and a half years ago on the theory she would be tractible to their dictates and would help them at the polls in 1967. Neither came to pass.

THE POWER struggle came into the open last summer.

In July, the party bosses put up a candidate for the Indian presidency whom she bitterly opposed. She retaliated by firing her finance minister, Morarji Desai, a member of the syndicate.

In a sudden move she nationalized India's 14 largest private banks, an action she said would take money out of the hands of the industrial tycoons and make credit more easily available to small businessmen and farmers.

She further proposed land reform and sharing of industrial profits with workers.

She described her proposals as "democratic socialism" in the manner of her father. She then went ahead and won the national presidency for her own candidate, V.V. Giri.

LAST WEEK the Syndicate fired her from the party and moved to oust her from the prime ministership, but she won a parliamentary vote of confidence to keep her in power— at least for the time being.

Religious strife is mounting between India's 50 million Moslems and roughly 450 million Hindus.

THE UNITED STATES, with some $9 billion already invested in India, is growing tired of aid without visible results. Indian moves toward closer ties with Communist North Vietnam cannot increase U.S. good will.

Her opposition says her moves toward socialism will mean the rape of democracy. She says it will be India's salvation.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

One of those under-40 geniuses who built a billion-dollar conglomerate out of a dinky Texas hamburger stand in six years was reminded during a three-minute lull in his wheelings and dealings that his daughter at finishing school was celebrating her 16th birthday the next day. He hurriedly sent her a check for $10,000 and went back to work.

A few days later he got the check back from his daughter with a note saying, "The thought — and the amount — were both gratifying, but the bank says you better use another signature." The check to his daughter had been signed —"Love, Dad."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Visible House Numbers Needed; Also Non-Confusing Street Names

With the end of daylight saving time and the days growing shorter, the Novato Fire Department has asked that residents check their house numbers so that they are plainly visible at night. This would aid not only firemen but anyone else trying to find an address in a hurry for an emergency.

It would aid newspaper boys and others trying to make deliveries. Residents should occasionally check their house numbers to see if they have become hidden in summer's plant growth or if they have been painted over during the summer.

THE NOVATO FIRE district board must soon come to grips with the problem of filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Donald Donaghue.

The board received a petition with 314 signatures on Oct. 8 asking that the candidate receiving the third number of votes in the recent election be named to the board. He is Richard W. Price, who has run twice for the board.

Commissioner Henry V. Alvernaz said he wants to appoint the third highest candidate. Commissioner Peter J. Ferrarese, chairman of the board, favors appointing William Kirk, former member of the Novato Unified School District board although Kirk did not run. In an unofficial tally, the fire board is divided 3-1 for Kirk.

Price is the president of the Novato volunteer Fireman and has the backing of that organization and the Novato Firemen's Association.

NOVATO IS the fastest growing city in Marin County. As such, it has had and will continue to have many subdivisions. All of these require names for their streets.

Even as young as the city is, confusing duplication of names is developing. Some similar names that cause confusion are: Carmen and Carmel, Kathy and Katlas, and Kristin and Kristy.

Then there are names duplicated except for being called street, lane, court, road, or boulevard. Some of these are miles apart and if an address fails to have the last designation, it leaves nothing for a person to do but go all over the city looking for an address.

Nave Court and Nave Drive are four miles apart, and these are not to be confused with Nova Lane which is two miles from Nave Court.

There are also Ignacio Boulevard, Ignacio Lane and Ignacio Service Road; San Luis Court, San Luis Drive and San Luis way.

Some names that baffle understanding are: Redwood Highway, Redwood Boulevard, Redwood Road and Redwood Road North. Then there are Sunset Court, Sunset Drive, Sunset Parkway and Sunset Trail, all scattered over the city.

Perhaps the city planners and city council could do something about this duplication and similarity before it becomes so well established it will be confusing for all time.

Acrobatic Dancer First Place Winner

A 10-year-old acrobatic dancer from San Rafael placed first in the little miss division of the Talented Tot Pageant sponsored by the Strawberry Town and Country Village Saturday at the shopping center.

Top winner was Debbie Hedquist of 454 Blackstone Drive, Marinwood. The tiny miss division for girls under seven was won by Barbara Eckley, 5, of 17 Pueblo Drive, San Rafael.

Sessions Delayed

Regular meetings of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency scheduled for tmorrow night have been postponed until 7:30 p.m. Nov. 25 at Marin City's Manzanita Center.

ART BUCHWALD

Agnew Won't Dump Nixon; He Has Plans For Running Mate

WASHINGTON — Despite rumors that have been rampant in Washington in the past few months, I can now reliably report that Vice President Spiro Agnew has no intention of dumping Richard Nixon in 1972. A spokesman for the vice president told me that Agnew was very satisfied with the job his President was doing, and that he even intended to give him more responsibilities than any vice president has ever given his President before.

The spokesman said, "I have been authorized to say that Vice President Agnew is proud of Mr. Nixon and feels the President has been a tremendous help to him in taking some of the vice president's awesome burdens off his shoulders. Despite criticism of Mr. Nixon's speeches, Mr. Agnew has no intention of asking to see copies of them in advance."

"HOW DOES Mr. Agnew intend to make fuller use of his President?"

"The vice president has urged the President to get more exposure. For example, last week Mr. Agnew sent the President up to Capitol Hill to thank Congress for its support on the Vietnam issue. The vice president has issued orders that President Nixon be briefed on every important decision that Mr. Agnew makes. He has made Mr. Nixon feel he is one of the family.

"But," I asked, "when President Nixon speaks out as he has been doing lately, is he speaking for himself or for the Agnew administration?"

"The Vice President sees Mr. Nixon's role as that of a missionary to explain the administration's policies and to seek support for them. The President fills a basic need, touching on subjects that the vice president of the United States is in no position to discuss. Also, by turning over to President Nixon such day-to-day chores as Vietnam, disarmament, inflation, the urban crisis and the Middle East, the vice president can devote himself the the important issues the country is interested in, such as moratoriums, students, snobs and intellectuals and the coverage of TV news."

"IT HAS BEEN bandied about that Mr. Agnew chose Mr. Nixon as his President to win the South. Is there any truth to this?"

"Absolutely none. Mr. Agnew chose Mr. Nixon because he considered him the best man for the job. Agnew's so-called southern strategy has been made up by a handful of elite TV commentators who are prejudiced and opinionated. The vice president is not interested in politics. His only concern is what is best for the country."

"Does it bother the vice president that sometimes Presidnet Nixon gets bigger headlines than he does?"

"Never. Vice President Humphrey was always angered when President Johnson took the spotlight away from him, but Mr. Agnew feels there are enough headlines for everyone. Also, he believes that the more he gives President Nixon to do, the less the President will feel left out of things.

"The vice president not only took Mr. Nixon with him to Cape Kennedy for the moon shot, but made sure the President was seated next to him in the grandstand so Mr. Nixon could share some of the glory."

Chamber Elects In Mill Valley

Four incumbents and one new director were elected yesterday to the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce board, Secretary-Mgr. Granville L. Beedle reported.

Elected were Normand B. Black, owner, El Marin florist, and incumbents Richard C. Conrad, manager, Pacific Gas and Electric Co.; Jack Packard, manager, Crocker-Citizens National Bank; Louis J. Pizzio, owner, Lou's Chevron Service; and Samuel W. Schneider, co-owner, Varney's Hardware store.

Black will replace Director Guido A. Todaro who retired from the board.

Election of officers will be held at noon, Dec. 1, in the Mill Valley School District offices.

Sanity Check Set For Youth

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday appointed two psychiatrists to examine Thomas R. Cunningham, 19, of no known address, to determine if there is doubt as to his present sanity.

Cunningham, who was recently released from El Dorado County Jail after serving time for a joyriding conviction, is accused of passing a check at a Fairfax store Sept. 5 to which he signed his father's name.

During proceedings in El Dorado County he was found to be sane after a hearing.

Closed, Open Reed District Board Talks Set

Reading achievement test results will be discussed by the Reed School District board at 9 p.m. today at the Bel Aire School.

At 7:30 p.m. the board will hold a closed session to instruct the board's representative in negotiations with the Reed School District Teachers' Association regarding the district's report card policy. The negotiation panel will meet at 5 p.m. tomorrow at Del Mar School.

Supt. Robert B. Gaw said the board decided to meet in closed session, which it is allowed but not required to do under state law, because it believed it would be easier to work out an "agreeable solution" in private rather than in public in front of an audience of approximately 300 persons.

At 8 p.m., the board will hold a joint workshop session with the finance committee to discuss school financing.

Also on the regular board agenda will be discussion of the educationally handicapped program and a salary increase request for 1970-71 by teachers.

Sausalito Sets Four More Central Waterfront Rounds

By PAT ANGLE

Sausalito's embattled central waterfront plan will come under careful scrutiny by the Sausalito City Council in a series of four meetings planned for the next four weeks, the council decided last night.

According to Councilman Jan Paul Dyk, the council "needs time to digest all the information it has received" in seven public hearings on the plan, which has been challenged by an 11th hour attempt to alter it by members of the Coalition for an Open Waterfront.

The coalition seeks parks and open space in the waterfront plan, rather than the extensive parking areas and commercial development presently envisioned by the planners. Under the coalition proposal, tourists would park near the edge of town, then be brought into the business district by transportation such as shuttle buses.

The lines of battle held firm at last night's final public hearing at which William E. Spangle Jr., San Mateo planning consultant who drafted the waterfront proposal, again told the council he saw "no justification for changing" his plan.

The atmosphere of the hearing was calm and orderly as the more than 60 residents gathered in the council chambers listened quietly to proponents of both plans.

Spangle, however, did suggest that the language of the proposal be changed "so that it will not preclude future use of areas designated for parking for other public purposes" — such as parks.

The council picked up the suggestion eagerly. Dyk asked how the city could acquire the privately-owned parking lot if, at some future date, it decided "to put the land to a better use."

Spangle replied the city could buy the property or ask the owners to dedicate it to city use.

Councilman Robin Sweeny suggested the parking areas could be designated as future parks in the waterfront plan, with the understanding they would be used for autos only temporarily.

Stephen Fraser, leader of the coalition and a professor of government at Sonoma State College, said that if the city "wants parks and open space in its waterfront area, the city should plan for it now."

Two differing legal views on the coalition's suggestion to close certain of the city's main streets to tourist traffic on weekends and holidays were presented to the council last night.

City Atty. Leland H. Jordan prepared a brief for the council saying he does not believe the streets could legally be closed to tourists, but open to residents, during certain peak periods.

On the other hand, Edward N. Thompson, coalition attorney, presented a report citing sections of the California Government Code which he said "would allow the city to close the streets to prevent traffic congestions which endangers both motorists and pedestrians."

Thompson attempted to explain his opinion but was cut off sharply by Mayor Earl F. Dunphy who said the council had no intention "of hearing a legal debate."

Councilman Wyman Hicks, however, pointed out that a traffic planner hired by the city in 1966 recommended the street closure as the only means of relieving congestion in the downtown area.

Spangle agreed measures should be taken to discourage traffic from entering Sausalito from the south. "We are prepared to ask the Division of Highways to change the southern sign saying 'Sausalito' on Highway 101 to read 'Fort Baker and Alexander Avenue,' thus encouraging traffic to enter by the northern route."

H. Eric Borgwardt, city planning director, told the council: "No matter how much Sausalito would like to isolate itself, this would not necessarily be easy or possible."

He asked the council to realize that a certain group of Sausalito had been missing from the public hearings on the plan, what he termed "the silent majority." The expression drew laughs from the audience. "Here I am," a voice called out.

"We have to serve all of our residents, the people who pay the taxes," Borgwardt continued, adding that providing open space and parks instead of parking could be "costly to the city."

City Mgr. George M. Patterson made no recommendations to the council on which plan to adopt, but read a report he had written to refute a charge by Dennis Canning of the coalition that Sausalito residents were subsidizing tourists "to the tune of $200,000 a year."

Emphasizing his remarks were not meant as "a justification for tourism," the city manager said Canning's report contained "many errors in fact and judgment."

"The business area provides the city with more revenue than expended for it," Patterson stated. According to his figures, the city manager said, the business community brings in about $754,000 in revenue and receives only $48,300 in benefits. The residents, according to Patterson, received $765,000 in benefits, but revenue derived from them is $464,563.

"I have no idea where Canning got his figures," Patterson stated, "but his errors indicate he does not understand much about the operation of city government."

The council agreed to four meetings, Nov. 24, Dec. 4, Dec. 9 and Dec. 15, to further discuss the two opposing plans. At the suggestion of Councilman Hicks, who drew enthusiastic applause when he described the Spangle plan as "a Coney Island," the council will begin the intensive study by discussing "Sausalito's general goals and the legal aspects of adopting such a plan."

Following the meeting, Fraser said he felt the council would approach both plans "with an open mind."

"I think the coalition has been successful in that we have raised certain questions in the minds of the council," he said. "I think they are seriously asking themselves what they really want for Sausalito in the future."

Marinites Recite How Other Schools Teach

Innovative schools in five states were described in often-bemused tones last night by two members of the Marin County Board of Education who visited them on a "journey for relevance." (Another education board story, page 1)

The trip (financed from the county schools service funds, at state taxpayers' expense) was to schools in Florida, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Nevada. It was taken by board members Marilyn Crowell and Lee C. Richardson, County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis, and Asst. Supt. Stanley D. Friese.

Mrs. Crowell was impressed that at Nova Schools, the original "educational park" in Broward County, Fla., no tests are given in the classroom. Children take their test assignment slip to a test center, where a teacher aide gives the examination. Teachers aides are used much more in all the schools visited than they are in Marin, she said.

"I didn't realize that in other areas the people buy the books for their children," she reported. She was surprised also to find that in Evanston, Ill., the school budget must be submitted to the electorate for approval (a situation common to most of the northeastern states also).

Richardson was most impressed by the two-campus Abington High School near Philadelphia, "one of the strictest schools I've ever been in," which expels students for smoking on campus.

Another of the schools visited, he said, had gone so heavily for computers that "I got the impression if the computer broke down, the school would self-destruct."

An unusual feature at Abington, he reported, is that each teacher is rated annually by an evalutation committee including faculty and public members. If a teacher is given a less than satisfactory rating two years in a row, his salary drops back to the state minimum.

Hollis noted that all five high schools visited had closed campuses, and "the principals all declared they wouldn't have it any other way."

All four were much impressed by the Clark County High School in Las Vegas, which has achieved innovations and flexibility in class offerings while scheduling on 70-minute periods and spending less per student than high schools in Marin.

The Marin County Board of Education also:

OVERKILL — In response to a request for more detailed financial reports, received from Byron Mauzy, director of business services, a 127-page computer printout of expenses and receipts for the last three months.

TEMPORARY CERTIFICATES — Approved 10 temporary certificates for teachers who are awiting state credential approval.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Civa Mee of Corte Madera, who has been a teacher in the retarded child program, to replace Gay Cronberg, who resigned as instructional aide in the school for deaf children at Bolinas; Marlene Haspiel of Stinson Beach, to teach a class of deaf children one day weekly; Theresa Chapman and Charlanne Wheaton as naturalists for the county schools' outdoor camp.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Kidney Stone A Phenomen Of Equestrians, Rough Roads

VAN DELLEN

At the Lake Zurich Golf club we have an have balloon tires, shock absorbers, or cushhave balloon tires, shock absorvers, or cruioned seats.

Guests are known to groan and squirm whenever we take them for a tour because the road through the woods and along the fairways is rough.

I wondered what happened in "ye olden days" when people with backache or arthritis had to travel by carriage or horse.

My attention was drawn to a short article on calculi and carriages that appeared in the Bulletin of the New York Academy of Medicine. It seems that centuries ago, physicians recommended a jolting ride to jar loose kidney stones (calculi).

AMBROISE PARE was an early advocate of this unique treatment. "If he can, let the patient on a bucking horse and ride about two miles. If he has not the means to do this, let him climb up and down many stairs many times until he is tired and sweaty. By this exercise the stone is often shaken into the bladder."

Calculi cause pain only when they move. Physicians have long known that body movements might shake them loose. This happened to Thomas Sydenham (1624-1689) more than once while walking or riding in a coach over rough stones.

Similar experiences were recorded by other authors. "Not only does this occur after horse exercise, but even after riding in a carriage with springs."

A MEMBER of the New York Academy of Medicine recently had a similar experience. While in Rome, he had a transient attack of renal colic. During a period of relief, he hired a carriage and rode along the cobbled streets to Garibaldi park.

The stone shifted and by 2 a.m., the painful colic returned. The author of the article remarked facetiously: "When they import stones, the Romans use trucks, not carriages."

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

EARRING RASH

S.P. writes: When I wear earrings, my ear lobes become irritated and scabs develop. Can the earrings be coated with anything to make them less irritating?

REPLY

This type of outbreak usually represents a sensitivity to nickel. Dipping the earrings in clear nail polish offers protection for several hours, provided you are not allergic to nail polish. If money is no object, have the accessories silverplated.

DIET FOR OLDSTERS

P. C. writes: Will you please tell us in your column if cucumbers, chocolate, and animal fats are harmful to a senior citizen (female)?

REPLY

Animal fats may increase the cholesterol level and the weight but there is no need for concern if these conditions are not troublesome. There is no harm in the other products you mentioned, provided an idiosyncrasy to these foods does not exist.

PAINFUL SPINE

P. E. writes: Could arthritis cause pain at the end of the spine?

REPLY

Yes, but there are other causes. Our leaflet on painful coccyx can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

CARDIAC PATHOLOGY

V. R. writes: What does cardiac pathology mean? My chest X-ray report had this statement on it.

REPLY

This refers to an abnormality of the heart that could vary from enlargement to calcification of a valve.

BREATHING TOO FAST

G. E. writes: How can hyperventilation syndrome be cured?

REPLY

In this condition, the individual unconsciously breathes too rapidly. The carbon dioxide that accumulates produces dizziness, numbness, tingling and palpitation. Control of the syndrome requires that the person realize what is happening and make a conscious effort to stop breathing too fast, especially when nervous. An old remedy is breathing into a paper bag.

DRY MOUTH

A reader writes: What can be done to eliminate a dry throat and mouth? It is very uncomfortable and drinking water seems to help only temporarily. person tell if he has tuberculosis?

REPLY

Nervousness is the most common cause assuming that you are not dehydrated or taking drugs. Sucking on hard candy or chewing a stick of gum may be helpful.

TB TESTS

A reader writes: How can a person tell if he has tuberculosis?

REPLY

By the use of a chest X-ray and sputum studies.

TWO PILLOWS OR NONE

A reader writes: Is it better to sleep with the head elevated or level?

REPLY

Whichever is more comfortable.

New Yorker Urges Joint Transit Push

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A New York legislator suggested to California lawmakers yesterday that the two states combine forces to pressure the federal government to develop prototype mass transportation systems in the nation's two most populous states.

"Until we see some mass transit hardware in use, we are never going to convince legislators . . . to move from the one-car, one-man philosophy of transportation," said Sen. Edward Spino, chairman of the New York Legislature's committee on transportation.

JOINT CALL

He asked members of California's Senate Transportation Committee to coordinate efforts offering state funds, "say 10 per cent each," to motivate the federal government to finance experiments in mass transportation.

He suggested that a different mode of rapid transit be developed in each state.

Spino also urged California Sen. Alan Short's committee to follow New York's example and move from "a highway oriented department of public works to a transportation department concerned with the entire air, land and water transportation problem."

He said he felt it was "unrealistic" to plan mass transportation by any means other than state subsidy.

AIRPORT JAMS'

Also appearing before the committee during hhe first of four days of hearings here and in Los Angeles, consultant Henry Evans compared the ground traffic jams at airports to the transportation problems of downtown business districts.

"We have the same mass transit problems of the urban cores," he said. San Francisco International Airport, for example, has 21,000 employees, the equivalent of the central business district of a city of 200,000 persons.

"One of our problems at many airports is that they are served by just one freeway," he added. "In San Francisco, the airport generates 40,000 to 50,000 auto trips a day — that's half a freeway full of traffic."

RAPID TRANSIT

He said that some airports particularly San Francisco, Los Angeles and New York-could be served by rapid transit, but that at many airports there is no one point of origin of airport workers or passengers.

Vice President Leonard M. Horner of the Sikorsky Aircraft Division of United Aircraft Corp., developers of the Penn-Central's new turbotrains said it will take public help to revive inter-city rail transportation.

Thief Returns To Complete His Job

The thief who took a tape deck Sunday from the car of Wim Goeree of Woodacre came back last night to finish the job, Corte Madera poice reported.

Last night the car, parked at a service station at Nellan Drive and Fifer Avenue, was stripped of its steering wheel, shift knob and rear seat speakers, and the thief took a camera from the car as well, police said.

Two bicycles were stolen in San Rafael last week, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

A $60 aqua and white bicycle owned by Debbie Ann Ford, 9, of 16 Cabrillo Court was stolen Wednesday or Thursday from the bicycle parking area at the Santa Margarita School and the $20 gold and chrome bicycle of Charles M. Williams, Jr., 98 Upper Oak Drive was taken from St. Isabella's School during the same time.

Computer Uses In Medi-Cal Program Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A doctors' group says the state could save $5.5 million a year in its expensive Medi-Cal program by programming into a computer the records of doctors and patients.

The United Foundations for Medical Care proposed yesterday the system be installed statewide. It was tested this past year by the San Joaquin Foundation for Medical Care under contract with the state Office of Health Care Services.

The foundation's Peer Review Committee—doctors who question claims submitted by other doctors before they are forwarded for payment — kept careful computerized "profiles" of the physicians' services and the treatment received by the patients.

Two Trucks Are Hit By Vandals

Two trucks were hit by vandals in San Rafael during the last five days, police reported today.

Welfare Aide To Join Finch

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Social Welfare Director John C. Montgomery, a charter member of Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration, resigned yesterday to become an adviser to Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Robert Finch.

Montgomery, 36, whose resignation had been rumored for some time, told Reagan in a letter he was resigning with "mixed emotions."

He will be a special assistant to Finch on intergovernmental relations. He will leave effective Nov. 30.

Stolen Checks Probation Set

A 20-year-old Oregon woman was sentenced in absentia yesterday in Marin Superior Court after she had admitted cashing two checks stolen from the Atlas Paper Co. in San Francisco.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson placed Zola Mae Van Dolah of Salem on six months probation and ordered her to make $105 restitution. He also gave her a 60-day jail sentence.

The judge had agreed to sentence Miss Van Dolah in her absence after learning that she did not have the funds to travel to Marin from Oregon.

Miss Van Dolah was arrested Feb. 7 after she cashed a stolen check at the Emporium. She was also accused of cashing three other checks, but two of the counts were dismissed when she pleaded guilty to two counts.

What Makes The Nielsen Chart Work

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nielsen ratings, that yardstick of television popularity and, of longevity, may have shortcomings, but often reveals the public's reaction to network programming.

For instance, when Bob Hope turns up in one of his NBC specials, the kind that starts with a topical monologue by the star and slides into an assortment of sketches, it invariably lands on top of the next ratings chart or close to it.

Yet the durable Hope and company turned up Nov. 6 in an awkward hybridized version of the stage musical "Roberta"—and its 90 minutes of song and comedy missed even the top third of the Nielsen list.

The ratings, based on an audience sample which reveals only when the family set is turned on can call the popularity shots but it is anybody's guess why the audience tuned in or turned off.

The same Nielsens, for the week of Nov. 2-9, indicated that CBS' "Mission: Impossible" shot up suddenly in popularity. The show has been worrying network people because of its lower ratings which they tended to blame on what is called "a weak lead-in"—i.e. It follows "The Leslie Uggams Show," now canceled.

Is the bloom off "Laugh-in?" That senior citizen at CBS, "Gunsmoke," once again took top honors for the week. It was followed by ABC's newcomer, "Marcus Welby, M.D." The NBC comedy romp starring Rowan and Martin was third.

CBS has a mystery to worry over, too. Frank Sinatra's tuneful special was 45th on a list of 86 shows, a fraction of a point ahead of Leslie Uggams' show.

CBS won the weekly race with an average of 20.1, followed by NBC with 18.4 and ABC, 16.8.

At this point, ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D.," "Movie of the Week" and "Room 222" can be counted as freshman hits assured of a second season. So can NBC's "Bill Cosby Show" and CBS' "Jim Nabors Show"—five out of 22 new series, about par for any season.

An estimated million head of cattle in South America die each year from rabies inflicted by vampire bats, says National Geographic.

TV REVIEW

Some Points On Agnew's Media Talk

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Some points about Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's criticism of television news presentation:

The vice president was upset, in part, by network analyses that immediately followed President Richard M. Nixon's Nov. 3 speech on Vietnam. The latest national rating indicate that CBS-TV's post-speech analysis ranked 11th among 86 programs tabulated for the week ending Nov. 9.

The networks have publicly suggested their fear of pressure because television depends on government licensing. But they have been careful to make clear they are not above criticism. While the so-called "silent majority" is downgraded in some quarters, it is precisely this type of audience that the networks depend on every day to get the highest ratings for their shows.

Television has really been taking it on the chin. There was the Agnew speech. And a report issued in conjunction with the Alfred I. Du Point-Columbia University Broadcast Journalism Awards criticized video for not being as pertinent in its documentaries as in its fine coverage of live events (such as the Moon flight). "Some say we're too tough and others say we're not tough enough," says a network news official. "All we really are is human."

Unquestionably, television is sensitive to unhappy viewers who have reacted against constant visualization of national discord, from the 1968 Democratic Convention to recent disorders. Some viewers are simply annoyed by the news itself, which is on video. Others blame television for provoking events. In either case, the home screen becomes the focus of discontent (except for those who admire video news. And, privately, some major network executives admit Agnew's speech was politically astute in its timing.

Perhaps the most diplomatic and subtly provocative comment on the Agnew speech by a member of the Nixon administration came from Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, who said in part: "I think this (inquiry) is one of the good things that has blown out of the student challenge of our institutions. All our institutions are under sharp inquiry and I think it is a healthy thing." According to the Los Angeles Times, Finch also said he personally had no complaints about the news media.

The old journalistic saw that a reporter is not as important as his story, and should keep himself out of it, is being forcibly modified on television, simply by the medium's existence. In addition, growing sophistication in the nation has resulted in greater general interest in the media. For example, three current best-sellers deal with the subject: "The Selling of the President 1968," "The Kingdom and The Power" and "Prime Time: The Life of Edward R. Murrow."

John Barrymore Is Out Of Jail

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor John Barrymore Jr. was released from jail after sheriff's deputies said traces of marijuana found in his car could not be linked to him.

Deputies also said drugs discovered in the vehicle by police after a high speed chase early Sunday are not considered dangerous under California law.

The 37-year-old son of the late matinee idol John Barrymore and his 18-year-old companion, Anthony B. Fairbanks, were freed yesterday after the district attorney refused to issue a narcotics complaint.

Family Fuss Ends Freedom Of 45 Years For Slayer

COMPTON (UPI) — Leonard Thomas Fristoe, 77, goes to court today to begin a cycle of legal proceedings aimed at returning him to Nevada for a pair of murders committed 49 years ago.

"I was one of four children, and I guess I was a little wild," Fristoe said.

Fristoe escaped from the Nevada State Prison in Carson City Dec. 15, 1923. His daughter-in-law turned him in Saturday on a disturbing the peace charge after a family squabble.

"It was quite a life," Fristoe said in his cell. "I escaped from Carson City because I wanted to be free. Since then, I've really burnt the candle at both ends."

Fristoe, weatherbeaten, wrinkled, also his spare hair snowy white, was sent to prison in 1920 for killing two Nevada sheriff's deputies in Ely. They were chasing him after he broke into a store and stole some salt pork, a rifle, ammunition and a car.

Fristoe said he traveled extensively after he escaped in 1923 with another inmate. A year later, he said he shot a man named Rowe in Cuero, Tex., because the man wouldn't pay his oil drilling crew.

Under the alias of Claude Willis, Fristoe married a woman from New York city in 1927. They later moved to Old Orchard Beach near Portland, Maine, before World War II. Fristoe said he made "a million dollars" running a bus line and the Old Everett Hotel there.

He said he later lost all his money in a cattle venture in Wyoming.

His wife died in 1963 and never knew of his past. Fristoe's son, Claude Robert Willis Jr., 39, told police he learned of his father's real name and past only recently.

"He never was one to settle down much. I was not surprised when he told me (about the murders). He used to tell me, 'you never start a fight, but if somebody starts one, do your damndest to finish it,'" Willis said.

To Superior Court On Restricting Drug

Robert Charles Harper, 27, of San Francisco, has been ordered to appear in Marin Superior Court next Monday for arraignment on a charge of possessing a restricted drug, desoxephedrine, and a needle and syringe.

Harper, who gave his name as Robert James Egan when arrested Oct. 3, was bound over to superior court after a preliminary hearing in municipal court Friday.

WARM, WET END FOR FALL

Maps prepared from 30-day forecasts of U.S. Weather Bureau indicate that Marin and Southern Sonoma may have warmer than usual days between now and Dec. 15, and more rain. Last year's high for the period in San Rafael was 69 degrees on Nov. 19 and 63 in Petaluma; low in San Rafael was 37 and in Petaluma 28 degrees. The period saw 8.07 inches of rain in San Rafael compared to a normal 5 inches; Petaluma had only three inches from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15.

Sausalito Sets Four More Central Waterfront Rounds

By PAT ANGLE

Sausalito's embattled central waterfront plan will come under careful scrutiny by the Sausalito City Council in a series of four meetings planned for the next four weeks, the council decided last night.

According to Councilman Jan Paul Dyk, the council "needs time to digest all the information it has received" in seven public hearings on the plan, which has been challenged by an 11th hour attempt to alter it by members of the Coalition for an Open Waterfront.

The coalition seeks parks and open space in the waterfront plan, rather than the extensive parking areas and commercial development presently envisioned by the planners. Under the coalition proposal, tourists would park near the edge of town, then be brought into the business district by transportation such as shuttle buses.

The lines of battle held firm at last night's final public hearing at which William E. Spangle Jr., San Mateo planning consultant who drafted the waterfront proposal, again told the council he saw "no justification for changing" his plan.

The atmosphere of the hearing was calm and orderly as the more than 60 residents gathered in the council chambers listened quietly to proponents of both plans.

Spangle, however, did suggest that the language of the proposal be changed "so that it will not preclude future use of areas designated for parking for other public purposes" — such as parks.

The council picked up the suggestion eagerly. Dyk asked how the city could acquire the privately-owned parking lot if, at some future date, it decided "to put the land to a better use."

Spangle replied the city could buy the property or ask the owners to dedicate it to city use.

Councilman Robin Sweeny suggested the parking areas could be designated as future parks in the waterfront plan, with the understanding they would be used for autos only temporarily.

Stephen Fraser, leader of the coalition and a professor of government at Sonoma State College, said that if the city "wants parks and open space in its waterfront area, the city should plan for it now."

Two differing legal views on the coalition's suggestion to close certain of the city's main streets to tourist traffic on weekends and holidays were presented to the council last night.

City Atty. Leland H. Jordan prepared a brief for the council saying he does not believe the streets could legally be closed to tourists, but open to residents, during certain peak periods.

On the other hand, Edward N. Thompson, coalition attorney, presented a report citing sections of the California Government Code which he said "would allow the city to close the streets to prevent traffic congestions which endangers both motorists and pedestrians."

Thompson attempted to explain his opinion but was cut off sharply by Mayor Earl F. Dunphy who said the council had no intention "of hearing a legal debate"

Councilman Wyman Hicks, however, pointed out that a traffic planner hired by the city in 1966 recommended the street closure as the only means of relieving congestion in the downtown area.

Spangle agreed measures should be taken to discourage traffic from entering Sausalito from the south. "We are prepared to ask the Division of Highways to change the southern sign saying 'Sausalito' on Highway 101 to read 'Fort Baker and Alexander Avenue,' thus encouraging traffic to enter by the northern route."

H. Eric Borgwardt, city planning director, told the council: "No matter how much Sausalito would like to isolate itself, this would not necessarily be easy or possible."

He asked the council to realize that a certain group of Sausalito had been missing from the public hearings on the plan, what he termed "the silent majority." The expression drew laughs from the audience. "Here I am," a voice called out.

"We have to serve all of our residents, the people who pay the taxes," Borgwardt continued, adding that providing open space and parks instead of parking could be "costly to the city."

City Mgr. George M. Patterson made no recommendations to the council on which plan to adopt, but read a report he had written to refute a charge by Dennis Canning of the coalition that Sausalito residents were subsidizing tourists "to the tune of $200,000 a year."

Emphasizing his remarks were not meant as "a justification for tourism," the city manager said Canning's report contained "many errors in fact and judgment."

"The business area provides the city with more revenue than expended for it," Patterson stated. According to his figures, the city manager said, the business community brings in about $754,000 in revenue and receives only $48,300 in benefits. The residents, according to Patterson, received $765,000 in benefits, but revenue derived from them is $464,563.

"I have no idea where Canning got his figures," Patterson stated, "but his errors indicate he does not understand much about the operation of city government."

The council agreed to four meetings, Nov. 24, Dec. 4, Dec. 9 and Dec. 15, to further discuss the two opposing plans. At the suggestion of Councilman Hicks, who drew enthusiastic applause when he described the Spangle plan as "a Coney Island," the council will begin the intensive study by discussing "Sausalito's general goals and the legal aspects of adopting such a plan."

Following the meeting, Fraser said he felt the council would approach both plans "with an open mind."

"I think the coalition has been successful in that we have raised certain questions in the minds of the council," he said. "I think they are seriously asking themselves what they really want for Sausalito in the future."

Marinites Recite How Other Schools Teach

Innovative schools in five states were described in often-bemused tones last night by two members of the Marin County Board of Education who visited them on a "journey for relevance." (Another education board story, page 1)

The trip (financed from the county schools service funds, at state taxpayers' expense) was to schools in Florida, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Nevada. It was taken by board members Marilyn Crowell and Lee C. Richardson, County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis, and Asst. Supt. Stanley D. Friese.

Mrs. Crowell was impressed that at Nova Schools, the original "educational park" in Broward County, Fla., no tests are given in the classroom. Children take their test assignment slip to a test center, where a teacher aide gives the examination. Teachers aides are used much more in all the schools visited than they are in Marin, she said.

"I didn't realize that in other areas the people buy the books for their children," she reported. She was surprised also to find that in Evanston, Ill., the school budget must be submitted to the electorate for approval (a situation common to most of the northeastern states also).

Richardson was most impressed by the two-campus Abington High School near Philadelphia, "one of the strictest schools I've ever been in," which expels students for smoking on campus.

Another of the schools visited, he said, had gone so heavily for computers that "I got the impression if the computer broke down, the school would self-destruct."

An unusual feature at Abington, he reported, is that each teacher is rated annually by an evalutation committee including faculty and public members. If a teacher is given a less than satisfactory rating two years in a row, his salary drops back to the state minimum.

Hollis noted that all five high schools visited had closed campuses, and "the principals all declared they wouldn't have it any other way."

All four were much impressed by the Clark County High School in Las Vegas, which has achieved innovations and flexibility in class offerings while scheduling on 70-minute periods and spending less per student than high schools in Marin.

The Marin County Board of Education also:

OVERKILL — In response to a request for more detailed financial reports, received from Byron Mauzy, director of business services, a 127-page computer printout of expenses and receipts for the last three months.

TEMPORARY CERTIFICATES — Approved 10 temporary certificates for teachers who are awiting state credential approval.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Cliva Mee of Corte Madera, who has been a teacher in the retarded child program, to replace Gay Cronberg, who resigned as instructional aide in the school for deaf children at Bolinas; Marlene Haspiel of Stinson Beach, to teach a class of deaf children one day weekly; Theresa Chapman and Charlanne Wheaton as naturalists for the county schools' outdoor camp.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Kidney Stone A Phenomen Of Equestrians, Rough Roads

VAN DELLEN

At the Lake Zurich Golf club we have an have balloon tires, shock absorbers, or cushhave balloon tires, shock absorvers, or cruioned seats.

Guests are known to groan and squirm whenever we take them for a tour because the road through the woods and along the fairways is rough.

I wondered what happened in "ye olden days" when people with backache or arthritis had to travel by carriage or horse.

My attention was drawn to a short article on calculi and carriages that appeared in the Bulletin of the New York Academy of Medicine. It seems that centuries ago, physicians recommended a jolting ride to jar loose kidney stones (calculi).

AMBROISE PARE was an early advocate of this unique treatment. "If he can, let the patient on a bucking horse and ride about two miles. If he has not the means to do this, let him climb up and down many stairs many times until he is tired and sweaty. By this exercise the stone is often shaken into the bladder."

Calculi cause pain only when they move. Physicians have long known that body movements might shake them loose. This happened to Thomas Sydenham (1624-1689) more than once while walking or riding in a coach over rough stones.

Similar experiences were recorded by other authors. "Not only does this occur after horse exercise, but even after riding in a carriage with springs."

A MEMBER of the New York Academy of Medicine recently had a similar experience. While in Rome, he had a transient attack of renal colic. During a period of relief, he hired a carriage and rode along the cobbled streets to Garibaldi park.

The stone shifted and by 2 a.m., the painful colic returned. The author of the article remarked facetiously: "When they import stones, the Romans use trucks, not carriages."

EARRING RASH

S.P. writes: When I wear earrings, my ear lobes become irritated and scabs develop. Can the earrings be coated with anything to make them less irritating?

REPLY

This type of outbreak usually represents a sensitivity to nickel. Dipping the earrings in clear nail polish offers protection for several hours, provided you are not allergic to nail polish. If money is no object, have the accessories silverplated.

DIET FOR OLDSTERS

P. C. writes: Will you please tell us in your column if cucumbers, chocolate, and animal fats are harmful to a senior citizen (female)?

REPLY

Animal fats may increase the cholesterol level and the weight but there is no need for concern if these conditions are not troublesome. There is no harm in the other products you mentioned, provided an idiosyncrasy to these foods does not exist.

PAINFUL SPINE

P. E. writes: Could arthritis cause pain at the end of the spine?

REPLY

Yes, but there are other causes. Our leaflet on painful coccyx can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

CARDIAC PATHOLOGY

V. R. writes: What does cardiac pathology mean? My chest X-ray report had this statement on it.

REPLY

This refers to an abnormality of the heart that could vary from enlargement to calcification of a valve.

BREATHING TOO FAST

G. E. writes: How can hyperventilation syndrome be cured?

REPLY

In this condition, the individual unconsciously breathes too rapidly. The carbon dioxide that accumulates produces dizziness, numbness, tingling and palpitation. Control of the syndrome requires that the person realize what is happening and make a conscious effort to stop breathing too fast, especially when nervous. An old remedy is breathing into a paper bag.

DRY MOUTH

A reader writes: What can be done to eliminate a dry throat and mouth? It is very uncomfortable and drinking water seems to help only temporarily. person tell if he has tuberculosis?

REPLY

Nervousness is the most common cause assuming that you are not dehydrated or taking drugs. Sucking on hard candy or chewing a stick of gum may be helpful.

TB TESTS

A reader writes: How can a person tell if he has tuberculosis?

REPLY

By the use of a chest X-ray and sputum studies.

TWO PILLOWS OR NONE

A reader writes: Is it better to sleep with the head elevated or level?

REPLY

Whichever is more comfortable.

New Yorker Urges Joint Transit Push

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A New York legislator suggested to California lawmakers yesterday that the two states combine forces to pressure the federal government to develop prototype mass transportation systems in the nation's two most populous states.

"Until we see some mass transit hardware in use, we are never going to convince legislators . . . to move from the one-car, one-man philosophy of transportation," said Sen. Edward Spino, chairman of the New York Legislature's committee on transportation.

JOINT CALL

He asked members of California's Senate Transportation Committee to coordinate efforts offering state funds, "say 10 per cent each," to motivate the federal government to finance experiments in mass transportation.

He suggested that a different mode of rapid transit be developed in each state.

Spino also urged California Sen. Alan Short's committee to follow New York's example and move from "a highway oriented department of public works to a transportation department concerned with the entire air, land and water transportation problem."

He said he felt it was "unrealistic" to plan mass transportation by any means other than state subsidy.

AIRPORT JAMS'

Also appearing before the committee during hhe first of four days of hearings here and in Los Angeles, consultant Henry Evans compared the ground traffic jams at airports to the transportation problems of downtown business districts.

"We have the same mass transit problems of the urban cores," he said. San Francisco International Airport, for example, has 21,000 employees, the equivalent of the central business district of a city of 200,000 persons.

"One of our problems at many airports is that they are served by just one freeway," he added. "In San Francisco, the airport generates 40,000 to 50,000 auto trips a day — that's half a freeway full of traffic."

RAPID TRANSIT

He said that some airports particularly San Francisco, Los Angeles and New York-could be served by rapid transit, but that at many airports there is no one point of origin of airport workers or passengers.

Vice President Leonard M. Horner of the Sikorsky Aircraft Division of United Aircraft Corp., developers of the Penn-Central's new turbotrains said it will take public help to revive inter-city rail transportation.

Thief Returns To Complete His Job

The thief who took a tape deck Sunday from the car of Wim Goeree of Woodacre came back last night to finish the job, Corte Madera poice reported.

Last night the car, parked at a service station at Nellan Drive and Fifer Avenue, was stripped of its steering wheel, shift knob and rear seat speakers, and the thief took a camera from the car as well, police said.

Two bicycles were stolen in San Rafael last week, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

A $60 aqua and white bicycle owned by Debbie Ann Ford, 9, of 16 Cabrillo Court was stolen Wednesday or Thursday from the bicycle parking area at the Santa Margarita School and the $20 gold and chrome bicycle of Charles M. Computer Uses In Medi-Cal Program Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A doctors' group says the state could save $5.5 million a year in its expensive Medi-Cal program by programming into a computer the records of doctors and patients.

The United Foundations for Medical Care proposed yesterday the system be installed statewide. It was tested this past year by the San Joaquin Foundation for Medical Care under contract with the state Office of Health Care Services.

The foundation's Peer Review Committee—doctors who question claims submitted by other doctors before they are forwarded for payment — kept careful computerized "profiles" of the physicians' services and the treatment received by the patients.

Two trucks were hit by vandals in San Rafael during the last five days, police reported today.

The right side window was broken sometime between Friday and yesterday morning and a yellow flashing light stolen from a truck owned by the J. F. Shea Co. of Pleasanton and parked along Highway 101 by the Paloma Street pedistrian overpass construction site. Total damage was estimated at $100.

He will be a special assistant to Finch on intergovernmental relations. He will leave effective Nov. 30.

Stolen Checks Probation Set

A 20-year-old Oregon woman was sentenced in absentia yesterday in Marin Superior Court after she had admitted cashing two checks stolen from the Atlas Paper Co. in San Francisco.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson placed Zola Mae Van Dolah of Salem on six months probation and ordered her to make $105 restitution. He also gave her a 60-day jail sentence.

The judge had agreed to sentence Miss Van Dolah in her absence after learning that she did not have the funds to travel to Marin from Oregon.

Miss Van Dolah was arrested Feb. 7 after she cashed a stolen check at the Emporium. She was also accused of cashing three other checks, but two of the counts were dismissed when she pleaded guilty to two counts.

What Makes The Nielsen Chart Work

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nielsen ratings, that yardstick of television popularity and, of longevity, may have shortcomings, but often reveals the public's reaction to network programming.

For instance, when Bob Hope turns up in one of his NBC specials, the kind that starts with a topical monologue by the star and slides into an assortment of sketches, it invariably lands on top of the next ratings chart or close to it.

Yet the durable Hope and company turned up Nov. 6 in an awkward hybridized version of the stage musical "Roberta"—and its 90 minutes of song and comedy missed even the top third of the Nielsen list.

The ratings, based on an audience sample which reveals only when the family set is turned on can call the popularity shots but it is anybody's guess why the audience tuned in or turned off.

The same Nielsens, for the week of Nov. 2-9, indicated that CBS' "Mission: Impossible" shot up suddenly in popularity. The show has been worrying network people because of its lower ratings which they tended to blame on what is called "a weak lead-in"—i.e. It follows "The Leslie Uggams Show," now canceled.

Is the bloom off "Laugh-in?" That senior citizen at CBS, "Gunsmoke," once again took top honors for the week. It was followed by ABC's newcomer, "Marcus Welby, M.D." The NBC comedy romp starring Rowan and Martin was third.

CBS has a mystery to worry over, too. Frank Sinatra's tuneful special was 45th on a list of 86 shows, a fraction of a point ahead of Leslie Uggams' show.

CBS won the weekly race with an average of 20.1, followed by NBC with 18.4 and ABC, 16.8.

At this point, ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D.," "Movie of the Week" and "Room 222" can be counted as freshman hits assured of a second season. So can NBC's "Bill Cosby Show" and CBS' "Jim Nabors Show"—five out of 22 new series, about par for any season.

An estimated million head of cattle in South America die each year from rabies inflicted by vampire bats, says National Geographic.

TV REVIEW

Some Points On Agnew's Media Talk

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Some points about Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's criticism of television news presentation:

The vice president was upset, in part, by network analyses that immediately followed President Richard M. Nixon's Nov. 3 speech on Vietnam. The latest national rating indicate that CBS-TV's post-speech analysis ranked 11th among 86 programs tabulated for the week ending Nov. 9.

The networks have publicly suggested their fear of pressure because television depends on government licensing. But they have been careful to make clear they are not above criticism. While the so-called "silent majority" is downgraded in some quarters, it is precisely this type of audience that the networks depend on every day to get the highest ratings for their shows.

Television has really been taking it on the chin. There was the Agnew speech. And a report issued in conjunction with the Alfred I. Du Point-Columbia University Broadcast Journalism Awards criticized video for not being as pertinent in its documentaries as in its fine coverage of live events (such as the Moon flight). "Some say we're too tough and others say we're not tough enough," says a network news official. "All we really are is human."

Unquestionably, television is sensitive to unhappy viewers who have reacted against constant visualization of national discord, from the 1968 Democratic Convention to recent disorders. Some viewers are simply annoyed by the news itself, which is on video. Others blame television for provoking events. In either case, the home screen becomes the focus of discontent (except for those who admire video news. And, privately, some major network executives admit Agnew's speech was politically astute in its timing.

Perhaps the most diplomatic and subtly provocative comment on the Agnew speech by a member of the Nixon administration came from Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, who said in part: "I think this (inquiry) is one of the good things that has blown out of the student challenge of our institutions. All our institutions are under sharp inquiry and I think it is a healthy thing." According to the Los Angeles Times, Finch also said he personally had no complaints about the news media.

The old journalistic saw that a reporter is not as important as his story, and should keep himself out of it, is being forcibly modified on television, simply by the medium's existence. In addition, growing sophistication in the nation has resulted in greater general interest in the media. For example, three current best-sellers deal with the subject: "The Selling of the President 1968," "The Kingdom and The Power" and "Prime Time: The Life of Edward R. Murrow."

John Barrymore Is Out Of Jail

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor John Barrymore Jr. was released from jail after sheriff's deputies said traces of marijuana found in his car could not be linked to him.

Deputies also said drugs discovered in the vehicle by police after a high speed chase early Sunday are not considered dangerous under California law.

The 37-year-old son of the late matinee idol John Barrymore and his 18-year-old companion, Anthony B. Fairbanks, were freed yesterday after the district attorney refused to issue a narcotics complaint.

Family Fuss Ends Freedom Of 45 Years For Slayer

COMPTON (UPI) — Leonard Thomas Fristoe, 77, goes to court today to begin a cycle of legal proceedings aimed at returning him to Nevada for a pair of murders committed 49 years ago.

"I was one of four children, and I guess I was a little wild," Fristoe said.

Fristoe escaped from the Nevada State Prison in Carson City Dec. 15, 1923. His daughter-in-law turned him in Saturday on a disturbing the peace charge after a family squabble.

"It was quite a life," Fristoe said in his cell. "I escaped from Carson City because I wanted to be free. Since then, I've really burnt the candle at both ends."

Fristoe, weatherbeaten, wrinkled, also his spare hair snowy white, was sent to prison in 1920 for killing two Nevada sheriff's deputies in Ely. They were chasing him after he broke into a store and stole some salt pork, a rifle, ammunition and a car.

Fristoe said he traveled extensively after he escaped in 1923 with another inmate. A year later, he said he shot a man named Rowe in Cuero, Tex., because the man wouldn't pay his oil drilling crew.

Under the alias of Claude Willis, Fristoe married a woman from New York city in 1927. They later moved to Old Orchard Beach near Portland, Maine, before World War II. Fristoe said he made "a million dollars" running a bus line and the Old Everett Hotel there.

He said he later lost all his money in a cattle venture in Wyoming.

His wife died in 1963 and never knew of his past. Fristoe's son, Claude Robert Willis Jr., 39, told police he learned of his father's real name and past only recently.

"He never was one to settle down much. I was not surprised when he told me (about the murders). He used to tell me, 'you never start a fight, but if somebody starts one, do your damndest to finish it,'" Willis said.

To Superior Court On Restricting Drug

Robert Charles Harper, 27, of San Francisco, has been ordered to appear in Marin Superior Court next Monday for arraignment on a charge of possessing a restricted drug, desoxephedrine, and a needle and syringe.

Harper, who gave his name as Robert James Egan when arrested Oct. 3, was bound over to superior court after a preliminary hearing in municipal court Friday.

JIM GILMARTIN

Krueger, Randolph Answer Boosters

Until Sunday, he was just another red jersey on the bench. No. 24. Name of "James Who?"

But after the 49ers beat their cousin Baltimore Colts in San Francisco for the second time, Jimmy Thomas, a rookie out of University of Texas at Arlington, has become a household name in these parts, or wherever 49er addicts congregate.

His name came up yesterday, naturally, at the Marin Chapter, 49er Boosters Club luncheon and special guests Charles Andrew Krueger and Alvin Chester Randolph, defensive specialitst, allowed as how Jimmy Thomas may be a Sunday kind of guy so vital to any team, that is, one who produces when the chips are down.

"He looked better yesterday than in any practice since he's been here," said Krueger, the 6-4, 265-pounder who is ranked among the National Football League's top defensive tackles.

Thomas May Be 'Sunday Player'

"He may be a Sunday player," added the 11-year-pro veteran, comparing Thomas to middle linebacker Frank Nunley. "Ken Willard (regular fullback) was sick Sunday, so Thomas stepped in and did the job," the amiable Texan said. "It's like Nunley who took over when Ed Beard got hurt and has done a fine job. In practice, Nunley's the type of guy who bats his eyes and opens them to a new world each time — a happy-go-lucky type. But when he got the job he did it. Thomas could be that way."

Randolph, the defensive back who was benched during the Los Angeles Rams game the previous Sunday, described Thomas as a deceptively fast runner. "He runs with a shuffle much like (ex-49er) John David Crow," said Alvin.

Of his demotion, Randolph said: "It's something you can't be bitter about. We're a team and changes are made for the good of the team."

Krueger, sensing the jovial mood of the Boosters after one of the team's rare victories, was quick with the quips. When Randolph showed up late, Charley needled: "When Alvin was in the Army he had the most trouble with map reading and three day passes."

Asked how many times he dumped Colt quarterback John Unitas for losses, he replied: "Well, I got close enough to him a few times to say 'Hi, John.'"

When Randolph was asked what went through his mind on a long pass iterception run, Krueger interjected, "Probably a raise."

Complains Of 'Holding'

Typical of a defensive man, Krueger charged "98 per cent of the offensive linemen are guilty of holding during a game; the other 2 per cent are the good ones. Good linemen don't have to hold. It (holding) is a matter of fact, it's taught as an aid to blocking. I get sick and tired of hearing offensive linemen complaining about how they get bumped on the head."

Krueger said L. A. tackle Bob Brown is among the toughest linemen he's faced. "Brown takes pride in being devastating," he said. "I don't mind getting hit high, but I hate it when he hits me in the legs because they're all I've got to run on."

In a more serious vein, Krueger said he has been an admirerer of Unitas for several years and refused to comment on the belief that Unitas may be finished as a top quarterback. "Unitas and the Colts have always been tough and I'm just glad they're moving to the AFL next season," he said.

At Least Two More Seasons

Big No. 70 also said he expects to play at least two more seasons "if I stay healthy"; he hedged on a comparison of 49er quarterbacks by saying, "We've had some fine quarterbacks with the 49ers and I've been fortunate to play with Y. A. Tittle and John Brodie"; on why the Niners "blitz" less than in past years, he explained, "When you're getting enough rush (on the passer) you don't have to blitz;" and commenting on the team's drive toward the winning TD late Sunday he grinned: "I was so proud of the offense I could have kissed them and given them 30 minutes to draw a crowd."

For the second time this year the Boosters were all smiles, especially with the emergence of a new "Sunday player."

But, with a Thanksgiving Day game at Dallas and a Dec. 6 date with Chicago coming, it is hoped Dick Nolan comes up with some Thursday and Saturday. players.

Terra Linda Heads All-League Team

RING OUT THE VICTORY — Jubilant Terra Linda High School gridders Rick Payne (58), Chris Fenton (60) and Dewey Forry (44) lead their teammates in celebration with No. 1 signs as they hover around San Rafael Board of Education member Paul Jones, who holds the traditional victory bell. The Trojans nicked San Rafael Friday, 29-27, to win the Marin prep championship. (Fred Harris photo)

Champs Land 11 Spots

Not surprisingly, Terra Linda, the Marin County Athletic League's first solo grid champion in four years, dominated selections for the 1969 All-MCAL team as picked by the seven league coaches at Novato High School last night.

The Trojans, who took it all with a perfect 6-0 mark, landed 11 players on the 23 spots picked on the offensive and defensive teams, including three players who were the only gridders chosen for both teams.

SENIORS

It was a senior-oriented selection, with only three underclassmen making the select squads. San Rafael's amazing sophomore Scott Duncan, who rushed for 210 yards against Terra Linda to pick up the league rushing title last week, made it to the offensive backfield while Terra Linda junior tackle Bruce Little and Terra Linda junior middle guard Pete Meir were named to the defensive team.

Dewey Forry, Bob Daniele and Chris Fenton, three of the key men in the Terra Linda surge, were named to both teams, Daniele and Forry joining Trojan quarterback Tom Jackson in the offensive backfield. Daniele, Forry and San Rafael's dimunitive and tough safety Lowell Widmer, were named to the defensive backfield.

TWO WAYS

Fenton was named to offensive guard and linebacker spots.

Surprising San Marin and Terra Linda pretty much had a corner on the defensive team as they filled 10 of the 12 spots, with only Widmer and Novato's star linebacker Dave Perron cracking the list from the other five teams.

Sprint and hurdles star Dan Trondsen of Terra Linda and 6-3, 225-pound Ross Gondak of Redwood were the offensive ends. Chris Bonner of San Rafael and 245-pound Redwood mainstay Tom Wickert were named all-league tackles while San Rafael's Dan Jordan joined Fentor at guard. Center Simon rounded out the offensive line.

FOUR MUSTANGS

San Marin, in its first season of varsity competition, placed four players on the team, all on defense, with Bob Fowler filling at end, Kerry Atkinson, tackle, Dennis Miller at guard, and Tom Cox, linebacker. They're all seniors.

Tamalpais and Drake, the league's tail-enders, failed to place a player on the teams, although both landed players on the honorable mention list.

DRAMATIC FINISH

Grid Season Ends With Loud Kicks

By GARY TISCHLER

The 1969 Marin County Athletic League football season, which had wound its way along with reasonable predictability, turned upside down last weekend and ended with a great big kick — two kicks, as a matter of fact.

Kicks, one from 16 yards out and another from 32 yards out, decided a championship and climaxed a grand debut as Terra Linda and San Marin pulled out heart-stopping victories.

Bob Daniele's field goal with no time left gave the Trojans their first outright MCAL title with a 29-27 win over San Rafael Friday night at San Rafael while a 32-yarder by Urbano Bouscieguez of San Marin gave the Mustangs a 17-14 upset win over Redwood in the final seconds Saturday afternoon at Larkspur.

Things are still buzzing over the two games.

Daniele's boot may have won the game but both Terra Linda coach Don Lucas and San Rfael coach Bob Muster decided that the Trojans' poise had a lot to do in getting the boy in a position to kick.

"You've got to hand it to them," Muster said. "They showed a lot of poise moving down the field like that with only 52 seconds left. They didn't panic. That's the sign of a champion."

"That's the one thing I was really proud of," Lucas said. "You'd think that falling behind with 52 seconds to go that there'd be a lot of heads hanging down. There wasn't any of that, not anywhere. They just knew what they had to do."

It wasn't as smooth as it looked. The Trojans came perilously close to having their drive interrupted twice. Once, when Dan Trondsen, after making a reception, dropped it, but managed to fall on it. And again, when Trondsen, after still another of his four receptions in that drive, headed inside instead of toward the sidelines, erasing some of the precious time that the Trojans had left.

"That made me a little nervous," Lucas said. "But heck, people said they got so

Phils Trade Callison To Cubs

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Cubs, whose September collapse cost them the National League pennant, moved today to bolster their outfield for a championship drive in 1970, sending pitcher Dick Selma and rookie outfielder Oscar Gamble to the Philadelphia Phillies for Johnny Callison.

IN RIGHT

Callison, 30, will be established in right field, Cubs Manager Leo Durocher said, and probably Jim Hickman will be placed in centerfield. Hickman was one of three players platooned in right field by Durocher last year. He hit .237.

Callison, who broke into baseball in the Chicago White Sox farm system and began his major league career with the Sox, has been on the National League All-Star team twice. A left-handed hitter, he has 189 career homers, 185 of them with Philadelphia, to rank fourth on the Phillies all-time home-run list.

BRIGHT PROSPECT

Gamble, 19, was regarded as a bright prospect by the Cubs, who called him up from their San Antonio farm team last Aug. 24. He batted .225 in 24 games with the Cubs, playing centerfield most of the time. He was rated as having a strong arm, great speed and a solid bat. Defensive inexperience is his major handicap.

Selma, 26, was acquired by the Cubs from San Diego for pitchers Joe Niekro and Gary Ross April 24. He had a 12-10 won lost record for the season.

Ellis To Start For Warriors

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Joe Ellis will start at forward tonight when the San Francisco Warriors attempt to snap a six game losing streak against the Milwaukee Bucks, 8 o'clock in the Cow Palace.

Coach George Lee said he would start Ellis ahead of Clyde Lee and would give veteran Dave Gambee more playing time, too.

The Warriors were beaten by the Bucks Sunday night in overtime, 129-123, largely because of errant passes and sluggish movement on offense.

LPGA Official Wirtz Resigns

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Leonard F. Wirtz, tournament director for the Ladies' Professional Golf Association (LPGA) for the past eight years, has resigned because of "personal reasons."

Wirtz, 40, said he had asked the LPGA to release him from his contract, which has three years to run.

Cynthia Sullivan, LPGA president, said the LPGA board had agreed to terminate Wirtz' contract and was in the process of selecting a new tournament director.

Writz declined to comment on the "personal reasons" for his surprise departure from the LPGA. Association officials also were silent.

In the eight years that Wirtz served as tourney director the tourney grew from an annual purse of $186,000 to nearly $620,000 in prize money this past year.

Theater Exec Buys Control Of Pilots

SEATTLE (UPI) — Frederic Danz, Seattle theater executive who admits he has a limited knowledge of baseball, has completed a complex financial deal for a 75 per cent interest in the Seattle Pilots.

He announced yesterday that the agreement was reached over the weekend with William R. Daley, Cleveland industrialist, who presently holds the majority interest in the club.

Daley will continue to hold a 25 per cent interest in the team with Danz and other local businessmen picking up the other 75 per cent.

APPROVAL

The deal, reportedly for $10.3 million, is subject to American League approval at its meeting Dec. 4 in Bal Harbor, Fla.

Danz began negotiations with Daley several weeks ago amid reports the franchise would be moved to either Milwaukee or Dallas-Fort Worth.

NOT SAYING

Danz was noncommital about the role Marvin Milkes, general manager under the present ownership, will have. As for a team manager, he said that would be decided by the general management.

Danz was expected to be named president of the new corporation succeeding Dewey Soriano of Seattle. Soriano and his brother, Max, will not be a part of the new ownership.

Danz said "ticket structure" and management would be among the first problems considered.

More Spectators

WESTPORT, Conn. (UPI)—The Sports Car Club of America Announced yesterday that more than 400,000 spectators attened the expanded 11-race Canada-American Cup series this year. The previous high was 276,000 spectators in 1968.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Good Old Days Relived At Rod-Gun Club Event

Well, Saturday was "D Day." I returned to work as state fish and game warden after two months of sick leave plus about 20 days vacation.

I spent most of the day patrolling the Tomales Bay-Stemple Creek area. Where are all the ducks? I don't believe I saw 50 birds all day.

Would you believe this?: One of the first hunters I checked turned out to be a non-resident hunting with a resident license. Now, this poor guy will never know that my wife and I had just paid $120. for non-resident licenses in Colorado without getting a thing, so his excuses generally fell on deaf ears.

I DID see three bucks, all with extra large antlers. It's a wonder how these big bucks got through the entire Marin season safely. I guess they know a few things we don't.

MY OLD hunting partner, Paul Honatius of Mill Valley, invited me to attend the Old Timers Night Dinner at the Marin Rod and Gun Club Saturday. The entire evening was great. There are 86 members with more than 30 years of service each still in the club and most of them were there.

The club was founded about 44 years ago and some of the charter members were there, too, and are still active. Gordon Dixon, one of the oldest members, gave the history of the club's formative years and movies of the early club activities were shown. Some of the faces in the crowd Saturday night were the same faces shown in the movies made 20 and 30 years ago.

The enthusiasm created by a meeting of old, dedicated friends is something to see. The pictures showing the skeet shoots, along with the sighting in of rifles of the imitation running deer, and the building of the old pheasant pens, plus the work crews that donated years of labor to get the clubhouse and the fishing pier built makes one feel that the impetus to reach these goals must have been great.

It's a shame, too, to realize that some of the former lands are not now available, and probably won't ever be again for some of these activities that looked like so much fun.

Growth of Marin County, with the population explosion, has made some of these things impossible in recent years. Still, the MRGC, with its 1,800 members can carry the ball on legislative matters pertaining to conservation of fish and game.

Also, the club's fishing pier and boat launching ramp certainly still have their place in our county.

One interesting note revealed Saturday night was a photograph advertising the club's annual barbecue at $1.50 per head. That was several years ago and the price remained the same for many years. Apparently they have never heard of inflation.

BACK TO FISHING: With slow tides this past week, the bass in upper San Pablo Bay were not on the prowl. I tried it Friday with a couple of friends, one of whom was Frank Sue. I regained my "champ" title of San Pablo Bay with the only hit we had, which turned out to be a 12-pounder.

We saw four sturgeon jump, but couldn't get them to hit. I checked last year's diary and noted that I only caught three sturgeon last November. I think we need one more rain to perk things up.

Though we caught no sharks, the bullheads ruined the use of shrimp. Every cast — a bullhead bite. The fast tides this week will bring about a big improvement.

SIL RUFFINO, one of the MRGC old timers, told me that this year has been one of his better salmon season.

Up at Tomales Bay, where the season is still open, some silvers have been taken near Inverness. And at White House Pool at Pt. Reyes Station, someone catches a fish every now and then.

It's just not like it used to be. Before dams went I averaged 30 salmon per season at White House Pool, with my best year taking 42. The last five years, however, I think my average has been possibly three fish from that area.

So it goes. Sometimes I think the kids of today should put on marches for the return of some of the heritage we once had. Sometimes I think we are not doing a good enough job in the conservation line for the kids of today and the future. Can you imagine a future with no hunting and fishing?

"Our boys had nothing to be ashamed of," Muster said. "We played our best ball of the season. We did what had worked best for us all year. That was the rollout option. We practiced it all week, not so much because we thought Terra Linda was vulnerable to that play, but because it was our best play. We stuck to basically six plays through the whole game."

As it turned out, the Trojans were pretty vulnerable to it.

"That's the toughest play in the world to defense," Lucas said. "Heck, we never did stop it. Once Duncan got around the corner, we just couldn't get to him." He referred to sophomore Scott Duncan who gained 210 yards on 40 carries.

"I guess we just let all the steam out watching the San Rafael game," Redwood coach Bob Troppmann said yesterday. "It might have made a difference if we were playing for a title tie, but you have to give San Marin credit. They came back."

The Giants did indeed seem not to have their hearts in it Saturday. After coming so close in a sky-high game against Terra Linda the previous week, which they lost, 14-8, they couldn't get that high again, although quarterback Pete Cooney, halfback Mike Farley and linebackers Andy Anixter and Bob Piper gave their best.

San Marin coach Bob Martin was jubilant.

"We were delirious," he said. "We just ignited after that 82-yard touchdown play. We just came on again and again, although God knows we gave Redwood opportunities. But I've said all along we would win on our defense and that's what happened."

Martin conceded that Redwood quarterback Pete Cooney's loss hurt the Giants.

"We might not have been in position to win," he said. "That hurt them quite a bit."

Cooney dropped out of the game after suffering a broken arm with two minutes left in his last game in a Redwood uniform.

Frustrating Season For Marin's Tars

Coach Praises Squad For Its Big Comeback

Although it was a very frustrating season for College of Marin football coach Dick Read and his Tars, the veteran mentor feels he got the most out of his players.

"It was a really good group," Read said in reflecting over the football season in which the Tars won three of eight games. "I think we got a lot of mileage out of our players. They tried very hard."

The most gratifying thing for Read was the way the Tars closed out the season, whipping Santa Rosa Junior College 48-30 last Friday night in Santa Rosa. The previous week, Marin had been trounced by Contra Costa J.C., 44-30.

"I was really proud the way these kids came back against Santa Rosa. If they hadn't come back I might have been disappointed," said Read. "After getting beat by Contra Costa like that, the kids really came back in Santa Rosa. They showed their true character."

EMPTIES BENCH

In that final game against arch-rival Santa Rosa, Marin was ahead 48-12 going into the fourth quarter, as the Tars really gave it to the Bear Cubs. Read emptied the bench in that final period, giving all the players a chance to play in the season finale.

"We knew we had problems in some spots when the season started," Read said. "We knew we were going to have a good offense, as good an offense as we've had in the last eight or nine years. But we also felt we were going to have some defensive problems, especially with linemen.

STUMBLING BLOCK

Lack of linemen was the major stumbling block facing the Marin coaching staff this season. And the sudden rise in number of Marin County high school players snatched by major four-year colleges. Usually one or two out of the county get scholarships to the big schools, said Read, but last year no less than nine headed for the big time.

"But it still was so very close," Read said about the season. "We weren't that far from being in the playoffs." DeAnza (Cupertino) won the state playoff spot and Camino Norte Conference championship by beating top-ranked West Valley (Campbell) 53-41 in a high-scoring final game of the year. Marin lost to West Valley 34-27 and to to DeAnza 28-20. In fact, four of Marin's five losses were by a single touchdown. With a tighter defense, things might have gone the other way.

BREAKDOWNS

Read will also talk about second half breakdowns against the two top conference teams, DeAnza and West Valley. "After all," Read points out, "our defense was usually playing about 65 per cent of the games and our offense about 35 per cent. Those defensive kids were out there a long time."

Pete Limm, assistant coach at Marin, said it in four words as he passed by: "Wait 'til next year!"

Funds Sought To Add Football Seats At Novato

Donations to purchase additional bleachers for the Novato High School football field are being sought by the Novato High Parent-Faculty Club.

The present bleachers were purchased through community donations and not with tax money, according to Irene Black, president of the Parent-Faculty Club. The income from the attendance at football games goes into the student body fund and is not used for the new bleachers.

The aim of the club is to increase the 1,100 seats at the home team side by 500 to 1,600 and on the visitors' side by 400 or from 440 to 840 seats, Mrs. Black said.

Schaefer Wins

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

The bowler in perfect form will start the ball down from the top of the backswing at the same time she begins her fourth and final step, which ends in the slide with the left foot. If your hurry, you might start this step before you're ready to move the ball forward. That will throw your timing off.

Four Players Win Pop Warner Game Honors

Jeff Pond and Bob Southmayd won honors for the North and Rick Herbert and Tim Smyth for the South but as for the Marin County Pop Warner League all-star game itself, there was no winner.

The teams fought to a 6-6 tie Sunday at Marin Catholic High School's field. North scored in the first quarter, a five-yard run by Pond, and South scored in third period, a seven-yard run by Herbert.

Pond, of Novato Junior Hornets, was voted outstanding back for the North, and Southmayd, of San Rafael, outstanding lineman. For the South, Herbert, Drake, was top back, and Smyth, Redwood outstanding lineman.

Ralston Named Coach For West

STANFORD (AP) — Stanford football coach John Ralston was named yesterday to coach the West team in the annual East-West Shrine game to be played here Dec. 27.

Ralston replaces Southern California's John McKay, who had been named to coach the team this summer but who asked to be relieved of the job citing pressures of his own season. The Trojans are prime contenders for the Rose Bowl Jan. 1 in Pasadena.

The game will be played out of San Francisco, its usual home, because of the remodeling of Candlestick Park now taking place.

TENNIS

WEMBLEY, England—Stan Smith of Los Angeles defeated South African Cliff Drysdale 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 on a new synthetic surface in Britain's first open indoor championshi while Rod Laver of Australia beat Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 6-4, 6-4 in another first-round match.

HORSE SHOW

CROSS COUNTRY

NEW YORK—Artie Dulong of Holy Cross regained the title he lost last year when he breezed to a 100-yard victory in the IC4A Cross Country Championship as Villanova won its fourth straight team title.

HOCKEY

ST. LOUIS—Veteran goalie Glenn Hall of the St. Louis Blues of the National Hockey League agreed to come out of retirement and signed a two-year contract at an estimated $50,000 a season.

Nolan Says Willard Still No. 1 Fullback

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco 49er coach Dick Nolan, hurting for more depth in the offensive backfield, says rookie running back Jimmy Thomas will return to the role of the reserve in thsi Sunday's game at New Orleans.

Thomas carried eight times for 41 yards, caught three passes for 77 yards and scored a touchdown in the Niners' 20-17 upset of the Baltimore Colts last weekend. Thomas, a graduate of the University of Texas at Arlington, got his chance when Ken Willard came down with the flu and could see only limited duty.

"Yes, Jimmy played very well. We'll continue to use him in spots. Willard had the flu, but he should be all right for the Saints. He still is my fullback," Nolan said.

"Gary Lewis just started working two weeks ago, so we've been using him on punts and kick returns and we'll work him as a running back when his knee is okay again," Nolan said.

Stanford Lists Healthy Team

STANFORD (UPI)—Stanford coach John Ralston will field a relatively healthy club when the Indians host California in the Big Game Saturday.

Only three players were listed as doubtful—defensive back Dick Oliver, linebacker Dave Grossi and tackle Greg Sampson. Ralston said yesterday that all three could play. But their length of duty depends on their progress during practice this week.

San Diego State In Pasadena Bowl

SAN DIEGO (AP) — San Diego State's unbeaten Aztecs were invited yesterday to play Dec. 6 in the Pasadena Bowl with University of Utah reported a leading possibility for the other team.

Dr. Malcolm Love, president of San Diego State, received a telegram from sponsors of the postseason football game. A news conference in San Diego was scheduled for today.

Notre Dame Heads Grid Bowl List

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It'll be Notre Dame against the winner of the Dec. 6 Texas-Arkansas game in the Cotton Bowl on Jan. 1—and how much more glamour do you need to start the era of the 1970s in college football?

Changing a policy that had lasted since 1925 when Notre Dame took its Four Horsemen to the Rose Bowl, the Fighting Irish accepted an invitation yesterday to play in the Cotton Bowl. The host team will be determined on Dec. 6 when Texas plays Arkansas in a matchup of the second-ranked and fourth-ranked teams in the country.

While Notre Dame's acceptance of a bowl bid monopolized the football news, other bowls were lining up attractive pairings as follows:

Rose Bowl: Michigan or Purdue vs. UCLA or Southern California.

Orange Bowl: Penn State vs. Missouri.

Sugar Bowl: Mississippi vs. Arkansas or Texas.

Liberty Bowl: Alabama vs. unnamed opponent.

Gator Bowl: Tennessee vs. Florida.

Sun Bowl: Georgia vs. Nebraska.

Peach Bowl: South Carolina vs. unnamed opponent.

Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl: Houston vs. Auburn.

Penhall To QB For Cal Bears

BERKELEY (UPI)—California coach Ray Willsey says he will start Dave Penhall at quarterback in the Big Game at Stanford Saturday, despite the recovery of the injured Steve Curtis.

Curtis, a scrambler, had been a starter until a collarbone injury sidelined him. Randy Humphries took over, then was bested by Penhall.

Willsey said Monday that senior safety Ken Wiedemann has yet to recover from a knee injury and probably will miss the Big Game.

JIM GILMARTIN

Krueger, Randolph Answer Boosters

Until Sunday, he was just another red jersey on the bench. No. 24. Name of "James Who?"

But after the 49ers beat their cousin Baltimore Colts in San Francisco for the second time, Jimmy Thomas, a rookie out of University of Texas at Arlington, has become a household name in these parts, or wherever 49er addicts congregate.

His name came up yesterday, naturally, at the Marin Chapter, 49er Boosters Club luncheon and special guests Charles Andrew Krueger and Alvin Chester Randolph, defensive specialitst, allowed as how Jimmy Thomas may be a Sunday kind of guy so vital to any team, that is, one who produces when the chips are down.

"He looked better yesterday than in any practice since he's been here," said Krueger, the 6-4, 265-pounder who is ranked among the National Football League's top defensive tackles.

Thomas May Be 'Sunday Player'

"He may be a Sunday player," added the 11-year-pro veteran, comparing Thomas to middle linebacker Frank Nunley. "Ken Willard (regular fullback) was sick Sunday, so Thomas stepped in and did the job," the amiable Texan said. "It's like Nunley who took over when Ed Beard got hurt and has done a fine job. In practice, Nunley's the type of guy who bats his eyes and opens them to a new world each time — a happy-go-lucky type. But when he got the job he did it. Thomas could be that way."

Randolph, the defensive back who was benched during the Los Angeles Rams game the previous Sunday, described Thomas as a deceptively fast runner. "He runs with a shuffle much like (ex-49er) John David Crow," said Alvin.

Of his demotion, Randolph said: "It's something you can't be bitter about. We're a team and changes are made for the good of the team."

Krueger, sensing the jovial mood of the Boosters after one of the team's rare victories, was quick with the quips. When Randolph showed up late, Charley needled: "When Alvin was in the Army he had the most trouble with map reading and three day passes."

Asked how many times he dumped Colt quarterback John Unitas for losses, he replied: "Well, I got close enough to him a few times to say 'Hi, John.'"

When Randolph was asked what went through his mind on a long pass iterception run, Krueger interjected, "Probably a raise."

Complains Of 'Holding'

Typical of a defensive man, Krueger charged "98 per cent of the offensive linemen are guilty of holding during a game; the other 2 per cent are the good ones. Good linemen don't have to hold. It (holding) is a matter of fact, it's taught as an aid to blocking. I get sick and tired of hearing offensive linemen complaining about how they get bumped on the head."

Krueger said L. A. tackle Bob Brown is among the toughest linemen he's faced. "Brown takes pride in being devastating," he said. "I don't mind getting hit high, but I hate it when he hits me in the legs because they're all I've got to run on."

In a more serious vein, Krueger said he has been an admirerer of Unitas for several years and refused to comment on the belief that Unitas may be finished as a top quarterback. "Unitas and the Colts have always been tough and I'm just glad they're moving to the AFL next season," he said.

At Least Two More Seasons

Big No. 70 also said he expects to play at least two more seasons "if I stay healthy"; he hedged on a comparison of 49er quarterbacks by saying, "We've had some fine quarterbacks with the 49ers and I've been fortunate to play with Y. A. Tittle and John Brodie"; on why the Niners "blitz" less than in past years, he explained, "When you're getting enough rush (on the passer) you don't have to blitz;" and commenting on the team's drive toward the winning TD late Sunday he grinned: "I was so proud of the offense I could have kissed them and given them 30 minutes to draw a crowd."

For the second time this year the Boosters were all smiles, especially with the emergence of a new "Sunday player."

But, with a Thanksgiving Day game at Dallas and a Dec. 6 date with Chicago coming, it is hoped Dick Nolan comes up with some Thursday and Saturday players.

Terra Linda Heads All-League Team

RING OUT THE VICTORY — Jubilant Terra Linda High School gridders Rick Payne (58), Chris Fenton (60) and Dewey Forry (44) lead their teammates in celebration with No. 1 signs as they hover around San Rafael Board of Education member Paul Jones, who holds the traditional victory bell. The Trojans nicked San Rafael Friday, 29-27, to win the Marin prep championship. (Fred Harris photo)

Champs Land 11 Spots

Not surprisingly, Terra Linda, the Marin County Athletic League's first solo grid champion in four years, dominated selections for the 1969 All-MCAL team as picked by the seven league coaches at Novato High School last night.

The Trojans, who took it all with a perfect 6-0 mark, landed 11 players on the 23 spots picked on the offensive and defensive teams, including three players who were the only gridders chosen for both teams.

SENIORS

It was a senior-oriented selection, with only three underclassmen making the select squads. San Rafael's amazing sophomore Scott Duncan, who rushed for 210 yards against Terra Linda to pick up the league rushing title last week, made it to the offensive backfield while Terra Linda junior tackle Bruce Little and Terra Linda junior middle guard Pete Meir were named to the defensive team.

Dewey Forry, Bob Daniele and Chris Fenton, three of the key men in the Terra Linda surge, were named to both teams, Daniele and Forry joining Trojan quarterback Tom Jackson in the offensive backfield. Daniele, Forry and San Rafael's dimunitive and tough safety Lowell Widmer, were named to the defensive backfield.

TWO WAYS

Fenton was named to offensive guard and linebacker spots.

Surprising San Marin and Terra Linda pretty much had a corner on the defensive team as they filled 10 of the 12 spots, with only Widmer and Novato's star linebacker Dave Perron cracking the list from the other five teams.

Sprint and hurdles star Dan Trondsen of Terra Linda and 6-3, 225-pound Ross Gondak of Redwood were the offensive ends. Chris Bonner of San Rafael and 245-pound Redwood mainstay Tom Wickert were named all-league tackles while San Rafael's Dan Jordan joined Fentor at guard. Center Simon rounded out the offensive line.

FOUR MUSTANGS

San Marin, in its first season of varsity competition, placed four players on the team, all on defense, with Bob Fowler filling at end, Kerry Atkinson, tackle, Dennis Miller at guard, and Tom Cox, linebacker. They're all seniors.

Tamalpais and Drake, the league's tail-enders, failed to place a player on the teams, although both landed players on the honorable mention list.

DRAMATIC FINISH

Grid Season Ends With Loud Kicks

By GARY TISCHLER

The 1969 Marin County Athletic League football season, which had wound its way along with reasonable predictability, turned upside down last weekend and ended with a great big kick — two kicks, as a matter of fact.

Kicks, one from 16 yards out and another from 32 yards out, decided a championship and climaxed a grand debut as Terra Linda and San Marin pulled out heart-stopping victories.

Bob Daniele's field goal with no time left gave the Trojans their first outright MCAL title with a 29-27 win over San Rafael Friday night at San Rafael while a 32-yarder by Urbano Bouscieguez of San Marin gave the Mustangs a 17-14 upset win over Redwood in the final seconds Saturday afternoon at Larkspur.

Things are still buzzing over the two games.

Daniele's boot may have won the game but both Terra Linda coach Don Lucas and San Rfael coach Bob Muster decided that the Trojans' poise had a lot to do in getting the boy in a position to kick.

"You've got to hand it to them," Muster said. "They showed a lot of poise moving down the field like that with only 52 seconds left. They didn't panic. That's the sign of a champion."

"That's the one thing I was really proud of," Lucas said. "You'd think that falling behind with 52 seconds to go that there'd be a lot of heads hanging down. There wasn't any of that, not anywhere. They just knew what they had to do."

It wasn't as smooth as it looked. The Trojans came perilously close to having their drive interrupted twice. Once, when Dan Trondsen, after making a reception, dropped it, but managed to fall on it. And again, when Trondsen, after still another of his four receptions in that drive, headed inside instead of toward the sidelines, erasing some of the precious time that the Trojans had left.

"That made me a little nervous," Lucas said. "But heck, people said they got so

Phils Trade Callison To Cubs

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Cubs, whose September collapse cost them the National League pennant, moved today to bolster their outfield for a championship drive in 1970, sending pitcher Dick Selma and rookie outfielder Oscar Gamble to the Philadelphia Phillies for Johnny Callison.

IN RIGHT

Callison, 30, will be established in right field, Cubs Manager Leo Durocher said, and probably Jim Hickman will be placed in centerfield. Hickman was one of three players platooned in right field by Durocher last year. He hit .237.

Callison, who broke into baseball in the Chicago White Sox farm system and began his major league career with the Sox, has been on the National League All-Star team twice. A left-handed hitter, he has 189 career homers, 185 of them with Philadelphia, to rank fourth on the Phillies all-time home-run list.

BRIGHT PROSPECT

Gamble, 19, was regarded as a bright prospect by the Cubs, who called him up from their San Antonio farm team last Aug. 24. He batted .225 in 24 games with the Cubs, playing centerfield most of the time. He was rated as having a strong arm, great speed and a solid bat. Defensive inexperience is his major handicap.

Selma, 26, was acquired by the Cubs from San Diego for pitchers Joe Niekro and Gary Ross April 24. He had a 12-10 won lost record for the season.

Ellis To Start For Warriors

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Joe Ellis will start at forward tonight when the San Francisco Warriors attempt to snap a six game losing streak against the Milwaukee Bucks, 8 o'clock in the Cow Palace.

Coach George Lee said he would start Ellis ahead of Clyde Lee and would give veteran Dave Gambee more playing time, too.

The Warriors were beaten by the Bucks Sunday night in overtime, 129-123, largely because of errant passes and sluggish movement on offense.

More Spectators

WESTPORT, Conn. (UPI)—The Sports Car Club of America Announced yesterday that more than 400,000 spectators attened the expanded 11-race Canada-American Cup series this year. The previous high was 276,000 spectators in 1968.

Theater Exec Buys Control Of Pilots

SEATTLE (UPI) — Frederic Danz, Seattle theater executive who admits he has a limited knowledge of baseball, has completed a complex financial deal for a 75 per cent interest in the Seattle Pilots.

He announced yesterday that the agreement was reached over the weekend with William R. Daley, Cleveland industrialist who presently holds the majority interest in the club.

Daley will continue to hold a 25 per cent interest in the team with Danz and other local businessmen picking up the other 75 per cent.

APPROVAL

The deal, reportedly for $10.3 million, is subject to American League approval at its meeting Dec. 4 in Bal Harbor, Fla.

Danz began negotiations with Daley several weeks ago amid reports the franchise would be moved to either Milwaukee or Dallas-Fort Worth.

Daley at one point confirmed he had a firm offer from Milwaukee interests but indicated he would accept a lesser offer from Seattle interests to keep the team here.

NOT SAYING

Danz was noncommital about the role Marvin Milkes, general manager under the present ownership, will have. As for a team manager, he said that would be decided by the general management.

Danz was expected to be named president of the new corporation succeeding Dewey Soriano of Seattle. Soriano and his brother, Max, will not be a part of the new ownership.

Danz said "ticket structure" and management would be among the first problems considered.

Seattle had the highest priced seats of any team in the majors during its inaugural season.

LPGA Official Wirtz Resigns

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Leonard F. Wirtz, tournament director for the Ladies' Professional Golf Association (LPGA) for the past eight years, has resigned because of "personal reasons."

Writz, 40, said he had asked the LPGA to release him from his contract, which has three years to run.

Cynthia Sullivan, LPGA president, said the LPGA board had agreed to terminate Wirtz' contract and was in the process of selecting a new tournament director.

Writz declined to comment on the "personal reasons" for his surprise departure from the LPGA. Association officials also were silent.

In the eight years that Wirtz served as tourney director the tourney grew from an annual purse of $186,000 to nearly $620,000 in prize money this past year.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Sterling Precision Now On A Treadmill

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Would you give me your thoughts on the capital gains potential of Sterling Precision? — W. H.

A. Over the years Sterling has had a hand in a widely diversified number of industries. Incorporated in 1955, the company has acquired more than 25 other firms and over the years has sold off about half of these. Sterling now concentrates on real estate holdings, financial services and varied manufacturing.

Sales in fiscal 1968-69 through April were $58.7 million. In the first quarter sales were over $16 million, with only $180,000 or four cents a share taken down to earnings. President M. Carroll announced at that time sales were running at a $65 million annual rate, but since then Sterling has agreed to the sale of its office furniture business with volume of $10 million yearly.

Unit fiscal 1962-63 Sterling operated at a deficit. After two years breaking even, a 30-cent-a-share profit was reported in fiscal 1965. Last year earnings reached 53 cents a share. Share price remained below 10 until last year but has since fallen well below that level.

All in all, this is not a picture that inspires confidence. Why not aim a bit higher and buy fewer shares in a high-grade issue such as Consolidated Foods?

Q. We are retired and interested in income. Could you explain the advantages, if any, of investing in preferred rather than common stock? — D. I.

A. Straight preferred issues are income holdings and as such tend to reflect money rates, as do bonds and utilities, rather than the fortunes of the company as common stocks do. Unfortunately, unlike bonds, there is no guarantee of return of capital, and, unlike common stock, appreciation potential is limited.

Convertible preferred issues, because of the conversion privilege, move in line with their common stock but derive some downside protection from their preferred status. The validity of this cushion was sorely tested in the summer's decline. Tenneco $5.50 convertible preferred selling about 20 per cent below its 1969 high is recommended for its 6 per cent yield.

Wall Street Better After Gloomy Start

Volume was fairly active.

The margin of declines of individual issues over advances on the New York Stock Exchange narrowed to a little more than 200 after having held an edge of more than 300 earlier in the day.

Although the market showed a resurgence, among the 20 most-active stocks on the Big Board declines topped advances by 14 to 5 with 1 unchanged.

Servomat, off ¼ to 31, topped the most-active list. International Telephone, propelled by a block trade of 99,600 shares, unchanged at 57⅞, was second most-active. Penn Central, up 2⅞ to 32⅝, also was heavily traded.

Standard Oil of Ohio, with the way cleared for its merger with British Petroleum, soared 9⅞ to 108. British Petroleum, up 1¼ to 16¼, was the most-active issue on the American Stock Exchange.

On the Big Board, Fairchild Camera fell 3⅞ to 89. Du Pont advanced 1½ to 116⅞, General Foods rose 1¼ to 85¼, and Xerox was up 1⅛ to 107.

Prices in late trading on the American exchange included Milgo Electronics, up 2⅝ to 56⅜; U.S. Natural Resources, up 1¾ to 32; Equity Funding, up 1 to 71, and Mohawk Data, up 2½ to 78¾.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Rubble Being Cleared Away For New Tire, Brake Firm

Work has begun at 666 Irwin Street, San Rafael, clearing away the rubble from the building once occupied by Brodie and Schwerin, San Rafael Tire and Brake and destroyed by fire last July.

Property owner Homer Rickards plans a new 11,000-square foot tilt-up structure to be constructed by Ronald Antonioli. Occupying the front 6,500 square feet will be Deming and Granger, Marin Tire and Brake, now maintaining a temporary shop at 444 Woodland Avenue and an office at 585 Irwin Street, where co-owner Scott Deming also operates Carlo's Transmission Service.

The projected completion date is March 15, 1970. Rickards will lease out the remaining 4,500 square feet in the building, either for a single occupancy or divided into two separate quarters.

Deming and Granger has been in business at 585 Irwin Street for over a month. Partner Harold (Hal) Granger was formerly shop manager for San Rafael Tire and Brake.

CONTINUING a trend for the second half of 1969, Marin County real estate sales lagged again in October. Reported transactions on multiple listing totaled $6,866,300, against last year's $7,830,451. Total completed sales for October were also down — from $7,936,390 a year ago to $6,836,545.

But the margin racked up during the first half may still save the year-end showing. Total completed sales for the first 10 months of 1969 stand at $63.9 million, against $60.6 million for the corresponding 1968 period.

GORDON PUSSER of Land Investors Research, Larkspur, has reported the sale of 105 acres on South Ely Road, Petaluma, known as the Thompson property, to a group of eastern investors for approximately a half-million dollars. Land Investors Research is a general partner in the syndicate and will manage the acreage.

It is located just south of the Atkinson Dairy in East Petaluma. Previous owners (members of the Thompson family) were Edward and Douglas Thompson, Mrs. Hans Raven, Mrs. Geneva Aguirre and Mrs. Isolene Maestretti.

ALLAN P. GIBSON of San Anselmo is now vice president and regional manager of Sierra National Bank, with headquarters at the Alto office. Before joining Sierra he was manager of the Belvedere-Tiburon office of Crocker-Citizens National Bank for eight years. He has had 20 years of banking experience.

TWO MARIN MEN, Robert Dahl of Novato and William King, now living in Fairfax, who have long tried to secure a Toyota franchise, have finally acquired one in San Francisco. It's located at 1175 Potrero Avenue and called King Toyota.

Dahl was formerly manager of Stewart Chevrolet in the city and more recently had his own used car business, Bob Dahl Auto Center. He was joined here by King, who was previously with Crown Zellerbach Corp.

ROBERT W. HAYES of Sausalito, president of the San Francisco planning and architectural firm now known as the Compla Corp., will be keynote speaker at environmental design seminars being conducted in 10 states by the American Wood Council, an alliance of trade associations which has constructed model developments throughout the country.

HANS R. MEYER of Tiburon, manager of Deak and Co. in San Francisco since 1961, has been transferred to the head office of the company in New York for a special assignment. He will be succeeded in San Francisco by Willi Beusch, formerly manager of Deak's Hawaii office.

Frustrating Season For Marin's Tars

By AL GIDDINGS

Good Old Days Relived At Rod-Gun Club Event

Well, Saturday was "D Day." I returned to work as state fish and game warden after two months of sick leave plus about 20 days vacation.

I spent most of the day patrolling the Tomales Bay-Stemple Creek area. Where are all the ducks? I don't believe I saw 50 birds all day.

Would you believe this?: One of the first hunters I checked turned out to be a non-resident hunting with a resident license. Now, this poor guy will never know that my wife and I had just paid $120. for non-resident licenses in Colorado without getting a thing, so his excuses generally fell on deaf ears.

I DID see three bucks, all with extra large antlers. It's a wonder how these big bucks got through the entire Marin season safely. I guess they know a few things we don't.

MY OLD hunting partner, Paul Honatius of Mill Valley, invited me to attend the Old Timers Night Dinner at the Marin Rod and Gun Club Saturday. The entire evening was great. There are 86 members with more than 30 years of service each still in the club and most of them were there.

The club was founded about 44 years ago and some of the charter members were there, too, and are still active. Gordon Dixon, one of the oldest members, gave the history of the club's formative years and movies of the early club activities were shown. Some of the faces in the crowd Saturday night were the same faces shown in the movies made 20 and 30 years ago.

The enthusiasm created by a meeting of old, dedicated friends is something to see. The pictures showing the skeet shoots, along with the sighting in of rifles of the imitation running deer, and the building of the old pheasant pens, plus the work crews that donated years of labor to get the clubhouse and the fishing pier built makes one feel that the impetus to reach these goals must have been great.

It's a shame, too, to realize that some of the former lands are not now available, and probably won't ever be again for some of these activities that looked like so much fun.

Growth of Marin County, with the population explosion, has made some of these things impossible in recent years. Still, the MRGC, with its 1,800 members can carry the ball on legislative matters pertaining to conservation of fish and game.

Also, the club's fishing pier and boat launching ramp certainly still have their place in our county.

One interesting note revealed Saturday night was a photograph advertising the club's annual barbecue at $1.50 per head. That was several years ago and the price remained the same for many years. Apparently they have never heard of inflation.

BACK TO FISHING: With slow tides this past week, the bass in upper San Pablo Bay were not on the prowl. I tried it Friday with a couple of friends, one of whom was Frank Sue. I regained my "champ" title of San Pablo Bay with the only hit we had, which turned out to be a 12-pounder.

We saw four sturgeon jump, but couldn't get them to hit. I checked last year's diary and noted that I only caught three sturgeon last November. I think we need one more rain to perk things up.

Though we caught no sharks, the bullheads ruined the use of shrimp. Every cast — a bullhead bite. The fast tides this week will bring about a big improvement.

SIL RUFFINO, one of the MRGC old timers, told me that this year has been one of his better salmon season.

Up at Tomales Bay, where the season is still open, some silvers have been taken near Inverness. And at White House Pool at Pt. Reyes Station, someone catches a fish every now and then.

It's just not like it used to be. Before dams went I averaged 30 salmon per season at White House Pool, with my best year taking 42. The last five years, however, I think my average has been possibly three fish from that area.

So it goes. Sometimes I think the kids of today should put on marches for the return of some of the heritage we once had. Sometimes I think we are not doing a good enough job in the conservation line for the kids of today and the future. Can you imagine a future with no hunting and fishing?

"Our boys had nothing to be ashamed of," Muster said. "We played our best ball of the season. We did what had worked best for us all year. That was the rollout option. We practiced it all week, not so much because we thought Terra Linda was vulnerable to that play, but because it was our best play. We stuck to basically six plays through the whole game."

As it turned out, the Trojans were pretty vulnerable to it.

"That's the toughest play in the world to defense," Lucas said. "Heck, we never did stop it. Once Duncan got around the corner, we just couldn't get to him." He referred to sophomore Scott Duncan who gained 210 yards on 40 carries.

"I guess we just let all the steam out watching the San Rafael game," Redwood coach Bob Troppmann said yesterday. "It might have made a difference if we were playing for a title tie, but you have to give San Marin credit. They came back."

The Giants did indeed seem not to have their hearts in it Saturday. After coming so close in a sky-high game against Terra Linda the previous week, which they lost, 14-8, they couldn't get that high again, although quarterback Pete Cooney, halfback Mike Farley and linebackers Andy Anixter and Bob Piper gave their best.

San Marin coach Bob Martin was jubilant.

"We were delirious," he said. "We just ignited after that 82-yard touchdown play. We just came on again and again, although God knows we gave Redwood opportunities. But I've said all along we would win on our defense and that's what happened."

Martin conceded that Redwood quarterback Pete Cooney's loss hurt the Giants.

"We might not have been in position to win," he said. "That hurt them quite a bit."

Cooney dropped out of the game after suffering a broken arm with two minutes left in his last game in a Redwood uniform.

The big win gave the Mustangs a 6-2 season record in their first crack at varsity competition.

Coach Praises Squad For Its Big Comeback

Although it was a very frustrating season for College of Marin football coach Dick Read and his Tars, the veteran mentor feels he got the most out of his players.

"It was a really good group," Read said in reflecting over the football season in which the Tars won three of eight games. "I think we got a lot of mileage out of our players. They tried very hard."

The most gratifying thing for Read was the way the Tars closed out the season, whipping Santa Rosa Junior College 48-30 last Friday night in Santa Rosa. The previous week, Marin had been trounced by Contra Costa J.C., 44-30.

"I was really proud the way these kids came back against Santa Rosa. If they hadn't come back I might have been disappointed," said Read. "After getting beat by Contra Costa like that, the kids really came back in Santa Rosa. They showed their true character."

EMPTIES BENCH

In that final game against arch-rival Santa Rosa, Marin was ahead 48-12 going into the fourth quarter, as the Tars really gave it to the Bear Cubs. Read emptied the bench in that final period, giving all the players a chance to play in the season finale.

"We knew we had problems in some spots when the season started," Read said. "We knew we were going to have a good offense, as good an offense as we've had in the last eight or nine years. But we also felt we were going to have some defensive problems, especially with linemen.

STUMBLING BLOCK

Lack of linemen was the major stumbling block facing the Marin coaching staff this season. And the sudden rise in number of Marin County high school players snatched by major four-year colleges. Usually one or two out of the county get scholarships to the big schools, said Read, but last year no less than nine headed for the big time.

"But it still was so very close," Read said about the season. "We weren't that far from being in the playoffs." DeAnza (Cupertino) won the state playoff spot and Camino Norte Conference championship by beating top-ranked West Valley (Campbell) 53-41 in a high-scoring final game of the year. Marin lost to West Valley 34-27 and to to DeAnza 28-20. In fact, four of Marin's five losses were by a single touchdown. With a tighter defense, things might have gone the other way.

BREAKDOWNS

Read will also talk about second half breakdowns against the two top conference teams, DeAnza and West Valley. "After all," Read points out, "our defense was usually playing about 65 per cent of the games and our offense about 35 per cent. Those defensive kids were out there a long time."

Pete Limm, assistant coach at Marin, said it in four words as he passed by: "Wait 'til next year!"

Funds Sought To Add Football Seats At Novato

Donations to purchase additional bleachers for the Novato High School football field are being sought by the Novato High Parent-Faculty Club.

The present bleachers were purchased through community donations and not with tax money, according to Irene Black, president of the Parent-Faculty Club. The income from the attendance at football games goes into the student body fund and is not used for the new bleachers.

The aim of the club is to increase the 1,100 seats at the home team side by 500 to 1,600 and on the visitors' side by 400 or from 440 to 840 seats, Mrs. Black said.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

The bowler in perfect form will start the ball down from the top of the backswing at the same time she begins her fourth and final step, which ends in the slide with the left foot. If your hurry, you might start this step before you're ready to move the ball forward. That will throw your timing off.

Four Players Win Pop Warner Game Honors

Jeff Pond and Bob Southmayd won honors for the North and Rick Herbert and Tim Smyth for the South but as for the Marin County Pop Warner League all-star game itself, there was no winner.

The teams fought to a 6-6 tie Sunday at Marin Catholic High School's field. North scored in the first quarter, a five-yard run by Pond, and South scored in third period, a seven-yard run by Herbert.

Pond, of Novato Junior Hornets, was voted outstanding back for the North, and Southmayd, of San Rafael, outstanding lineman. For the South, Herbert, Drake, was top back, and Smyth, Redwood outstanding lineman.

Ralston Named Coach For West

STANFORD (AP) — Stanford football coach John Ralston was named yesterday to coach the West team in the annual East-West Shrine game to be played here Dec. 27.

Ralston replaces Southern California's John McKay, who had been named to coach the team this summer but who asked to be relieved of the job citing pressures of his own season. The Trojans are prime contenders for the Rose Bowl Jan. 1 in Pasadena.

The game will be played out of San Francisco, its usual home, because of the remodeling of Candlestick Park now taking place.

TENNIS

WEMBLEY, England—Stan Smith of Los Angeles defeated South African Cliff Drysdale 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 on a new synthetic surface in Britain's first open indoor championshi while Rod Laver of Australia beat Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 6-4, 6-4 in another first-round match.

HORSE SHOW

CROSS COUNTRY

NEW YORK—Artie Dulong of Holy Cross regained the title he lost last year when he breezed to a 100-yard victory in the IC4A Cross Country Championship as Villanova won its fourth straight team title.

HOCKEY

ST. LOUIS—Veteran goalie Glenn Hall of the St. Louis Blues of the National Hockey League agreed to come out of retirement and signed a two-year contract at an estimated $50,000 a season.

Nolan Says Willard Still No. 1 Fullback

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco 49er coach Dick Nolan, hurting for more depth in the offensive backfield, says rookie running back Jimmy Thomas will return to the role of the reserve in thsi Sunday's game at New Orleans.

Thomas carried eight times for 41 yards, caught three passes for 77 yards and scored a touchdown in the Niners' 20-17 upset of the Baltimore Colts last weekend. Thomas, a graduate of the University of Texas at Arlington, got his chance when Ken Willard came down with the flu and could see only limited duty.

"Yes, Jimmy played very well. We'll continue to use him in spots. Willard had the flu, but he should be all right for the Saints. He still is my fullback," Nolan said.

"Gary Lewis just started working two weeks ago, so we've been using him on punts and kick returns and we'll work him as a running back when his knee is okay again," Nolan said.

Stanford Lists Healthy Team

STANFORD (UPI)—Stanford coach John Ralston will field a relatively healthy club when the Indians host California in the Big Game Saturday.

Only three players were listed as doubtful—defensive back Dick Oliver, linebacker Dave Grossi and tackle Greg Sampson. Ralston said yesterday that all three could play. But their length of duty depends on their progress during practice this week.

San Diego State In Pasadena Bowl

SAN DIEGO (AP) — San Diego State's unbeaten Aztecs were invited yesterday to play Dec. 6 in the Pasadena Bowl with University of Utah reported a leading possibility for the other team.

Dr. Malcolm Love, president of San Diego State, received a telegram from sponsors of the postseason football game. A news conference in San Diego was scheduled for today.

Notre Dame Heads Grid Bowl List

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It'll be Notre Dame against the winner of the Dec. 6 Texas-Arkansas game in the Cotton Bowl on Jan. 1—and how much more glamour do you need to start the era of the 1970s in college football?

Changing a policy that had lasted since 1925 when Notre Dame took its Four Horsemen to the Rose Bowl, the Fighting Irish accepted an invitation yesterday to play in the Cotton Bowl. The host team will be determined on Dec. 6 when Texas plays Arkansas in a matchup of the second-ranked and fourth-ranked teams in the country.

While Notre Dame's acceptance of a bowl bid monopolized the football news, other bowls were lining up attractive pairings as follows:

Rose Bowl: Michigan or Purdue vs. UCLA or Southern California.

Orange Bowl: Penn State vs. Missouri.

Sugar Bowl: Mississippi vs. Arkansas or Texas.

Liberty Bowl: Alabama vs. unnamed opponent.

Gator Bowl: Tennessee vs. Florida.

Sun Bowl: Georgia vs. Nebraska.

Peach Bowl: South Carolina vs. unnamed opponent.

Penhall To QB For Cal Bears

BERKELEY (UPI)—California coach Ray Willsey says he will start Dave Penhall at quarterback in the Big Game at Stanford Saturday, despite the recovery of the injured Steve Curtis.

Curtis, a scrambler, had been a starter until a collarbone injury sidelined him. Randy Humphries took over, then was bested by Penhall.

Willsey said Monday that senior safety Ken Wiedemann has yet to recover from a knee injury and probably will miss the Big Game.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Sterling Precision Now On A Treadmill

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Would you give me your thoughts on the capital gains potential of Sterling Precision? — W. H.

A. Over the years Sterling has had a hand in a widely diversified number of industries. Incorporated in 1955, the company has acquired more than 25 other firms and over the years has sold off about half of these. Sterling now concentrates on real estate holdings, financial services and varied manufacturing.

Sales in fiscal 1968-69 through April were $58.7 million. In the first quarter sales were over $16 million, with only $180,000 or four cents a share taken down to earnings. President M. Carroll announced at that time sales were running at a $65 million annual rate, but since then Sterling has agreed to the sale of its office furniture business with volume of $10 million yearly.

Unit fiscal 1962-63 Sterling operated at a deficit. After two years breaking even, a 30-cent-a-share profit was reported in fiscal 1965. Last year earnings reached 53 cents a share. Share price remained below 10 until last year but has since fallen well below that level.

All in all, this is not a picture that inspires confidence. Why not aim a bit higher and buy fewer shares in a high-grade issue such as Consolidated Foods?

Q. We are retired and interested in income. Could you explain the advantages, if any, of investing in preferred rather than common stock? — D. I.

A. Straight preferred issues are income holdings and as such tend to reflect money rates, as do bonds and utilities, rather than the fortunes of the company as common stocks do. Unfortunately, unlike bonds, there is no guarantee of return of capital, and, unlike common stock, appreciation potential is limited.

Convertible preferred issues, because of the conversion privilege, move in line with their common stock but derive some downside protection from their preferred status. The validity of this cushion was sorely tested in the summer's decline. Tenneco $5.50 convertible preferred selling about 20 per cent below its 1969 high is recommended for its 6 per cent yield.

Wall Street Better After Gloomy Start

Volume was fairly active.

The margin of declines of individual issues over advances on the New York Stock Exchange narrowed to a little more than 200 after having held an edge of more than 300 earlier in the day.

Although the market showed a resurgence, among the 20 most-active stocks on the Big Board declines topped advances by 14 to 5 with 1 unchanged.

Servomat, off ¼ to 31, topped the most-active list. International Telephone, propelled by a block trade of 99,600 shares, unchanged at 57⅞, was second most-active. Penn Central, up 2⅞ to 32⅝, also was heavily traded.

Standard Oil of Ohio, with the way cleared for its merger with British Petroleum, soared 9⅞ to 108. British Petroleum, up 1¼ to 16¼, was the most-active issue on the American Stock Exchange.

On the Big Board, Fairchild Camera fell 3⅞ to 89, Du Pont advanced 1½ to 116⅞, General Foods rose 1¼ to 85¼, and Xerox was up 1⅛ to 107.

Prices in late trading on the American exchange included Milgo Electronics, up 2⅜ to 56⅜; U.S. Natural Resources, up 1¾ to 32; Equity Funding, up 1 to 71, and Mohawk Data, up 2½ to 78¾.

Rubble Being Cleared Away For New Tire, Brake Firm

Work has begun at 666 Irwin Street, San Rafael, clearing away the rubble from the building once occupied by Brodie and Schwerin, San Rafael Tire and Brake and destroyed by fire last July.

Property owner Homer Rickards plans a new 11,000-square foot tilt-up structure to be constructed by Ronald Antonioli. Occupying the front 6,500 square feet will be Deming and Granger, Marin Tire and Brake, now maintaining a temporary shop at 444 Woodland Avenue and an office at 585 Irwin Street, where co-owner Scott Deming also operates Carlo's Transmission Service.

The projected completion date is March 15, 1970. Rickards will lease out the remaining 4,500 square feet in the building, either for a single occupancy or divided into two separate quarters.

Deming and Granger has been in business at 585 Irwin Street for over a month. Partner Harold (Hal) Granger was formerly shop manager for San Rafael Tire and Brake.

CONTINUING a trend for the second half of 1969, Marin County real estate sales lagged again in October. Reported transactions on multiple listing totaled $6,866,300, against last year's $7,830,451. Total completed sales for October were also down — from $7,936,390 a year ago to $6,836,545.

But the margin racked up during the first half may still save the year-end showing. Total completed sales for the first 10 months of 1969 stand at $63.9 million, against $60.6 million for the corresponding 1968 period.

GORDON PUSSER of Land Investors Research, Larkspur, has reported the sale of 105 acres on South Ely Road, Petaluma, known as the Thompson property, to a group of eastern investors for approximately a half-million dollars. Land Investors Research is a general partner in the syndicate and will manage the acreage.

It is located just south of the Atkinson Dairy in East Petaluma. Previous owners (members of the Thompson family) were Edward and Douglas Thompson, Mrs. Hans Raven, Mrs. Geneva Aguirre and Mrs. Isolene Maestretti.

ALLAN P. GIBSON of San Anselmo is now vice president and regional manager of Sierra National Bank, with headquarters at the Alto office. Before joining Sierra he was manager of the Belvedere-Tiburon office of Crocker-Citizens National Bank for eight years. He has had 20 years of banking experience.

TWO MARIN MEN, Robert Dahl of Novato and William King, now living in Fairfax, who have long tried to secure a Toyota franchise, have finally acquired one in San Francisco. It's located at 1175 Potrero Avenue and called King Toyota.

Dahl was formerly manager of Stewart Chevrolet in the city and more recently had his own used car business, Bob Dahl Auto Center. He was joined here by King, who was previously with Crown Zellerbach Corp.

ROBERT W. HAYES of Sausalito, president of the San Francisco planning and architectural firm now known as the Compla Corp., will be keynote speaker at environmental design seminars being conducted in 10 states by the American Wood Council, an alliance of trade associations which has constructed model developments throughout the country.

HANS R. MEYER of Tiburon, manager of Deak and Co. in San Francisco since 1961, has been transferred to the head office of the company in New York for a special assignment. He will be succeeded in San Francisco by Willi Beusch, formerly manager of Deak's Hawaii office.
